JEFFERS BLASTS TIRE MUDDLING; PLEDGES ACTION

Vows to Get Rubber Where He Can.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—Rubber Director William M. Jeffers today damned those he described as muddlers who would torpedo the rubber program and proclaimed full speed ahead in the production of tire materials.

The big and blunt speaking executive, who was called from the presidency of the Union Pacific railroad to become rubber director, defied a bloc of cotton state senators on the matter of substituting rayon for cotton in heavy duty tires for the army.

"I'm not going to put myself in a position where it is said of me that I lack the intelligence and the guts to do a job," Jeffers declared. "Too many haven't done their job because they were afraid of some committee or pressure group. I'm not going to work on that basis."

Talks Back to Committee.

It was the first time in years that a government official had talked back in such strong language to a committee which had called him on the carpet. The fireworks occurred before the senate agriculture committee, where the issue was a pending order for the expansion of rayon production to replace cotton in the cords of truck tires.

The south has been selling 700,000 bales of cotton a year for tire carcasses. Last month a War Production board committee of nine technicians reported that rayon was better than cotton for heavy duty truck tires and for military tires. The committee recommended a 50 million dollar expansion of the nation's rayon producing facilities.

Several senators from cotton states asserted that seven of the nine men on the WPB committee were employés or former employés of companies controling rayon production or the production of tires with rayon.

Reports Cited by Jeffers.

"Until there's evidence to the contrary I'm assuming that every American can be trusted to do a war job," Jeffers replied. "Technical reports in my files indicate that rayon will do better for army tires than cotton.

"Further tests are being made by the army to see whether a new cotton cord is as good as rayon for military tires. The results won't be ready for 30 or 90 days. Do you think the rayon expansion should be delayed until those tests are completed?"

"Yes," chorused half a dozen cotton senators.

"Well, I'm not going to do it," Jeffers retorted. "The whole damn thing has been muddled up for months and months. I'm not going to be too late with too little in military tire production. If later tests show cotton is as good—and I hope the tests will—we'll use the expanded rayon facilities for other military production.

Awaits Army Verdict.

"I'm going to call in the army and ask if they want the enlarged rayon plants or if they don't want them. If the army says yes, I'm issuing the order."

Sen. Ellison D. [Cotton Ed.] Smith [D., S. C.] said he hoped the "horrible rubber shortage" would be relieved, but added he had just about "lost faith in everybody" and offered Jeffers his sympathy.

"I don't want sympathy," said Jeffers. "I want confidence."

Smith quoted: "'Whose bread I eat, his song I sing.'"

"I resent that kind of statement," Jeffers declared hotly.

Smith explained he merely was quoting an old saw and was speaking of the world in general, not any one in particular.

"Well, you looked at me," Jeffers growled.

Unworried About Monopoly.

"Won't the substitution of rayon for cotton in tires create a monopoly after the war?" asked Sen. John H. Overton [D., La.].

"We're trying to win a war," Jeffers replied. "I'm going to use every one who can do a job, monopoly or no monopoly."

"I resent any inference from administration fellows that congressmen

ARMY OF YOUTH CALLED KEY TO QUICK VICTORY

Man Power Rationing Plans Revealed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—President Roosevelt told the American people and the world in a radio address tonight that we are getting ahead of our enemies in the battle of production, that the strength of the united nations is on the upgrade, and that the axis powers, having reached their full strength, are losing more men and materials than they can replace.

Discussing specific aspects of the war effort, Mr. Roosevelt said:

1. The drafting of 18 and 19 year old boys for military service is inevitable and "important to the speeding up of victory."

2. The President, as commander in chief, and the joint staff of the army and navy are agreed as to the "necessity" of opening new fronts against Germany and Japan. However, this is no time to announce when, where and how the new offensives are to be launched, the President added.

Compulsory Labor Laws.

3. Compulsory labor legislation may be necessary if volunteer efforts fail to provide the men, women and older children required by the nation's war industries, agriculture and other essential civilian occupations.

4. While the united nations seek no mass reprisals against the populations of Germany, Italy, and Japan, axis leaders and their henchmen will be tried and punished according to the judicial process of criminal law for committing atrocities and "acts of savagery."

5. The war aim of the united nations is to destroy completely the military power of Germany, Italy, and Japan to the end that their threat against other nations cannot be revived a generation hence.

Defends War Efforts.

Mr. Roosevelt did not mention the congressional election three weeks hence, in which the paramount issue will be the conduct of the war, but he strongly defended the administration's record before and since Pearl Harbor. While we are by no means up to full production, we would be in a far worse position today if the government had not started building war plants more than two years ago, he said.

The President's speech, which was broadcast to the nation and to the world from the White House, was in the nature of a report on the progress of the war effort and the conditions he found on his recent coast to coast trip. He defended the censorship imposed by the White House which forbade any mention of his trip in the press or on the radio. He said he was able to concentrate on the job and that "it was a particular pleasure to make a tour of the country without having to give a single thought to politics." He added that he expects to make future trips in the same way.

Plans for Second Front.

To the demand of Premier Josef Stalin of soviet Russia that the allies fulfill their commitment to open a second front against Germany "on time," and the demand of Wendell L. Willkie that immediate offensives be launched thruout the world, Mr. Roosevelt replied that plans for this war are being made by the military leaders. The President, as commander in chief, and the military leaders are in agreement as to the "necessity" of new offensives against Germany and Japan, Mr. Roosevelt said.

Mr. Roosevelt expressed the belief that it will be necessary to lower the minimum draft age limit from 20 to 18, but did not say when.

Combat units that go overseas will be better and the casualties will be smaller if the average age is 23 or 24, instead of 33 or 34, the President said.

Mr. Roosevelt did not expressly propose labor conscription legislation, but asserted that it may well be necessary if volunteer efforts fail to solve the tremendous problem of supplying man power for war industries, agriculture, and other essential civilian occupations.

Foil Plot by 5 to Flee Prison for the Insane

Menard, Ill., Oct. 12 [Special].—An attempted prison break by five dangerously insane life term convicts from Chicago who tried to saw their way out of Southern Illinois State penitentiary here was disclosed tonight by prison officials.

The delivery plans were frustrated by the alertness of a guard which led to the discovery that bars on each of the individual cells of the five had been partly sawed thru. A piece of hack saw blade was found in one of the cells.

Warden C. F. Becker said the convicts apparently had been sawing on the bars for several nights. From one to three bars had been sawed on in each cell but none of the bars had been sawed thru. The warden said he had not obtained any information concerning how the convicts got the saw blade, but added that "the only way they could get it was to have it smuggled to them."

Include Two Murderers.

The five convicts include two murderers, one of whom participated in a break from this prison in 1938. The five are:

Matthew Nowak, 29, sentenced in 1933 at Chicago for the murder of Dr. Bernard F. Garnitz, who was shot to death in a holdup after being lured to the scene by a fake telephone call to attend a dying patient. He was a member of a Chicago gang that specialized in luring physicians to secluded places and robbing them.

Lee Van Woods, 25, sentenced at Chicago in 1940 for the holdup slaying of Stephen Broscoe, Chicago grocer.

Francis Haines, 39, criminal maniac who led an escape of five inmates from the Ohio State Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Lima, O., in 1939, later captured in Chicago after shooting two men, and sentenced as an habitual criminal on a burglary charge.

Joseph Giaccalini, 31, shot and captured by a policeman after he had robbed a Chicago loop liquor store, and was sentenced in 1938 as an habitual criminal.

William Fitzpatrick, sentenced as an habitual criminal after being convicted of armed robbery.

Tranferred from Joliet.

All of the five were transferred to Menard from Joliet penitentiary during the last nine years after they showed evidence of being criminally insane. Each was confined in an individual cell in the psychiatric ward of the penitentiary here and they were not permitted to mingle with other prisoners.

Their efforts to saw their way to freedom were discovered this morning after Deputy Guard Gus Rodewald, night officer, had left a note for the day force telling of their suspicious actions. He said he had noticed that the five appeared unusually restless.

Warden Becker immediately began an investigation which included a thoro search of their cells and testing the bars. The sawed bars and the piece of saw blade were soon found.

This was Nowak's second attempt to break out of the penitentiary since he has been confined in the psychiatric division there. In 1938 he and four other inmates sawed their way to freedom but they were later captured.

LONDON PAPER ASKS: MUST WE WAIT FOR U. S. WAR SUPPLIES?

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The Daily Mail in an editorial today observed that the United States is planning an army of 10 or 12 million men and that such a great force will need vast quantities of weapons and equipment. It then asked: "Are we to have the use of America's giant production as it comes along or must we wait until her army has reached its peak in man power and fire power before attempting to settle the final account with the axis?"

The Mail called attention to the statement made last March by Gen. George C. Marshall, American chief of staff: "The time has now come when we must proceed with the business of carrying the war to the enemy and not permitting a greater portion of our armed forces and our valuable material to be immobilized within the continental United States." The paper remarked that in view of that statement there can be only one explanation for the different ideas which are making themselves heard now:

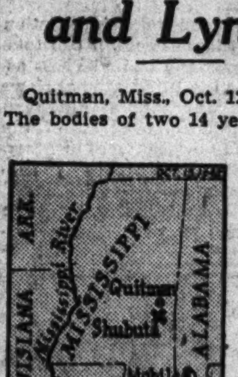
"That is that a settled and determined world strategy is still nonexistent."

Canada Receives First Minister of Soviet Union

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 12 (AP).—Fyodor Gusev, soviet Russia's first minister to Canada, arrived today to assume his post and was met at the station by a Canadian delegation headed by Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

2 Negro Boys Seized in Jail and Lynched

Quitman, Miss., Oct. 12 [Special].—The bodies of two 14 year old Negro boys were found today swinging from a highway bridge where they were hanged by a mob of about 50 men who took them out of the Clarke county jail here after overpowering the jailer.



Scene of lynching.

The scene of the lynching is the place where the boys were accused of having attempted to rape a 13 year old white girl last week. It also is the scene of six other lynchings over a period of years.

Arrested at Homes.

The boys, Charles Lang and Ernest Green, were arrested at their homes near Shubuta on Tuesday several hours after the white girl reported they had waylaid her on her way home from school. She escaped them.

On Saturday the boys were taken to court and pleaded guilty. They were then returned to the jail, where they were the only occupants other than Jailer G. F. Dobbs.

About 1 a. m. Sunday morning a mob of men appeared at the jail. Members of the crowd previously had telephoned the marshal that officers from a nearby town would bring prisoners to the jail during the night so he readily opened the door.

Jailer Locked in Cell.

The moment he opened the door, the marshal said later, his visitors threw a blanket over his head. Then he was carried to a cell and locked in. He remained there more than 30 hours, his plight not discovered until the bodies were found.

Pedestrians walking across the bridge found the bodies this morning. The bridge spans a stream eight miles south of here and two miles north of Shubuta.

Sheriff Lloyd McNeal began a "full investigation," but no arrests had been made or warrants obtained. Marshal Dobbs said that because of the dark and the blanket being placed over his head so quickly, he was unable to identify any one.

6 TORPEDOES HIT VINCENNES, SAYS CHICAGO SAILOR

(Official announcement by the navy department of the loss of three cruisers made it possible last night for a Chicago survivor to give for the first time an eyewitness story of how one of the cruisers, the U. S. S. Vincennes, was sunk. Here is his story as approved by the naval censor in Washington.)

I have often heard that a drowning man's entire life flashes before him during the few moments that intervene before he goes down for the last time.

I can't say I got any such complete mental panorama during the 35 minutes we remained afloat after the Japs threw everything they had at us starting at 1:50 a. m. the morning of Aug. 10.

Our heavy cruiser, the U. S. S. Vincennes, lay half way out in the channel separating Guadalcanal Island and Tulagi at the time.

We had come into this position on the morning of Aug. 7, eight months to the day from the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor. Our task force consisted of destroyers, troop transports, the heavy cruiser Astoria, our sister ship, the U. S. S. Quincy, and a number of other vessels, including two Australian cruisers, one of which was the Canberra.

Into Battle at 4 A. M.

At the mouth of the channel we split forces and went into general quarters [battle stations] at 4 a. m.

The attacking force I was with opened fire, raking the Guadalcanal shoreline between 6:30 and 7 a. m. We steamed up and down the channel, letting loose with our eight inchers, and encountered little resistance, altho the attacking group which approached Tulagi did not have such an easy time.

The first Jap counterattack came by air at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Aug. 7. Zero planes, dive bombers, and torpedo planes could be seen zooming out over the Guadalcanal mountains and heading for us and the ships moored beside us in battle formation.

There were about 100 Jap planes in the attacking squadron. They came down to within what appeared to be only a few feet of the water, and were in such close order that we were able to blast many of them from the sky with our eight inch shells, which were fired point blank into their midst.

Transport Is Sunk.

On that first day of fighting the transport George F. Elliott was hit by a Jap suicide pilot, who rammed his plane into her decks, starting a

1 OF 3 CRUISERS LOST IN BATTLE CARRIED ASHES OF JAP ENVOY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—The U. S. S. Astoria, one of the three heavy United States cruisers lost in the Solomon Islands action, sailed from Annapolis, Md., March 18, 1939, to return to Japan the ashes of Hirosi Saito, former Japanese ambassador, following elaborate funeral services in this country. The Astoria was named for the city of Astoria, Ore. She was built at the Puget Sound, Wash., navy yard at a cost of $11,951,000, and launched Dec. 16, 1933.

The other two cruisers lost in the Solomons were the Quincy and the Vincennes. The Quincy was built by the Bethlehem Steel corporation, shipbuilding division, Quincy, Mass., at a contract price of $8,196,000. She was named for the city of Quincy, Mass., and was launched June 19, 1935.

The Vincennes, named for the city of Vincennes, Ind., was built by the Bethlehem Steel corporation, at Quincy, at a contract price of $11,720,000. She was launched May 21, 1936, and sponsored by Miss Harriet Virginia Kimmell, daughter of Joseph W. Kimmell, then mayor of Vincennes.

Many Yanks Die in Solomons During Night Battle.

Color Maps of Solomons

On the back page of today's paper appears a set of newly revised color maps of the Solomon Islands, including the area in which three heavy cruisers, whose loss was announced by the navy yesterday, were sunk.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—The loss of three heavy American cruisers in a night-time naval battle fought during the initial phase of the attack on the Solomon Islands was announced today by the navy.

Capt. S. N. Moore.

Covering the landing of reënforcements in the Tulagi-Guadalcanal area on the night of Aug. 8-9, the second night of the attack on the islands, the cruisers Quincy, Vincennes, and Astoria were outlined in the glare of enemy searchlights and star shells and were sunk by a Japanese force of cruisers and destroyers.

In the same action, the Australian cruiser Canberra was hit by shells and torpedoes, heavily damaged, and set afire. Abandoned during the night, she sank the morning of Aug. 9, as already announced by the Australian government.

Loss of Life Heavy.

Altho a majority of the crews of the three American cruisers was saved, the navy communique said, the loss of life was heavy.

The commander of the Quincy, Capt. Samuel N. Moore, of Alexandria, Va., was one of those lost.

Capt. F. L. Riefkohl of Maunabo, Puerto Rico, commanding the Vincennes, and Capt. William G. Greenman of Watertown, N. Y., skipper of the Astoria, were saved.

The action began about 1.45 a. m., Aug. 9, as transports and supply ships were pouring reënforcements ashore for the marines who had occupied the Tulagi-Guadalcanal area of the Solomons in a surprise attack Aug. 7.

Enemy Planes Drop Flares.

Enemy planes dropped flares over the landing operations, and simultaneously the Japanese force of cruisers and destroyers skirted the south coast of Savo Island, between Tulagi and Guadalcanal, and headed for the supply ships.

Finding a screening force southeast of Savo, the enemy opened fire immediately with guns and torpedoes, smashing the Canberra. After a brief engagement the Japanese headed for the passage northeast of Savo, where they met a second screening force of destroyers and cruisers and began a battle at close range.

"The action was fought with guns and torpedoes, with targets illuminated by searchlights and starshells," the communique said. "The enemy fire was heavy and accurate, and the United States cruisers Quincy and Vincennes were hit repeatedly and sank during the night. A third cruiser, the U. S. S. Astoria, was badly damaged and burned thruout the night. She sank the following morning.

Japanese Ships Withdraw.

"It was not possible to determine the extent of damage inflicted on the Japanese ships by our screening forces. The enemy withdrew to the northwest without attempting an attack on our transports and supply ships."

Each of the three cruisers carried nine 8 inch guns. The Quincy and Vincennes, of 9,375 and 9,400 tons, respectively, each had a normal complement of 45 officers and [illegible] enlisted men. The Astoria, 9,950 tons, normally carried a crew of 49 officers and 850 enlisted men.

Their loss brought the total of United States ships sunk in the Solomons area and announced by the navy to nine—three cruisers, two destroyers, and four transports. In addition, the navy has announced that two destroyers were damaged. Losses

COL. M'CORMICK WARNS NEA OF PERIL IN AP SUIT

Outlines Threat to Press Freedom in High Court.

A movement is under way to enslave the American press, before the Supreme court, the very tribunal that has been enjoined to protect it, Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, said yesterday before the annual convention of the National Editorial association in the Morrison hotel.

"I am not referring to the fact that only in the United States does there exist a written constitutional guarantee of the rights of man and courts instructed to protect them," said Col. McCormick, after observing that only in the United States does freedom of the press exist. "I am stating the appalling fact that not only in axis countries, but everywhere else in the world, including the British empire, property is being taken without compensation; men are incarcerated without trial."

Traces History of Service.

Col. McCormick traced the history of the Associated Press, which now is facing an anti-trust suit.

The ostensible purpose of the complaint now lodged against the Associated Press, he said, is to compel it to take into membership and render service to any one who demands it.

The editors also heard Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information. He assured them that one of the greatest forces in the winning of the war will be the printing of the truth by American newspapers. He said that, as for German and Japanese newspapers and radio commentators, "The truth is not in them."

Kiss Willkie's Own Idea.

He offered an interesting sidelight on Wendell Willkie's kissing tour. In a press conference before he addressed the convention, Davis said:

"Concerning Willkie's urging of a second front, I will say that Mr. W. is not working for us. Mr. W. was sent abroad by the President, but that does not mean that everything he says represents government policy. In fact, when he kissed the Russian ballerina, I can assure you he was acting on his own initiative."

Davis indicated he would like it better if government officials did a little less talking. He said the job of the OWI is to get the truth to the people. He indicated that this is a pretty tough assignment.

TEXT OF SPEECH

Following is the text of Col. McCormick's speech before the National Editorial association:

"It is a terrible thing to say but it is a fact that only in the United States of America can publishers meet and take steps to protect their rights, for nowhere else in the world have publishers any rights.

"I am not referring to the fact that only in the United States does there exist a written constitutional guarantee of the rights of man and courts instructed to protect them; I am stating the appalling fact that not only in axis countries and in the countries overrun by them, but everywhere else in the world, including the British empire, property is being taken without compensation; men are incarcerated without trial. The press is not only under censorship, but is directed what it must say. In particular, in adjoining Canada, the press is constrained by the Wartime Information board to interfere in American affairs.

"Worse Is to Come."

"Evil news is this, but worse is yet to come, namely that a movement is under way to enslave the American press and that before the very tribunal that was enjoined to protect it by the 1st and 14th Amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

"In the complaint of the attorney general against the Associated Press, the allegation is made that newspapers are affected with a public interest and that press associations are affected with a public interest. This weasel phrase to the uninitiated appears to mean something uplifting, but what it really means in law is that press associations and newspapers are public utilities subject to all government regulations to which public utilities are subject. This, of course, is a complete contradiction to freedom of the press which, under the first amendment, is not subject to abridgment.

"The complaint leans heavily upon a misinterpretation of the old case of Inter-Ocean vs. the Illinois Associated Press. To clear up this deception, let us look briefly at the history of the Associated Press.

Developed in Washington.

"The New York Associated Press was organized about 100 years ago to obtain news from ships arriving from over seas. It went thru several developments and built up a strong Washington news service during the Civil war. It found out that it had a salable product and sold news to other papers at a profit to the owners. There was factionalism in its membership and it was succeeded by the United Press.

"Western newspapers became dissatisfied with the quality and cost of the service of the New York Associated Press and organized the Western Associated Press, which fought with and compromised with the United Press for a long time and until it was disclosed that some of the Western Associated Press officials were corrupted by the United Press which was pirating Western Associated Press news.

"Then the Illinois Associated Press was formed. There was bitter competition between the Illinois Associated Press and the United Press, each association forbidding its members to deal with the other association. In the end, the United Press failed and most of its members joined the Illinois Associated Press.

"In the early days, the telegraph companies also acted as news gathering companies. There were a variety of arrangements between the press associations and the telegraph companies.

Protects News Transmission.

"When the Illinois Associated Press was organized it could not be sure that its news would be carried by the existing telegraph lines, and in order to protect itself, had a provision put in its charter authorizing it to build telegraph lines and to obtain rights of way by eminent domain.

"The Chicago Inter-Ocean and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in addition to using the Illinois Associated Press service, bought the Laffan News service, which was forbidden by the Associated Press by-laws. THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE arbitrated this by-law with the Associated Press and lost. The Inter-Ocean sued for an injunction and won on the ground that the Illinois Associated Press, with its right to build telegraph lines and to eminent domain, was a public utility company, and also that at that time it had no competition.

"After the injunction obtained in Illinois, the Illinois Associated Press was dissolved and the New York Associated Press organized, omitting the charter rights to build telegraph lines or exert eminent domain.

"For a while the Associated Press had no competition and naturally stagnated. The art of journalism advanced, bringing in the use of features, comics, and pictures.

New United Press Appears.

"The new United Press association was organized to gather news, and sister companies under the same ownership sold features, comics, and pictures, and later furnished news to radio stations. It also developed an extensive foreign news service while the Associated Press relied principally upon Reuters, a British corporation, which by contract was accorded the exploitation of the British empire, China, and Japan; Havas, which was accorded the exploitation of the Latin countries, South America, and I believe, Turkey, and Wolff which was accorded the exploitation of Germany and eastern Europe.

"The Associated Press, with its narrow by-laws, soon felt the competition of the United Press and began to offer to newspapers, in addition to its own news services, various features, comics, and picture services and the foreign services of its own correspondents. Step by step, to meet competition, the Associated Press was compelled to undertake all the activities of the United Press companies.

"There also had been developed a press association called the International News service, furnishing news, features, and comics.

Best News, Not Features.

"Since I use the Associated Press news and not the news of the United Press association or the International News service, it is plain that I consider the Associated Press news service the best. As I do not use the features or comics of the Associated Press, it is equally plain I do not think them the best. I think most newspaper men will say the comics sold with the International News service are much better than those sold by the Associated Press, and that the features sold with the United Press are better than those sold by the Associated Press.

"In times gone by, European companies monopolized, exploited, and sold world news, but in the last 20 years American news associations and American newspapers have become far superior to the European agencies, rendering an invaluable service to their country.

"The ostensible purpose of the complaint is that the Associated Press be compelled to take into membership and render service to any one who demands it. If this should be held to be the law, any brewery, any public utility, any undercover gambler, any one at all, for any reason at all, could come to your town, make a contract with a job printer, and use the service you have been building up for 40 odd years, to run you out of business, and if unsuccessful, withdraw from business, having lost only so much money as he had not deducted from his income tax.

Only Part of Evil.

"I hope the court will take judicial notice that this is the object of the bill, but this is only part of the evil— and the lesser part.

"If a court takes jurisdiction of this case and issues such an injunction there is no limit to the authority it will have usurped. If a court can force us to take a member in, it can force us to expel a member.

"Last week one of our larger members complained of his assessment. A good many of us are prone to complain of our assessments. If this suit were to stand any member could sue and the regulation of rates would fall into the hands of public authorities.

"As you know, some of the services of the Associated Press are optional to members and others they are required to pay for whether they use them or not. THE TRIBUNE pays for some services it does not use. If this suit could stand, a member could file a bill in court demanding that such and such services be rendered and such and such services be discontinued.

"If a court can take jurisdiction over the Associated Press, it can take jurisdiction over the United Press association, over the International News service, over the North American Newspaper alliance, over all of the syndicates and news services in America, and eventually over all of the individual newspapers.

"Because of the recent suits of the City of Chicago vs. the Tribune company, of Near vs. Minnesota, and Grosjean vs. American Press company, the subject of the freedom of the press has been very thoroly explored by the Supreme court, and we have all become more or less familiar with the history of the rise to freedom from slavery.

"Gentlemen, the bill presented by the attorney general of the United States before the District Court of Southern New York is intended to strip the press and the people of their rights and liberties, guaranteed under the 1st and 14th Amendments of the Constitution and upheld by the courts for a 150 years.

"The object is to turn the federal court from the protector of the people's liberties to a reincarnation of the Court of the Star Chamber.

"You will do well to resist this effort vigorously not only in your own right but in the rights of all of the people, because if freedom of the press is destroyed, all of the other freedoms will fail.

Boy Rescued

Policeman William Justine of the Lincoln park police plunged into the park lagoon in his uniform yesterday when he saw two small boys fall from the raft upon which they were playing. Justine swam to the boys, seized them, and found that one, John Lecas, 10 years old, of 2702 Wilton avenue, could swim. The policeman headed John for shore and than swam back, dragging with him Robert Hallgren, 11, of 935 Diversey parkway. Robert was unconscious when Justine got him ashore. Justine applied artificial resuscitation, reviving the boy. The dripping policeman then put Robert in a car and drove him to the Columbus hospital.

AD MEN DISCUSS NEWSPAPER AID IN WAR EFFORT

Newspaper coöperation with the war drive, the sale of war bonds, collections of scrap and other important issues, particularly a program developed on price ceilings to consumers, was discussed yesterday by members of the Newspaper Advertising Executives' association from the United States and Canada. They held the first session of their two day meeting in the Blackstone hotel.

Irving C. Buntman of Milwaukee, secretary-treasurer, said the organization has been urging retail merchants to coöperate fully with government agencies on price ceilings and to tell their customers about their efforts in their advertising.

"We have accomplished a great deal, Buntman said, "but there is still much educational work along these lines to be done. We feel it is to the merchants' interests all over the country to tell their customers exactly what the price ceilings are and what the merchants are doing. Then, if the situation becomes serious and inflation threatens, they will not be blamed."

At today's luncheon, the association will hear about the war bond drive from Peter Odegard, assistant secretary of the treasury. Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau will speak to the assemblage by telephone from Washington.

ARMED WOMAN KIDNAPS BABY FROM HOSPITAL

Escapes in Auto as Nun Gives Chase.

Columbus, O., Oct. 12 [Special].—Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation joined police tonight in searching for a woman who invaded St. Ann's Infant asylum with a gun this afternoon and kidnaped an 8 months old baby from its crib.

The kidnaper brandished a revolver at a nurse who attempted to interfere, and outdistanced Sister Mathia, of the asylum's staff, in a sprint to a waiting automobile.

The baby is Daniel Thomas Scanlon, son of Jane Scanlon, 17 year old unwed mother who has lived and worked in the institution since the child's birth. The mother was at lunch in the basement of the building when the kidnaping took place.

Threatened Nurse.

Pauline Caplinger, 19, a nurse, said she was on duty on the second floor when she saw a woman emerge from the nursery carrying the baby with one arm and flourishing a revolver with her free hand. She said the woman was between 20 and 25 years old and wore a dark blue suit.

The women ordered her not to move or make any attempt to give an alarm, the nurse said, and backed down the stairs keeping the gun pointed at her.

On the grounds of the institution Sister Mathia saw the woman emerge and noticed that the baby was not wrapped in a blanket and was clad only in a thin white sleeping garment. She started to approach the woman and the kidnaper turned and ran. The sister said the woman dodged into a nearby alley and climbed into an automobile parked there. The automobile was driven swiftly away and Sister Mathia said she could not see whether the kidnaper or some one else was driving.

Mother Without Clew.

"I haven't the slightest idea who it could have been," the mother sobbed. "I don't know anyone who would want to take the baby."

Police said they are checking to determine if the baby's father, a married man living in Newark, O., will be able to give them any assistance in locating the baby.

312 Babies in September! It's a Record for Lying-In

The Chicago Lying-In hospital announced yesterday that a new record for births in any one month since it opened in 1895 had been set in September when 312 babies were born in the hospital. Included were three sets of twins and one group of triplets. The highest previous mark was 311, set last March.

U.S. WILL LIFT WAR CURBS ON ITALIAN ALIENS

Axis People Are Sick of Fascism: Biddle.

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—United States Attorney General Francis Biddle announced tonight that effective Oct. 19 Italian aliens would no longer be classed as alien enemies, because, he said, "from that time on the exoneration which they have so well earned will be granted them."

"This does not mean that dangerous or disloyal persons are no longer subject to apprehension of internment," the attorney general said in a Columbus day address at Carnegie hall. "We still will take no chances. It does mean that the regulations applying, up to now, to alien enemies no longer apply to Italian aliens. They will be free to participate in the war effort without the handicaps that have hampered them up to now."

Investigated All Italians.

Biddle said that his office had investigated thoroly all Italians in the nation in an "unprecedented exercise of wartime vigilance."

"We find that out of a total of 600,000 persons, there has been cause to intern only 228, or fewer than one-twentieth of one per cent!" he said.

Biddle said that he had recommended also enactment of a bill in congress which would grant to an alien, otherwise eligible, citizenship without taking the literacy test—provided he is 50 years old or older and provided he came to America before July 1, 1924, and has lived in the country continuously since.

200,000 Italians Eligible.

"This measure, would, I think, remove the greatest single difficulty that has stood in the way of citizenship for a large number of the older generations of Italians, who, in all other respects, have made this country their own," Biddle said. "Some 200,000 Italians would be affected by this new law."

The attorney general said that in removing the label of alien enemy from Italians "we do not forget that there are other loyal persons now classed as alien enemies."

"Their situation is now being carefully and sympathetically studied by the department of justice," he added.

The attorney general said that the people of Italy today were sick of Fascism, sick of Mussolini, and "particularly sick of Adolf Hitler."

Hastening Mussolini's Defeat.

"The revolt against Italian Fascism cannot be kept down," he said. "It has already started. Here in the United States, in American buildings and American factories, Italians—thousands upon thousands of them—are already in revolt against the government of Mussolini. By their labors they are fighting this man who has betrayed and declared war upon them. By their own hands they are hastening his defeat."

Biddle said that Italians were abundantly represented in the list of heroes who have been decorated for bravery since Pearl Harbor.

"It is a long list and an inspiring one," he said. "It does not surprise me that this is so. Perhaps it surprises Mussolini."

The address was broadcast over the Mutual Broadcasting system.

STIMSON ORDER GAGS CRITIC OF U. S. AIR TACTICS

Colonel Forced to Cancel Milwaukee Speech.

Col. Hugh J. Knerr.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 12 [Special].—A telegram from Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, explaining that Col. Hugh J. Knerr, retired former chief of staff of the general headquarters army air force, has been forbidden "in the public interest and for military reasons" to make public addresses on the conduct of the war was read to a town hall audience here tonight.

The wire was a reply to a protest from Mrs. Norbert Klein, chairman of the town hall program committee, against the war department muzzling of Col. Knerr, which had been revealed earlier in the day when the officer canceled his scheduled appearance for a forum discussion on "American strategy to achieve victory."

Wire Read at Meeting.

The wire, signed "Stimson" was read to the audience by Ray McArthur, general chairman. It said:

"In view of the fact that articles written by Col. Knerr, quotations attributed to him in the writings of others and the resulting comments and discussions, oral and printed, have been considered detrimental to the war effort and have tended to destroy the essential unity which must exist between the army and the navy, he has been directed to refrain from public discussion of the conduct of the war and questions relating to tactical use and organizational relationships of the armed forces of the United States or its allies.

"This directive was issued in the public interest and for military reasons. The war department has no objection to Col. Knerr appearing on your program tonight provided he complies with his instructions."

Asks for Modification.

In his wire to Mrs. Klein, Col. Knerr quoted Secretary Stimson's order as follows: "You are directed to refrain from all public addresses, written words, and all comments on the conduct of the war and questions relating to the tactical use and organizational relationship of the armed forces of the United States and her allies."

Mrs. Klein wired Secretary Stimson that the town hall follows the democratic procedure of unlimited free expression by speakers and unlimited discussion by the audience. "Because two expressions of opinion will be given, we respectfully hope for modification of your restraining order on Col. Knerr," the wire stated.

Appearance of Col. Knerr in Milwaukee, home town of the late Gen. Billy Mitchell, had been looked forward to because Col. Knerr was an enthusiastic follower of Gen. Mitchell's ideas for development of air power, Mrs. Klein said.

Critic of Naval Policies.

Last week Col. Knerr criticized statements by Adm. Thomas C. Hart in a weekly magazine arguing against a separate air force. Col. Knerr said the navy is "muscling in" on air power developed by the army, adding "there is a connotation of danger in that weapons of land based aviation are being diverted from the army air corps, where they were developed and understood, to the navy."

Knerr has been a severe critic of naval policies since Pearl Harbor and in a magazine article in July he said "desk admirals" in Washington were giving the nation exaggerated reports of naval activity in order to cover up their grave blundering in drafting a naval program calling for battleships, shown to be obsolete.

He said during the five days of the Coral sea battle the public was given to understand thru navy communiques that a great naval battle was raging when not a single navy surface ship fired one of its guns usefully except its anti-aircraft guns.

D. S. C. Veteran Gives Son to Army

Youngest Soldier

Valeryan M. Brodnicki, who had his 18th birthday last Saturday, became the youngest soldier in the United States army when he was sworn in yesterday at the induction station at 515 South Franklin street by Col. Edward F. Shaifer, recruiting and induction officer. The boy's father, Valeryan F. Brodnicki, 2706 south Kedvale avenue, who watched the formal induction, was winner of the distinguished service cross in the first World war and he, too, was a soldier at the age of 18.

Two brothers were among 42 men qualified yesterday for aviation cadet training in the army. They are Marvin C. Bordner and Robert L. Bordner, 21 and 20 years old respectively, who live at 6451 South Greenwood avenue. They are the only two sons of Mrs. M. C. Bordner.

Response to the army air force technical school's request for radio receivers for use of students resulted in donation of 1,800 up to last night and hundreds more are expected. The school wants old radios in any condition for the students. The sets are being collected thru neighborhood civilian defense offices.

Since Sept. 1, 1941, the army aviation cadet board in Chicago has accepted 11,205 candidates for flying training.

NAVY ARRANGES 'CANNED' CABLES TO AND FROM GOBS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—The navy borrowed today an idea from the "canned" greetings long featured by the telegraph companies.

It announced that arrangements had been made for handling fixed text personal cable or radio messages to and from naval personnel stationed at a number of shore establishments outside the continental United States. The communications may consist of not more than three numbered texts from a list of 136. Costing in most cases 60 cents exclusive of federal tax, the messages may be sent from any commercial telegraph, cable or radio office.

Outgoing messages will be delivered at any of the following shore stations: Argentina, Newfoundland, New Zealand, Canal Zone, Hawaii, Bermuda, Australia, Cuba, Jamaica, B. W. I., Alaska, North Ireland, New Caledonia, Trinidad, Rekyjavik, Iceland, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, and Samoa.

23 BATTLE DEATH 3 WEEKS AT SEA IN OPEN LIFEBOAT

Sub Sinks Ship; Rakes Crew with Guns.

An East Coast Port, Oct. 12.—A three week battle against death while adrift in an open lifeboat after their ship had been sunk by submarine shell fire was described today by 23 survivors landed here by a British ship.

Twenty-two other survivors were reported to have been landed at another port and 15 are missing. The captain of the ship, an American freighter, and the commander of its gun crew were killed.

The attack occurred in the Atlantic at night and from close quarters. Survivors said they believed the submarine was on the surface charging its batteries when their freighter passed.

Shells Start Fire.

The first shells from the submarine started fires on the merchantman and smoke obscured the raider from the gun crew. Then, taking advantage of the smoke screen, the submarine moved closer and raked the ship with machine gun fire.

Survivors praised the heroism of Lieut. Patrick J. Walsh of New York City, commander of the gun crew, who was killed fighting the submarine.

"Machine gun bullets were turning the bridge into a sieve," said one of his men, "but our lieutenant went to his post there even tho he knew he was going to his death. He died a real commanding officer."

Two lifeboats and four rafts were launched from the sinking freighter, but one of the boats capsized, drowning the skipper, Carl Stromgren.

Sharks Prevent Swimming.

Survivors said that for the first week adrift the men went swimming almost every day to keep cool. After that, they said, sharks appeared and swimming was forbidden.

Rain water for drinking was collected in the sail of the lifeboat. The sail had been dyed red and water collected in it had a reddish tinge. The men called their drinks "pink ladies."

"For breakfast we had two ounces of pink ladies, one graham cracker, and two squares of chocolate," said John Meyers Jr. of New Orleans, La., a member of the gun crew. "For lunch we had the same thing.

"For supper — O boy, what a spread! We had three ounces of pink ladies, two squares of chocolate, two graham crackers, a third of a can of pemmican, and a dash of mineral oil."

Among survivors were two members of the gun crew identified as Paul S. Hirsch of Chicago and Eugene Renfro of Oak Lawn.

Another survivor was identified as Vetold Laemont of Cicero, radio officer of the freighter.

CANADA BARS BRASS BADGES, BUTTONS AND BUCKLES ON UNIFORMS

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 12 (AP).—No more brass will be released for hat badges, tunic buttons, buckles, and web equipment of the Canadian armed forces, the munitions and supply department announced today.

Metals Controler George Bateman said the shortage of brass now is so acute that it must be conserved by the services as well as by the civilian. Enough will be saved by his ruling to make 26,000,000 rifle cartridge cases.

Instead of brass, a hat badge made of a plastic will be standard issue in a few weeks. John Eaton of Toronto, director general of the general purchasing branch, holding a sample, said "it is black in color, neat as a pin, and so tough that even a strong man could not break it with his hands."

The metal parts of the web equipment will be steel, coated with a black finish. Eaton said tunic buttons must match the belt buckle. He said the buckle will be made of a plastic or of the same black finished steel that go into the web equipment.

CITY CLUB TOLD HOW ARMY'S HUGE FOOD JOB IS MET

Members of the City club learned yesterday something of the enormous task of the quartermaster corps in feeding, clothing, supplying, and transporting the army. Insight into the corps' task was given by Brig. Gen. J. E. Barzynski, commander of the Chicago quartermaster depot, one of the most important procurement centers in the United States.

The Chicago depot has the only subsistence laboratory in the United States and it is here, Gen. Barzynski said, that all experiments with preparation and processing of rations are performed. Thousands of tons of shipping are being saved, he said, by reducing the weight of vegetables 80 per cent thru dehydration. Additional space is saved in shipment of meat by removing the bones and packing in containers that can be stowed solidly.

Because Chicago is the center of the food and meat industry, the Chicago depot buys certain commodities for the entire army, navy, marine corps, veterans' administration and lend-lease. Where possible, fresh vegetables are bought locally to save shipment.

Reveal U. S. Bases Exist in New Hebrides and Fijis

Washington, Oct. 12 [Special].—The existence of American bases in the New Hebrides and the Fiji islands became known tonight with mention of these islands groups in a navy communique on the sinking of the cruisers Quincy, Vincennes, and Astoria near Guadalcanal island on Aug. 9. No information about the size or type of these bases was vouchsafed.

JAPS SINK 3 U. S. HEAVY CRUISERS IN SOLOMON ISLES

Night Battle Described by American Navy.

inflicted on the Japanese in the area, as reported by the navy, have been 38 ships sunk or damaged, principally by air action.

Text of Communique.

The text of navy communique:

"All dates are east longitude.

"1. Certain initial phases of the Solomon Islands' campaign, not announced previously for military reasons, can now be reported.

"2. Reconnaissance during the last June and July revealed enemy activity of marked significance in the Japanese controled Solomon Islands. An airfield was in process of construction on Guadalcanal Island and facilities of other nearby bases were being extended rapidly. This expansion in the Solomons, together with increased activity in eastern New Guinea, clearly indicated that the enemy was attempting to establish and maintain control of the air and sea in the Solomon Islands area. Establishment of such control would have put the Japanese in a position to launch a sea borne thrust at Port Darwin and Australia, and would have seriously threatened our supply lines to Australia and New Zealand as well as to our island bases in the New Hebrides, New Caledonia, and the Fiji Islands.

Planes Raid U. S. Forces.

"3. It was necessary, therefore, that these designs of the enemy be blocked by our capturing and utilizing his key positions in the southeastern Solomons. This was acknowledged on Aug. 7 when United States forces surprised and captured Japanese positions in the Guadalcanal-Tulagi area.

"4. Vigorous opposition was offered to the consolidation of our positions. Thruout Aug. 7 and Aug. 8 enemy planes carried out raids on our shore positions, transports, and fleet units. These raids did not prevent United States marines from seizing most of the key positions in the Guadalcanal-Tulagi area by the afternoon of Aug. 8. Meanwhile, additional troops, supplies, and equipment were being unloaded from transports and supply ships, and it was imperative that these operations be successfully completed. To this end, screening groups of allied cruisers and destroyers were placed on both sides of Savo Island to guard the western entrances to the transport area. An additional screening force was stationed near the transports to provide close coverage within the harbor.

Drop Flares Over Ships.

"5. At about 1:45 a. m. on the night of Aug. 8-9, enemy aircraft dropped flares over our transports and supply ships. Simultaneously, a force of enemy cruisers and destroyers skirted the south coast of Savo at high speed headed in the direction of the transports and supply ships which were silhouetted in the illuminated area. The rapidly moving enemy sighted our covering unit located southeast of Savo and opened fire immediately with guns and torpedoes, seriously damaging and setting fire to the Australian cruiser H. M. S. Canberra.

"It later became necessary to abandon the Canberra and she sank the following morning, as already announced. Following a brief engagement with our southeastern screen the Japanese altered course to proceed thru the passage northeast of Savo Island. Here the Japanese force encountered our northeast screen of cruisers and destroyers and a battle at close range resulted. The action was fought with guns and torpedoes, with targets illuminated by searchlights and star shells. The enemy fire was heavy and accurate and the United States cruisers Quincy and Vincennes were hit repeatedly and sank during the night. A third cruiser, the U. S. S. Astoria, was badly damaged and burned thruout the night. She sank the following morning.

Many Casualties Admitted.

"6. It was not possible to determine the extent of damage inflicted on the Japanese ships by our screening forces. The enemy withdrew to the northwest without attempting an attack on our transports and supply ships. Altho a majority of the personnel was saved, there still were many casualties as a result of the sinking of the four allied cruisers. The loss of these four cruisers has now been offset by the appropriate reallocation of ships which is made possible by new ship construction."

AUSTRALIAN MOUNTAIN FIGHTERS CLASH WITH JAPS IN NEW GUINEA

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Oct. 13 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Allied forces are skirmishing with Japanese troops in the vicinity of the gap leading thru the Owen Stanley mountains of New Guinea, the southwestern Pacific command reported today.

Gen. MacArthur's Australian mountain fighters made some gains north from Myola yesterday, a communique said, and now are approaching Templeton's Crossing, about 12 miles south of the enemy's advance base at Kokoda.

Bomber and fighter planes helped in the renewed allied advance bombing and strafing the slim Japanese supply line to Kokoda from Buna on the north shore of the island.

NORTH AND EAST GERMAN COASTS BOMBED BY RAF

LONDON, Oct. 13 [Tuesday]—(AP).—The Oslo radio reported today that RAF bombers attacked northern and eastern coastal regions of Germany last night.

It said "explosions in several east coast towns caused slight damage. Several of the attacking bombers were shot down."

Claim Three Planes Downed.

BERLIN, Oct. 12 [from German broadcasts] — (AP). — Three British planes were shot down over Denmark after they had flown into the western and southern sections of Germany, the Berlin radio said tonight in a Copenhagen dispatch. "Bombs were dropped in some places, but there were no casualties," it added.

[This attack presumably occurred tonight, since London had reported that Germany's chief radio station went off the air early, usually an indication of air activity over the reich. The British said the raid centered on Hanover.]

ALEUTIAN FLYER WILL MEET HIS NEW BABY TODAY

Capt. James Dowling of the army air force, who has been stationed in the Aleutian Islands, will see his 3 months old baby daughter, Lynn, for the first time today.

Capt. Dowling is due to arrive shortly before noon at Chicago airport, where he will be met my his wife, Jean, 4717 North Hermitage avenue, and his baby girl.

Mrs. Dowling said she had not seen her husband since last May. They were married in November, 1940, a few months after his graduation from Kelly field, Texas.

French Again Warned to Prepare for Allied Raids

LONDON, Oct. 13 [Tuesday] (AP).—The British Broadcasting corporation in a broadcast directed at France said early today that it was important now "as never before" for every Frenchman to be prepared for operations by the allied air forces, navies, and armies. This was the third such warning to be broadcast "on behalf of the British high command." The French were advised to keep away from defended coastal zones.

REVEALS FLARES FROM JAP PLANE LOCATED ASTORIA

Eyewitness Story of Sea Battle in Solomons.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 12 (AP)—Flares dropped from an enemy plane revealed to Japanese warships the presence of American vessels off Tulagi harbor, in the Solomon Islands, and led directly to a predawn battle last Aug. 9, in which three cruisers fired their last shots for the United States navy, it was disclosed here tonight.

Survivors of the engagement, fought at close range in south Pacific waters, gave their accounts in stories released by the navy.

Lynn F. Hager, a Texan, who was on sky control watch aboard the cruiser Astoria, saw the battle from the start.

Hager, a seaman [first class], said the Astoria, the Vincennes, and the Quincy were steaming along on a circular patrol of the Tulagi harbor mouth.

Flares Light Up Water.

Hager heard overhead the distant sound of a plane. He sent a hurried message to the bridge and the captain was advised.

As Hager watched, flares from the plane plunged from the cloud ceiling a few hundred feet above the Astoria, lighting up the water.

Then out of the darkness at the southern end of the bay a blinding searchlight suddenly shot its beam on the ship. It snapped off just as a thunderous mass of steel and fire closed in on the Astoria.

This was the start of the battle in which the American cruisers were sunk.

The Astoria shuddered under the impact of shell after shell hurled from the enemy ships. The "ammunition ready boxes" exploded and withered the bridge and deck.

"We'd been fighting constantly since the beginning of the Tulagi battle, 36 hours before," explained Hager.

"We expected a Jap naval force the next morning and we needed rest.

Jap Planes Return.

"When I heard the plane, I relayed the alarm to the bridge, soon after, that, the planes came back. The flares broke thru.

"The clouds were thick and we couldn't see the flares until they got down close to us.

"The first salvo hit us while some of the men were still running to their stations. Right at the beginning they knocked out one of our turrets.

"As soon as their searchlights picked us up, we turned and started firing to port. It seemed to me that ships were coming at us from both sides. Just then, over from the island on the west of us, a searchlight caught us in its beam.

"Our commander cut loose at the light and after a few minutes the light went up in a kind of a big puff. Lieut. Comm. E. K. Wakefield was directing the firing. He had lost his binoculars and after looking around a minute he asked to borrow mine. He took a look thru the glasses I handed him and said, 'well, that's one Jap who'll never throw another shell at us.'

Direct Hit on Sick Bay.

"But we kept getting hit.

"Men up on the sky control kept dropping. They were scattered around the decks. One of the officers went down to take some of the men from sick bay, but after a hit he came back pretty quietly with a bewildered look on his face because there wasn't any sick bay left. It had got a direct hit.

"Lieut. Comm. William H. Truesdell [an Illinoisan] finally decided to throw ammunition overboard before it started exploding. While he was throwing the ammunition over, part of it exploded and hit him over the left eye. He came back to me and asked, 'Am I very badly hit?' I said, 'You'd better let me fix it up, sir.' But he bandaged it up himself.

Dives for a Raft.

"After we had fought as long as we could, we finally decided we'd better get down on deck before we were trapped. After I got down, I started helping them move the wounded off the fo'c'stle. One of the life rafts was torn away. It seemed to be floating in good condition, so I dived over to get it and I didn't get back to the ship."

Hager said ships in the harbor machine gunned sharks to save some of the survivors.

"When a destroyer came up on us, she was firing," he said. "We thought she was Japanese, fixing to machine us. I told the men on my raft if they come up on us this way, with us all packed up, we'll be easy pickin's. Let's leave the raft and scatter out over the water.' Most of them wanted to stay on the raft. But two other fellows swam off with me.

"We soon found out it was our destroyer. They said the sharks were after a wounded officer and they machinegunned them to save him. I don't know whether it was a shark or not, but while I was out there in the water, I saw a big white streak heading for me, and I did some fast swimming to get back to the raft. I never saw the two men who swam off with me after that."

CHICAGO SAILOR TELLS SINKING OF U. S. S. VINCENNES

6 Torpedoes, Many Shells Hit Cruiser.

and she had to be sunk. The attacks fire which could not be extinguished, launched by the Japs came at 20 minute intervals.

A destroyer, another United States ship, also received a bomb hit on this first day of fighting. This I learned when the destroyer picked me up.

On the second day of the battle the Japs pursued the same tactics. They would come in at the approach of daylight and keep pecking at us all day long, zooming and diving and trying to break thru our barrage of pom pom and eight inch shells.

The second day saw the U. S. S. Jarvis, another destroyer, crippled by a direct bomb hit.

[The navy announced on Sept. 24 that the destroyer Jarvis, with 172 men aboard, had disappeared in the southwest Pacific and was assumed to have been sunk by Japanese submarines or aircraft. Lieut. Comm. William W. Graham Jr., commander of the Jarvis, was lost with his ship, the navy said.]

Jap Force on Way.

Meanwhile, we had come thru the fight unscathed and our defense was improving.

At 3 p. m. we were warned that a Jap task force was on the way to attack us. It was said to consist of three cruisers, two seaplane tenders, and a flotilla of destroyers.

Meanwhile we continued cruising around, being kept mighty busy by the Jap planes.

The third day of the battle followed its usual course except that the Jap planes came over earlier and we could hear firing over on Tulagi across the strait, which was only 12 miles wide.

On the night of Aug. 9, I had come up from my post, which was in the station of damage control in the heart of the Vincennes, two and a half decks below topside and directly amidships, and was in my sack [bunk] after having secured [left battle post] and eaten. That meal was the last regular one I ever had aboard. I remember it well and how good it tasted. It consisted of beans, hot dogs, and coffee.

I don't know how long I had been asleep, because I was dead tired. But all of a sudden the general alarm went off, and I was too excited even to look at my watch to observe the time, altho I learned later the alarm had sounded at 1:50 a. m. We all rushed to our stations and were dogged in [closed in by water tight compartments] when all hell broke loose and the old Vincennes seemed to shiver from stem to stern.

Shelled and Torpedoed.

We had gone to our stations on the double [extra fast time] and I had no sooner got set at my panel in central control than a shudder seemed to go all thru our ship. It felt as if we had fired all our guns at one time. It wasn't our guns, tho, that had let go. The shudder came from the enemy's guns that had found our range.

The first Jap hit smashed our sky aft [rear range finder] to pieces. The Japs must have been using 14 inch shells, and I learned later that they had opened fire at 8,000 yards.

My job aboard was that of electrician in charge of communication and navigation. I had some 4,000 telephone cables to watch over and these started to short out due to another direct hit. I was busier than hell trying to find out where the damage had been done.

Then we took a torpedo right in our guts. We shuddered again. Everything on my communication panel went out, and our fire control forward was dead.

Came another direct hit, and all lights went out. We had to replace the bulbs.

Six Torpedoes Hit Ship.

Shells and torpedoes meanwhile were coming fast. Number one fireroom was hit directly after us. The third torpedo hit the number four fireroom. The fifth hit the forward engine room and the sixth struck forward at the bow.

Then firing ceased almost as abruptly as it had started. We were still afloat but listing badly. Comm. R. A. Hansen, who was in charge of central control, asked me where we stood electrically. I replied that every ship service telephone still hooked up would work and every battle telephone still hooked up and manned would work.

I said the same thing about the speakers in the general announcing system, but added that we could reach no one. Comm. Hansen then decided to abandon ship, and appointed me to go topside [to the upper deck] to see how things looked.

On opening the hatch into the marine compartment I found the place to be a raging inferno. The thick paint on the steel walls had caught fire, and the blaze was being further fed by the bedding in the room.

"Every Man for Himself."

When I came down the ladder into our central control quarters, two and a half decks below topside, I reported to Mr. Hansen that in my opinion it would be possible to escape if we went straight up and not thru the officers' forward passage.

There were 48 men in that area of the ship and Mr. Hansen, upon receiving my report, said those who wished to go could do so, and that it was every man for himself.

Nine of us got out. I can't recall too vivdly the order in which I went up the ladder.

Milton Shifley, another Chicago boy, a storekeeper first class, who lives at 1508 North Karlov avenue, was among the last to come up. He got lost on the way and went down a blind passage. By good luck he had his flashlight with him and managed to find the way again.

But in bumping around down there in the dark he came into contact with the steel plates of the ship, which by that time were glowing from the terrific heat. His right arm was burned.

Struggle with a Door.

When I got up to the main deck only a passageway with a door at one end blocked my way to escape. Up against this door was my friend Alfred Ferguson, chief electrician's mate. He was leaning against the door and struggling with it. I thought we were trapped. I could feel the mounting heat at my back.

Why I did it, I can't say. But I gave a running start from about 20 feet away and headed right for Ferguson's back. The impact of my body on his burst the door wide open.

Ferguson was all in when I hit him. When the door opened he collapsed on the deck. I carried him over to the rail of the ship so he could get some fresh air.

Looking behind me, I saw others coming out of the passage. The last one out was a colored mess attendant who had been in the five inch handling room forward.

Others who escaped besides myself, Ferguson, and Shifley were V. T. Barry, electrician's mate, first class, who had been in the intercommunications room, H. H. Stuart, chief electrician's mate, who came from Norfolk, Va., a machinist's mate named Werline, Mercier, a storekeeper, and another man whose name I can't remember.

Men Thrown Into Water.

I stayed on deck for perhaps five minutes. The discipline of the crew was wonderful. We had to throw some of the men into the water. They refused to leave the ship even after being ordered to do so.

We floated for what seemed like hours. Hundreds of men were bobbing around in the sea. It was around 2:30 a. m., and I have never seen such inky blackness. But the sea was warm and not very rough.

In my immediate vicinity some 75 men were floating in the neighborhood of a raft on which were 20 wounded sailors.

I was stationed about 100 feet out from one of the corners of the raft to act as a guard against sharks. Other men occupied similar positions.

Then a destroyer came in view.

Transferred to Base.

After the destroyer took me out of the water, I was transferred to another ship and taken to a base. From there I was transferred aboard a transport, then carried by the transport to the west coast.

The transport, incidentally, is the same ship that took me out of this country after I had joined the navy, and she returned me to it on my birthday, Sept. 14.

I returned to Chicago Oct. 1 for a 20 day leave plus 10 extra days for travel. I am due back at San Francisco the end of this month, and am reporting for what is known as new construction.

I don't know where they intend sending me, but I trust it will be as close to Tokio as our navy intends to go. We lost a lot of fine boys aboard the Vincennes and the other ships that were with it. These lads were my buddies. From now on I fight for Uncle Sam and for vengeance, too.

FORMER BOXER AND 'BACK O' THE YARDS' BOY ON VINCENNES

Milton Andrew Schneller, a Chicago boy who was aboard the Vincennes at the time she went down, and who told the eye-witness story to THE TRIBUNE, was born and reared in Chicago. His wife, Leona, and his two children, Jean Louise, 12, and George Robert, 10, live at 4750 South Wells street. He enlisted before the war as a member of the naval reserve in the armory at the foot of East Randolph street, and rose thru the ranks to his present rating of electrician's mate first class.

Schneller, who is 34 years old, attended Sherwood and Parkham grade schools and was graduated from Tilden Tech in 1926. He first went to work for the Pennsylvania railroad as a fireman and from 1935 to 1939 was a trouble shooter in the loop for the Commonwealth Edison company.

Until joining the navy, Schneller's life centered in the area "Back o' the Yards." In his youth he was an amateur boxer, fighting under the colors of the Winchester Athletic club at Princeton avenue and 57th street and the La Salle Tigers at Princeton and 55th street. In his spare time he practiced diving in South Chicago and helped recover the bodies of 15 sailors who went down with the motorship Material Service in Lake Michigan off Calumet harbor, July 26, 1939.

BARE NAZI SPY LINKS IN CHILE AND ARGENTINA

Facts Back Welles' Charge on Ship Sinkings.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 [Special]. —The references to axis influence and espionage in Chile and Argentina made by Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, in a speech at Boston Oct. 8, were based on proof in the hands of the United States government that axis agents in those countries had transmitted information that led to sinkings of ships in American waters, it was learned today.

The reason for Welles' speech, it was explained, was that this government desired to remove the impression that the planned visit to Washington, D. C., of the president of Chile, Juan Antonio Rios, would signify that the United States was satisfied with Chile's policies.

As a result of Welles' speech, the Chilean ambassador, Rodolfo Michels, today notified Welles of the "postponement" of President Rios' visit. An official protest was made by Chile Saturday.

Spy Link Told.

The Chilean government, authoritative sources here said, knew these facts when it made its protest:

An axis agent named Luning, sentenced to death at Havana, Cuba, was said to have testified that he had maintained radio communications with German submarines and had received news of ship movements from an agent described as Carlos Robinson in Santiago, Chile. Robinson reported on ships moving from Argentine and Pacific ports northward toward the Caribbean.

[Heinz August Luning was recently sentenced to death as a Nazi spy by Cuban authorities after his arrest on charges of informing the Nazis of allied ship movements.]

Robinson, arrested in Chile, is said to have corroborated Luning's story and to have implicated Alfredo Kleiber, a director of the German bank in Santiago, who in turn is said to have admitted sending cables to Luning and to have indicated that he worked under instructions from the Nazi espionage center at Barcelona, Spain.

Arrests Known in Chile.

News of the arrest of Kleiber and three other Nazi agents, and Kleiber's link with Luning, was published in Chile the day before Welles' speech.

The Buenos Aires, Argentina, radio said the spies were "in contact with a vast network of Nazi espionage reaching into Argentina, Brazil, Cuba, Mexico, and the United States." It said the spies were not to be punished. The Chilean radio Agricultura said Oct. 7 that the German spies would be sent to Argentina, while the Chilean would be tried in Chile.

This government is known to have additional details about espionage in the two South American countries which have declined to break off relations with the axis as unanimously recommended by the Pan-American conference at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Chile has lately forbidden code messages to be sent by axis missions but has not cut off tele-communications, as it was committed to do at Rio de Janeiro. Argentina's government has taken control of radio communications, but it is said here that the reason was that the operating companies themselves were about to stop axis messages.

Hope for Understanding.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 12 (AP).—The Chilean press generally expressed hope today that the postponement of President Juan Antonio Rios' visit to the United States would not cause a misunderstanding between the two countries.

Rios sent a message to President Roosevelt last night saying "The latest official information circulated in the United States about my country's international policy has created an unpleasant atmosphere."

The newspaper La Hora, organ of the radical party of which Rios is a member, said "an error of opinion should not cause a misunderstanding nor give origin to bitterness and suspicions in the great American family."

Hit Argentine 5th Column.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 12 (AP).—The National Socialist [liberal] party in convention today urged that the government make a "radical change" in its foreign policy and in its attitude toward "the fifth column which is operating in Argentina."

Press reaction to the Welles address was limited to a defense of the Argentine government's position by the pro-Nazi El Pampero. Other papers apparently preferred not to risk violating regulations which prohibit comment on foreign policy talks. El Pampero predicted there would be a propaganda offensive against the government, saying "Welles threw the first stone."

Taylor Returns to U. S.; Reports Pope 'Very Well'

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal representative to the Vatican, arrived at La Guardia airport today aboard a transatlantic clipper from Europe. Taylor declined to comment on his visits to Rome, London, and Ireland except when asked about the health of Pope Pius. He said then that "his holiness is very well and very courageous."

Canadians Wounded in Dieppe Raid Arrive Home

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 12 (AP).—Canadian soldiers wounded in the Dieppe raid have arrived in Canada and tonight were en route to their homes on hospital trains after an uneventful Atlantic crossing. With the Dieppe veterans were about 700 other Canadian soldiers invalided back to Canada.

ENVOY ACCUSED OF APING F. D. R. LOSES JOB PLEA

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 [Special].—Ogden H. Hammond Jr., a wealthy young society career man in the diplomatic service, today lost his fight against ouster from active service as an outgrowth of charges that he mimicked President Roosevelt at a party in Newport, R. I., in 1940.

The United States Court of Appeals denied his plea to be returned to service and for the revocation of an efficiency rating of unsatisfactory. Hammond also was accused of befriending an alleged woman agent of a foreign government, but his plea asserted his dismissal was sought principally because of the accusation he had mimicked the President. He denied both charges.

Hammond, the son of a former ambassador to Spain, was placed on leave without pay in 1941. He joined the foreign service in 1939 and was vice consul in Vienna and Leipzig, Germany, before being placed on leave.

Palestine Has First Air Alarm in Two Months

YANKS RIP APART JUNGLE IN AFRICA TO SET UP BASES

Find Little Americas Dot Dark Continent.

BY DON WHITEHEAD AND THOBURN WIANT.

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 12 (AP).—America's armed forces are shoving aside the twin barriers of time and distance to pour a rising tide of men and materials into four vital fronts of the second World war—the middle east, Russia, India, and China.

America is on the move in Africa.

That's what we saw on a 10,000 mile journey by air from the United States to this city in the valley of the Nile about 150 miles from the Egyptian desert battlefront.

Tough, tanned Americans fresh from battle training and technical schooling back home are ripping apart jungles and establishing new bases in the blazing heat of the desert in preparation for the day when united nations forces will move to drive Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's axis armies from North Africa.

Speed Is the Keynote.

The movement of men, munitions, tanks and planes by land, sea and air has not yet reached flood tide. Speed has been the keynote of the American move into Africa as the allies keep a wary eye on relations between Berlin and Vichy.

There are many little Americas in Africa—places which have conveniences such as electric lights, running water, showers, ice and cold beer. These things might be classed by some as unnecessary luxuries but they are permanent fixtures which demonstrate that the Americans have arrived

At one stop we looked with amazement upon what might have been an encampment somewhere in the United States. Yet we were told its site was wild and totally undeveloped only a few months ago.

There were rows of modern barracks. Each had electric lights, running water, showers, and good beds. They reminded us of college dormitories.

Winding thru jungles were miles of paved roads. Desks, chairs, tables, and even waste paper baskets were made of solid mahogany—so plentiful that it was used also in floors, walls, and rafters.

Plenty of American Food.

The men smoked American cigarets. There was plenty of American food. The army does everything to feed the men well. It is a bit surprising to sit at a mess in a remote camp and be served a good steak, baked beans, green salad, coffee, and cake.

We were impressed by the morale of the men everywhere we went. We heard occasional griping, but the gripes were mostly those you would hear anywhere along main streets back home. What they want most is action.

We found health conditions excellent. Every safeguard has been taken on a past, present, and future basis. Before troops moved into any camp medical officers surveyed the area for miles around and took every known precaution against malaria and other prevalent diseases.

Long before a spade was turned plans for encampments were blueprinted in the United States. But engineers often came up against problems not solved by blue prints. That is where ingenuity played a big part. When necessary, they improvised. Often they used native methods such as constructing light, airy buildings of native materials which required no priorities.

Not a Nail Used.

Not a nail was used in some of these structures. Sidewalls, supports, and roof poles were lashed with strong fibers obtained from the jungle. Roofs were thatched.

But while they have Americanized their bases as much as possible with movies for entertainment, most of the lads we saw still looked upon Africa as a strange and awesome continent. They were hungry for news from home.

TALK FOOTBALL IN DESERT WHILE SHELLS SCREAM

Soldier Calmly Takes a Bath.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN THE WESTERN DESERT, Egypt, Oct. 12.—By now the whole world probably has heard the name El Alamein. It is [or was] a station on the coastal railway about 100 kilometers [about 62 miles] west of Alexandria.

Near El Alamein the allied forces in July halted their retreat and stood on a line which runs due south to the impassable region called the Qattara depression, which covers their left flank.

Here our jeep had to be left parked well behind the front. One American naval officer had to park his cap, too, at headquarters. It was explained that the party would, at one or more points, be in sight of the enemy. If they saw that cap they might conclude that some new units were moving into the sector, and it is their habit in such a case to pound heavily.

Shelters Cut in Rock.

Near the sea are cliffs and irregular rock formations so that shelters are cut in the rock. They are useful, too, for this sector is within artillery range, and the Germans have a habit of lobbing shells over at irregular intervals and apparently without method. This kind of shelling can be more disconcerting than concentration on a fixed target.

The path to the sea, it was said, is at times in sight of the enemy, but beyond small arms range—more than 2,000 meters [about 2,180 yards.] Just the same, our party of five was broken up in case the Germans might think we were numerous enough to be worth one or more of their shells.

On the way, a soldier was standing on the ridge, presumably in full view of the enemy, clamly sluicing his half naked body with water out of a bucket. Then there was the farthest advanced post overlooking the sea and, on the other hand, no man's land; beyond it, but invisible, the enemy.

The Guns Open Up.

When there was enough of looking at nothing, the accompanying officers said to wait, for there was going to be a shelling. It was swift and concentrated, and over in about a minute when 72 rounds were fired. The ridge opposite churned up and disappeared in a cloud of dust and smoke. Then we awaited the answer, but none came—the Germans again economizing on ammunition.

Talk Football and Shells.

Smashed vehicles lay all about. In one tank, we were told, was still the body of the driver just as he was killed over a month ago. Maybe it was no man's land, but units of our troops were all around.

Then the enemy started casually tossing over shells, one here, one there, but some too close to be considered with icy indifference. Thru it, two officers leaning against a ruined tank, were exchanging reminiscences and talking about football.

Maybe they were really engrossed in the conversation—maybe each one was determined not to quit and move on before the other did. The situation was bizarre and vaguely idiotic.

That evening, the camp in the sand dunes looked like home, sweet home.

IT'S A COCKEYED WORLD! ASK MEN ON NORMANDIE

New York, Oct. 12 [Special].—Workmen swarming over the half dead hulk of the mammoth liner Normandie perform their duties under crazy, unreal conditions. Because the 83,423 ton pride of the prewar French merchant marine is on her side with 60 feet of water above half of her stripped structure, everything is half upside down.

"Our workers have to get cockeyed to work in here," said Commander William A. Sullivan, the navy's salvage boss. Sullivan and his 580 workmen are trying to refloat the ship by the method of controled pumping, which calls for sealing up the ship, dividing her into watertight compartments and then slowly pumping out the water. It was estimated that actual raising operations would not start for another year.

The former liner, taken over by the navy, caught fire last Feb. 9 and rolled over on her side in the Hudson river slip.

22 AXIS RAIDERS SHOT DOWN OVER ISLAND OF MALTA

37 Enemy Planes Bagged in Two Days.

CAIRO, Egypt, Oct. 12 (AP).—German and Italian bombers have renewed heavy air attacks on Malta during the last two days, possibly indicating that axis convoys are moving reënforcements across the Mediterranean to match the growing allied strength in North Africa.

Twelve axis bombers and 10 fighters were destroyed today in air battles over the British Mediterranean base, bringing the two day total to 37 axis planes shot down. Many more were damaged.

Movement of axis troops to North Africa also was indicated by an announcement that allied planes had scored hits on two freighters, a schooner, and two enemy destroyers in the eastern Mediterranean.

Yanks Bomb Two Ships.

United States' heavy bombers scored the hits on two 8,000 ton freighters and left one of them apparently sinking yesterday off Crete where the Italians have been routing their supply shipping miles out of the way in an effort to keep within protection of axis land based planes.

This time the land based planes bid them little good. Two Messerschmitt 110s and a Junkers 88—one third of the defense force which rose to guard the ships—were knocked from the air by the concentrated fire of the bombers' guns.

British bombers, meanwhile, caught two enemy destroyers by night in the eastern Mediterranean. They reported scoring a direct hit on one and near misses with heavy bombs on the other.

7 Planes Downed: Italy.

ROME, Oct. 12 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—Seven allied planes were shot down over Egypt yesterday and 15 more were destroyed over Malta in repeated axis raids on that Mediterranean stronghold, the Italian high command declared today. Axis losses were put at three planes.

The Italians also claimed that one of their submarines had torpedoed and sunk an allied submarine in the central Mediterranean.

ULSTER ARRESTS LEADER OF IRISH REPUBLICAN ARMY

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Oct. 12 (AP).—Police of Northern Ireland today announced that Hugh McAteer, whom they identified as chief of staff of the outlawed Irish Republican army for all Ireland, had been arrested and was being held for internment under the special powers act. No charges are necessary under this act.

McAteer, 25 years old, was released 12 months ago after serving a six year term for possessing fire arms and explosives.

SCOTS PROTEST CHAINING OF NAZI WAR PRISONERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The British government's action in chaining German prisoners of war as a retaliatory measure was protested in a resolution forwarded to Whitehall by the Greenoch Prisoners' War association today.

Said Dr. W. G. McDonald, president of the Scottish Prisoners' War association: "Chaining prisoners of war is a breach of the Geneva convention and is bringing us down to the level of the Germans."

George Bernard Shaw in a letter to the London Times, says:

"How are we obliged to copy him [Hitler]? How will our doing so 'protect' his British prisoners? Who is to make the chains and what is to be their weight? And as the retaliatory process is self-perpetuating, how is it to be stopped before the human race is exterminated?"

WE'RE ON ACTIVE DUTY ON AN 11,000 MILE FRONT

TO LOOK at us, you'd never think of us as soldiers. We're not dressed according to Army regulations. Certainly our weapons aren't regular military equipment. A lot of us are too old or too heavy or too something or other, according to military standards. Still, we're an army—35,000 strong.

The fighting front of Burlington Lines is 11,000 miles of railroad in thirteen states. Our weapons are locomotives and ledgers, freight cars and flares, switchyards and semaphores, diesels and drawbars, ties and timetables, passenger cars and pencils, typewriters and tickets.

Our job is to make sure that both military men and materiel get prompt, efficient transportation in our sector—at the same time see that essential civilian travel is well protected. It's a big job, and we're using our fine fleet of passenger trains headed by 14 diesel-powered Zephyrs, and our scores of fast freights to maintain dependable and efficient service where it counts most.

Burlington's army and all the other railroad armies the country over are inspired by one vital fact—America's fighting and production fronts can be no better than its transportation front. Could there be a stronger incentive to do our job well?

GERMANS RENEW FIGHT IN STREETS OF STALINGRAD

50 Hitler Tanks Attack 3 Times; 20 Crippled.

MOSCOW, Oct. 13 [Tuesday] (AP).—Fighting broke out anew inside the city of Stalingrad yesterday after a lull of several days, the Russians announced in their midnight communique today, the 50th day of the city's siege. Nazi troops gained slightly in one block of the ruined city.

"A regiment of enemy troops supported by 50 tanks three times attacked our positions," the communique said. "All the attacks were beaten off. Only in one block our detachments were somewhat pressed back by the enemy. As a result of this fighting 20 tanks were disabled or set on fire, and about two battalions of German infantry [about 1,000 men] wiped out."

Northwest of Stalingrad, where a soviet relief force has been cutting into the Nazi flank extending from the Don river to Stalingrad, the communique said 14 German attacks were beaten off in a fight for "a point of tactical importance," and 800 Germans killed. Yesterday the Reds had announced their troops had capture more "advantageous positions."

Nazis Suffer Heavy Losses.

It is this offensive, combined with heavy Nazi casualties suffered in attacking Stalingrad frontally, which may explain the temporary break of German activity in the northwestern outskirts of the besieged city.

Until the renewed German attacks on Stalingrad the activity for two days had been confined mostly to artillery duels.

With the battle for Stalingrad now in its eighth week the Germans have lost tens of thousands of their finest shock troops without fulfilling Hitler's declaration that the city would be taken.

The momentary lull in the costly Nazi effort to reduce the Volga city had led to the belief that the Germans intended to try to break thru to the Caspian sea in the Mozdok area of the mid-Caucasus, far to the south of Stalingrad.

Some Gains Near Mozdok.

If that is the German intention, the enemy was not making any further progress there, the Russians said. The midnight communique said a counterattacking Red army "on a number of sectors made some advance" in the Mozdok region which protects the Grozny oil fields about 50 miles to the east.

The twin German Caucasian effort to crawl further down the Black sea coast southeast of Novorossisk also was being contained, the communique said. A soviet unit operating in that area "successfully counterattacked the enemy and killed about 200 Hitlerites," it said.

A communique yesterday had said that Russian troops had recaptured positions at Mozdok which had been lost on Sunday to the Germans, and also said that a German garrison had been encircled in the battle zone southeast of Novorossisk.

Renew Leningrad Fighting.

The Russians reported renewed fighting on the Leningrad front in which the Red army killed about 600 Germans and destroyed four guns and other equipment in repulsing an enemy assault on "a soviet strongpoint."

Pravda, the Communist party newspaper, said the Russians finally had driven the Finns from a hill in Karelia which the soviets had been unable to take last winter. In three days, the counterattacking Finns lost 1,500 dead and wounded, the dispatch said.

Even in the north, the Russian battle cry was: "We will never give up Stalingrad."

CITE NEW NAZI STRATEGY.

The German communique yesterday said an enemy group was annihilated at Stalingrad and the news agency DNB said the new German strategy had called for cessation of the head-on infantry attacks for a period of artillery and bomb preparation.

The German command stressed the Caucasian fighting saying an enemy group had been encircled and destroyed on the road to Tuapse, port southeast of Novorossisk. There 400 positions and a number of prisoners were reported captured.

Russian attacks south of the Terek river in the Mozdok region were reported frustrated with heavy losses. A number of Russian positions were reported destroyed on the central and northern fronts and the Russians were reported pushed back across the Neva river east of Leningrad.

War developments reported yesterday from the vicinity of Stalingrad are told in the captions on the map.

VOLGA SUPPLIES SUSTAIN DEFENSE OF STALINGRAD

Boats Moving in Night Aid Besieged Reds.

If the Russians are able to maintain their communication lines on the Volga river, Stalingrad may be able to hold out indefinitely, a summary of Russian reports indicated yesterday.

Tho the Germans hold and use the railway lines on the southwest, west and northwest of Stalingrad, as well as the Don-Volga canal, the Russians have been able to supply the Red defenders of the city by hundreds of boats moving across the Volga at night.

Moreover, the Russians deny the German claim to have reached the Volga north and south of the city and to have blocked river traffic. The Reds point out that the Volga gunboat flotilla moves up and down the river supporting the defenders by shelling German positions.

Thus as long as the Russians are able to use the Volga, the great artery which never has been displaced by the railroads as the foremost transport medium of central Russia, Stalingrad's defense may continue indefinitely.

Symbol of Vast Importance.

And Stalingrad, which after 50 days of siege may be regarded as crippled industrially and hardly livable, has assumed vast importance as a symbol of Russian resistance.

Northwest of Stalingrad the German left flank, a barrier protecting the Nazis' rail and highway supply lines to the entire Stalingrad front, extends from the Don river for 40 miles eastward to the northwestern suburbs of Stalingrad. It is against this flank, near the Don river, that Marshal Timonshenko has pressed his relief drive to ease or break the Nazi pressure on Stalingrad.

The Russians have told of repeated gains in that offensive. Extended successes conceivably would threaten the entire German position before Stalingrad by cutting across roads, railroads, and the canal. In some recent instances the Germans have used air transport to bring men and supplies up to the Stalingrad front.

Heavy Cost in Frontal Attacks.

The heavy man power cost of Nazi frontal attacks on Stalingrad and the threat from the northwest may have influenced the German announcement last week that the frontal attacks would be subordinated and Stalingrad would be leveled by heavy guns and dive bombers.

The Russians have admitted only that the Germans have penetrated a suburban workers district in northwest Stalingrad where the great Stalin tractor [later tank] factory is situated. Reports of both sides have told of devastation in the areas they hold, thus Stalingrad may be regarded as negligible for the production of war materials or habitation, tho affording the Red troops vantage points from which to conduct their defense.

The city, narrow from east to west, but sprawled for miles along the river bank, has been under German guns for days and dive bomber attacks have reached the proportions of 1,500 a day.

One may assume that the Russians long ago took measures such as they did at Kiev and other great centers lost to the Germans, moving entire factories with their machines and skilled workmen eastward to the Urals.

Even if Stalingrad, "the steel city," named for Josef Stalin, no longer can be counted as a great center of Russian production, the fierceness of its defenders' resistance, and the length of the siege increase its importance to the whole Russian war machine.

'STERN MOMENT' IN TIDES OF WAR HERE: CHURCHILL

Taunts Hitler's Fear of Allied Might.

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Oct. 12 (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill gave Britain today an assessment of two months' allied war effort which included the transport to these isles of the most numerous United States troops yet to arrive, and declared the united nations had reached a "stern and somber moment" in which they must balance wisdom with daring.

That was his closest reference to the "second front" problem in a speech delivered in Edinburgh.

Taunts Hitler on Fear.

The prime minister took especial pains to taunt Adolf Hitler about the "dull, low, whining note of fear" apparent in the latest speeches of the German fuehrer and his associates.

Briefly assessing the gains of the last two months, Churchill said August and September have been "the least bad months" since January in U-boat depredations. This, he acknowledged, remains the allies' greatest problem, "but there is no reason whatsoever why it should not be solved by the prodigious measures of offense and defense and replacement on which Britain, Canada and above all the United States are now engaged."

Shipbuilding Moves Ahead.

August and September, he went on, "have seen new building of merchant ships substantially outweigh tonnage they have seen the greatest tonnage of British bombs dropped on Germany; they have covered the most numerous safe arrivals of United States troops in the British Isles; they have marked a definite growth of allied air superiority over Germany, Italy, and Japan."

Churchill spoke in this Scottish city following a visit to the British home fleet.

Dealing with the latest German executions in Norway and elsewhere and with the Nazi initiated shackling of war prisoners, the prime minister said:

"I say to show weakness of any kind to such a man [Hitler] is only to encourage further atrocities," Churchill declared. "You may be assured no weakness will be shown."

Calls on Spain for Closer Ties with South America

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Oct. 12 (AP).—Enrique Ruiz Guinazu, foreign minister of neutral Argentina, called upon Spain today to establish closer ties with South America because "in this crucial hour nations which do not wish to perish must link themselves with those which follow the same road of parallel interests." In a Columbus day broadcast to Madrid, Ruiz Guinazu said that "without yielding any sovereign rights peoples of Spanish stock must draw closer in the cultivation of their common assets."

FRENCH REFUSE TO GO TO GERMANY; 150,000 FACE DEPORTATION

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—The Germans in France were reported tonight to have delivered an ultimatum decreeing that if French authorities did not have 150,000 French workers signed up for German factories by Thursday they would be requisitioned and deported by the Germans.

The British radio quoted the "Vichy director of propaganda for workers" as reporting the move.

Only a few thousand workers are known to have responded to the Vichy government's appeals for workers to fill the Germans' needs. One report said Pierre Laval desired 40,000 workers for the German factories, but considerably fewer had agreed to go.

Expert on Japan Named Aid to Halifax by Britain

LONDON, Oct. 12 (AP).—Sir George Bailey Sansom, who held diplomatic and consular assignments in Japan for more than 30 years, today was appointed adviser to Lord Halifax, British ambassador to Washington, D. C., on matters regarding the orient. Sansom will have the rank of minister. He is an authority on Japanese culture and language.

NORSE POWER PLANT BLASTED; GERMANS SUSPECT CHUTISTS

[By Wireless to the New York News and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 12.—While under cover of the state of emergency the Germans were executing obviously innocent Norwegians at Trondheim, a power station in the affected coastal area some 30 miles from Bodo was blown up. The Germans believe British parachutists responsible but an extensive manhunt has produced no results.

The state of emergency was lifted last night. Previously the Quisling district leader carried out an extensive purge of local officials and prominent business men. Some 200, including two deans, the chief of the local telegraph service, and heads of the Trondheim machine shop company and Trondheim iron industry, were summarily dismissed from their posts and many of them expelled from Trondheim province.

It is reliably reported from the rest of Norway that many of the gigantic industrial enterprises which the Germans intended to create or had already started building have been closed or abandoned. These projects were financed and controled either by the Hermann Goering Werke, or the I. G. Farben Industrie, or directly by the German state and they are reliably reported to have already dismissed some 20,000 workers.

KEEPER KILLED BY POLAR BEARS IN QUEBEC ZOO

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

QUEBEC, Que., Oct. 12.—Polar bears in Quebec's zoölogical gardens claimed their second victim in four years when Jean Paul Bedard, 29 year old gardens employé, was fatally mauled by three bears today.

Despite repeated instructions to feed the animals from the outside, Bedard entered the cage to feed the animals and clean the cage. He petted one of the bears. The bear leaped on him and two other bears in the cage also attacked him. Bedard managed to yell for help before losing consciousness.

Keepers called police, who shot the bears in an effort to save Bedard's life. He was removed from the cage but succumbed to his injuries an hour later.

WAR OFFICE BARS CIRCULARS FROM ITS MAIL SYSTEM

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—Circulars and other such advertising matter were ordered barred from the war department mail system today, with the announced purpose of expediting delivery of official mail.

The action was taken after a survey showed that in one month more than 200,000 pieces of mail advertising were sent to the war department in Washington and that in one day more than 10,000 pieces were received from a single source.

TAFT RAPS PLAN TO COMPEL LABOR TO CHANGE JOBS

Make System Voluntary, He Asks New Deal.

Aberdeen, S. D., Oct. 12 [Special].—United States Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] said here tonight that the nation's man power problem should be solved on a volunteer rather than a compulsory basis, warning that "you cannot order Americans around like sheep the way some burocrats would like to do."

Speaking in behalf of the senatorial candidacy of Gov. Harlow J. Bushfield, Taft pleaded for election of a congress which will have the strength and independence to call a halt to New Deal plans for detailed government control over everything and everybody.

President Roosevelt is commander in chief of the army and navy but is not commander in chief of the civilian population, Taft said, asserting that the President has no more right to set aside the laws of congress relating to the civilian population in time of war than in time of peace. His threat to do so on Sept. 7 has created disunity and dissension in the nation, Taft said.

Coöperation vs. Compulsion.

The greatest difference between this war and the last is in the government's insistence on substituting compulsion for coöperation in dealing with our own people, Taft declared.

"Now the whole control is based on threats, threats to crack down, threats of shortages and rationing," he said. "Instead of being asked to save sugar for the army and foreign shipment, wild statements and threats of a complete disappearance of sugar produced a rush to every grocery store in the United States.

"Except for the methods of the government, I don't believe sugar rationing would ever have been necessary. Instead of rationing meat, if there is a shortage, why not try a few meatless days and appeal to patriotism? Instead of threatening to confiscate tires, why not go out and offer to buy the extras? There is a crowd in Washington who think they know what the people want and ought to have better than the people themselves."

Doubts Forced Labor Need.

Taft said that the taking of 10 million men for the armed forces is creating a tremendously difficult man power problem but expressed doubt that compulsion directed from Washington is going to solve it.

"I don't believe that in this great democratic country we need any plan for forced labor," Taft said. "Apart from the principle of the thing, I don't believe that men ordered to work on particular farms or for particular manufacturers are going to be efficient workers.

"If we tell any man where he can be most useful in the war effort, the chances are 10 to 1 he is going to accept the judgment voluntarily. We can recruit men and women for the necessary services if the government will undertake to pay the cost of moving if that is necessary and even take their homes and farms off their hands where the move appears to be permanent."

Sees Rationing of Everything.

Taft warned that we are moving rapidly toward a condition in which every essential article will be rationed, every price fixed, and every wage and salary dictated from Washington. This is in spite of the fact that conditions are not essentially different from what they were in past wars except for rubber and petroleum, he said.

"Outside of gasoline, I think we can get along without rationing if we will try a little coöperation," he declared, commenting that instead of asking coöperation our burocrats prefer to issue 'directives,' a Fascist term now becoming fashionable in Washington.

Taft said that an independent congress is needed to deal constructively with the problems of postwar reorganization.

"Surely those problems should be decided by a congress anxious to carry out the people's will instead of being subservient to a group of brain trusters in Washington whose ideas are nearly all of European origin," he said. "We don't want congressmen who haven't got the intelligence to criticize the plans which this crowd makes for the administration and haven't got the courage to oppose them."

COLUMBUS DAY BRINGS LIBERTY PLEA BY F. D. R.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt in a Columbus day statement asserted today that the nation's war objective was "liberty for ourselves" and "liberation for others." Mr. Roosevelt noted that 450 years had passed since the discovery of the new world. Columbus and his followers, he added, "found a great expanse where new beginnings could be made, where men could steer their courses free of the fetters of tyranny and the encompassment of outworn institutions.

"This was the American experiment, a bold experiment and successful. But now the free nations we created, the very liberties we made by law, are endangered by destrictive forces from without.

"Our cause is not only for liberty for ourselves but liberation for others, an American victory will be a united nations victory and a victory for oppressed and enslaved people everywhere."

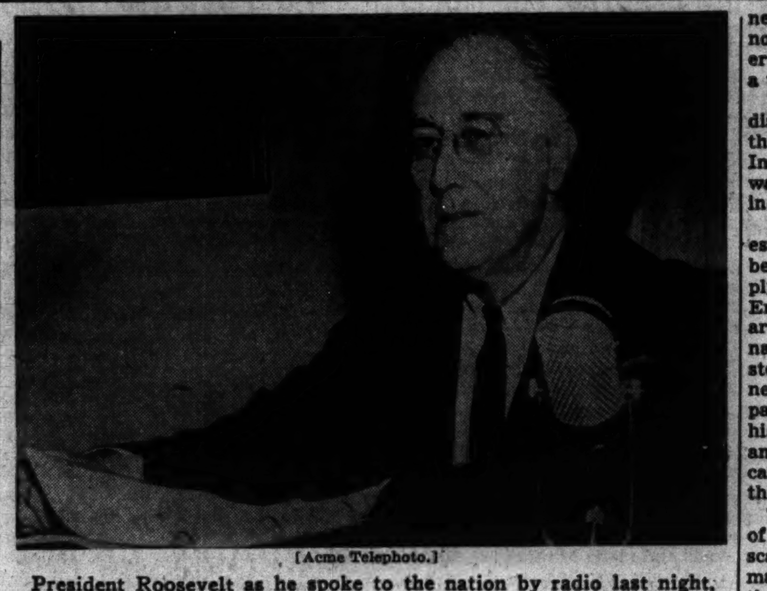
Allies Gaining Strength, Axis Slipping, Roosevelt Says



[Acme Telephoto.]

President Roosevelt as he spoke to the nation by radio last night.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—The text of President Roosevelt's address tonight follows:

"As you know, I have recently come back from a trip of inspection of camps and training stations and war factories.

"The main thing that I observed on this trip is not exactly news. It is the plain fact that the American people are united as never before in their determination to do a job and to do it well.

"This whole nation of 130,000,000 free men and women and children is becoming one great fighting force. Some of us are soldiers or sailors, some of us are civilians. Some of us are fighting the war in airplanes five miles above the continent of Europe or the islands of the Pacific—and some of us are fighting it in mines deep down in the earth of Pennsylvania or Montana. A few of us are decorated with medals for heroic achievement, but all of us can have that deep and permanent inner satisfaction that comes from doing the best we know how—each of us playing an honorable part in the great struggle to save our democratic civilization.

Insists United Nations Will Win.

"Whatever our individual circumstances or opportunities—we are all in it and our spirit is good, and we Americans and our allies are going to win—and do not let any one tell you anything different.

"That is the main thing that I saw on my trip around the country—unbeatable spirit. If the leaders of Germany and Japan could have come along with me, and had seen what I saw, they would agree with my conclusions. Unfortunately, they were unable to make the trip with me. That is one reason why we are carrying our war effort overseas—to them.

"With every passing week the war increases in scope and intensity. That is true in Europe, in Africa, in Asia, and on all the seas.

Strength Is on Upgrade.

"The strength of the united nations is on the upgrade in this war. The axis leaders, on the other hand, know by now that they have already reached their full strength, and that their steadily mounting losses in men and material cannot be fully replaced. Germany and Japan are already realizing what the inevitable result will be when the total strength of the united nations hits them—at additional places on the earth's surface.

"One of the principal weapons of our enemies in the past has been their use of what is called "the war of nerves." They have spread falsehood and terror; they have started fifth columns everywhere; they have duped the innocent; they have fomented suspicion and hate between neighbors; they have aided and abetted those people in other nations—even our own—whose words and deeds are advertised from Berlin and Tokio as proof of disunity.

"The greatest defense against all such propaganda is the common sense of the common people—and that defense is prevailing.

War of Nerves Boomerangs.

"The 'war of nerves' against the united nations is now turning into a boomerang. For the first time, the Nazi propaganda machine is on the defensive. They begin to apologize to their own people for the repulse of their vast forces at Stalingrad, and for the enormous casualties they are suffering. They are compelled to beg their overworked people to rally their weakened production. They even publicly admit, for the first time, that Germany can be fed only at the cost of stealing food from the rest of Europe.

"They are proclaiming that a second front is impossible; but, at the same time, they are desperately rushing troops in all directions, and stringing barbed wire all the way from the coasts of Finland and Norway to the islands of the eastern Mediterranean.

"Meanwhile, they are driven to increase the fury of their atrocities.

"The united nations have decided to establish the identity of those Nazi leaders who are responsible for the innumerable acts of savagery. As each of these criminal deeds is committed, it is being carefully investigated; and the evidence is being relentlessly piled up for the future purposes of justice.

Leaders Must Be Tried.

"We have made it entirely clear that the united nations seek no mass reprisals against the populations of Germany, or Italy, or Japan. But the ringleaders and their brutal henchmen must be named, and apprehended, and tried in accordance with the judicial processes of criminal law.

"There are now millions of Americans in army camps, in naval stations, in factories, and in shipyards.

"Who are these millions upon whom the life of our country depends? What are they thinking? What are their doubts and what are their hopes? And how is the work progressing?

"The commander in chief cannot learn all of the answers to these questions in Washington. That is why I made the trip I did.

"It is very easy to say, as some have said, that when the President travels thru the country he should go with a blare of trumpets, with crowds on the sidewalks, with batteries of reporters and photographers—talking and posing with all the politicians of the land.

"But having had some experience in this war and in the last war, I can tell you very simply that the kind of trip I took permitted me to concentrate on the work I had to do without expending time, meeting all the demands of publicity. And—I might add—it was a particular pleasure to make a tour of the country without having to give a single thought to politics.

"I expect to make other trips for similar purposes, and I shall make them in the same way.

Not at Full Level Yet.

"In the last war, I had seen great factories; but until I saw some of the new present day plants, I had not thoroly visualized our American war effort. Of course, I saw only a small portion of all our plants, but that portion was a good cross section, and it was deeply impressive.

"The United States has been at war for only 10 months, and is engaged in the enormous task of multiplying its armed forces many times. We are by no means at full production level yet. But I could not help asking myself on the trip, where would we be today if the government of the United States had not begun to build many of its factories for this huge increase more than two years ago—more than a year before war was forced upon us at Pearl Harbor.

"We have also had to face the problem of shipping. Ships in every part of the world continue to be sunk by enemy action. But the total tonnage of ships coming out of American, Canadian, and British shipyards, day by day, has increased so fast that we are getting ahead of our enemies in the bitter battle of transportation.

Trip Hurried, in a Way.

"In expanding our shipping, we have had to enlist many thousands of men for our merchant marine. These men are serving magnificently. They are risking their lives every hour so that guns and tanks and planes and ammunition and food may be carried to the heroic defenders of Stalingrad and to all the united nations' forces all over the world.

"A few days ago I awarded the first maritime distinguished service medal to a young man—Edward F. Cheney of Yeadon, Pa.—who had shown great gallantry in rescuing his comrades from the oily waters of the sea after their ship had been torpedoed. There will be many more such acts of bravery.

"In one sense my recent trip was a hurried one, out thru the middle west, to the northwest, down the length of the Pacific coast and back thru the southwest and the south. In another sense, however, it was a leisurely trip, because I had the opportunity to talk to the people who are actually doing the work—management and labor alike—on their own home grounds. It gave me a fine chance to do some thinking about the major problems of our war effort on the basis of first things first.

More and More Women.

"As I told the three press association representatives who accompanied me, I was impressed by the large proportion of women employed—doing skilled manual work running machines. As time goes on, and many more of our men enter the armed forces, this proportion will increase. Within less than a year from now, there will probably be as many women as men working in our war production plants.

"I had some enlightening experiences relating to the old saying of us men that curiosity—inquisitiveness—is stronger among women. I noticed that, frequently, when we drove unannounced down the middle of a great plant full of workers and machines, the first people to look up from their work were the men—and not the women. It was chiefly the men who were arguing as to whether that fellow in the straw hat was really the President or not.

"Having seen the quality of the work and of the workers on our production lines—and coupling these first hand observations with the reports of actual performance of our weapons on the fighting fronts—I can say to you that we are getting ahead of our enemies in the battle of production.

Praises Inflation Curb.

"Of great importance to our future production was the effective and rapid manner in which the congress met the serious problem of the rising cost of living. It was a splendid example of the operation of democratic processes in wartime.

"The machinery to carry out this act of the congress was put into effect within 12 hours after the bill was signed. The legislation will help the cost of living problems of every worker in every factory and on every farm in the land.

"In order to keep stepping up our production we have had to add millions of workers to the total labor force of the nation. And as new factories come into operation we must find additional millions of workers.

"This presents a formidable problem in the mobilization of man power.

"It is not that we do not have enough people in this country to do the job. The problem is to have the right numbers of the right people in the right places at the right time.

"We are learning to ration materials; and we must now learn to ration man power.

Lists Major Objectives.

"The major objectives of a sound man power policy are:

"First, to select and train men of the highest fighting efficiency needed for our armed forces in the achievement of victory over our enemies in combat.

"Second, to man our war industries and farms with the workers needed to produce the arms and munitions and food required by ourselves and our fighting allies to win this war.

"In order to do this we shall be compelled to stop workers from moving from one war job to another as a matter of personal preference; to stop employers from stealing labor from each other; to use older men, and handicapped people, and more women, and even grown boys and girls, wherever possible and reasonable, to replace men of military age and fitness; to train new personnel for essential war work; and to stop the wastage of labor in all nonessential activities.

"There are many other things that we can do, and do immediately, to help meet the man power problem.

"The school authorities in all the states should work out plans to enable our high school students to take some time from their school year, and to use their summer vacations, to help farmers raise and harvest their crops, or to work in the war industries. This does not mean closing schools and stopping education. It does mean giving older students a better opportunity to contribute to the war effort. Such work will do no harm to the students.

"People should do their work as near their homes as possible. We cannot afford to transport a single worker into an area where there is already a worker available to do the job.

"In some communities employers dislike to employ women. In others they are reluctant to hire Negroes. In still others older men are not wanted. We can no longer afford to indulge such prejudices or practices.

"Every citizen wants to know what essential war work he can do the best. He can get the answer by applying to the nearest United States Employment Service office. There are 4,500 of these offices thruout the nation. They are the corner grocery stores of our man power system. This network of employment offices is prepared to advise every citizen where his skills and labors are needed most, and to refer him to an employer who can utilize them to best advantage in the war effort.

"Perhaps the most difficult phase of the man power problem is the scarcity of farm labor. I have seen many evidences of the fact, however, that the people are trying to meet it as well as possible.

"In one community that I visited a perishable crop was harvested by turning out the whole of the high school for three or four days.

Whole Town Turns Out.

"In another community of fruit growers the usual Japanese labor was not available; but when the fruit ripened the banker, the butcher, the lawyer, the garage man, the druggist, the local editor, and in fact every able-bodied man and woman in the town left their occupations and went out, gathered the fruit, and sent it to market.

"Every farmer in the land must realize fully that his production is part of war production, and that he is regarded by the nation as essential to victory. The American people expect him to keep his production up, and even to increase it. We will use every effort to help him to get labor; but, at the same time, he and the people of his community must use ingenuity and coöperative effort to produce crops, and live stock, and dairy products.

"It may be that all of our volunteer effort—however well intentioned and well administered—will not suffice to solve the problem. In that case, we shall have to adopt new legislation. If this is necessary, I do not believe that the American people will shrink from it.

Every American in Draft.

"In a sense, every American, because of the privilege of his citizenship, is a part of the selective service.

"The nation owes a debt of gratitude to the selective service boards. The successful operation of the selective service system and the way it has been accepted by the great mass of our citizens give us confidence that, if necessary, the same principle could be used to solve any man power problem.

"And I want also to say a word of praise and thanks for the more than 10 million people, all over the country, who have volunteered for the work of civilian defense—and who are working hard at it. They are displaying unselfish devotion in the patient performance of their often tiresome and always anonymous tasks. In doing this important neighborly work they are helping to fortify our national unity and our real understanding of the fact that we are all involved in this war.

"Naturally, on my trip I was most interested in watching the training of our fighting forces.

Lower Draft Age Inevitable.

"All of our combat units that go overseas must consist of young, strong men who have had thoro training. A division that has an average age of 23 or 24 is a better fighting unit than one which has an average age of 33 or 34. The more of such troops we have in the field, the sooner the war will be won, and the smaller will be the cost in casualties.

"Therefore, I believe that it will be necessary to lower the present minimum age limit for selective service from 20 years down to 18. We have learned how inevitable that is—and how important to the speeding up of victory.

"I can very thoroly understand the feeling of all parents whose sons have entered our armed forces. I have an appreciation of that feeling—and so has my wife.

"I want every father and every mother who has a son in the service to know—again, from what I have seen with my own eyes—that the men in the army, navy, and marine corps are receiving today the best possible training, equipment, and medical care. And we will never fail to provide for the spiritual needs of our officers and men under the chaplains of our armed services.

"Good training will save many, many lives in battle. The highest rate of casualties is always suffered by units comprised of inadequately trained men.

"We can be sure that the combat units of our army and navy are well manned, and well equipped, and well trained. Their effectiveness in action will depend upon the quality of their leadership and upon the wisdom of the strategic plans on which all military operations are based.

"I can say one thing about our plans: They are not being decided by the typewriter strategists who expound their views in the press or on the radio.

"One of the greatest of American soldiers, Robert E. Lee, once remarked on the tragic fact that in the war of his day all the best generals were apparently working on newspapers instead of in the army. That seems to be true in all war.

Haven't Full Information.

"The trouble with the typewriter strategists is that, while they may be full of bright ideas, they are not in possession of much information about the facts or problems of military operations.

"We, therefore, will continue to leave the plans for this war to the military leaders.

"The military and naval plans of the United States are made by the joint staff of the army and navy which is constantly in session in Washington. The chiefs of this staff are Adm. Leahy, Gen. Marshall, Adm. King, and Gen. Arnold. They meet and confer regularly with representatives of the British joint staff, and with representatives of Russia, China, The Netherlands, Poland, Norway, the British dominions and other nations working in the common cause.

"Since this unity of operations was put into effect last January, there has been a very substantial agreement between these planners, all of whom are trained in the profession of arms—air, sea, and land—from their early years. As commander-in-chief I have at all times also been in substantial agreement.

Division Action Planned.

"As I have said before, many major decisions of strategy have been made. One of them—on which we have all agreed—relates to the necessity of diverting enemy forces from Russia and China to other theaters of war by new offensives against Germany and Japan. An announcement of how these offensives are to be launched, and when, and where, cannot be broadcast over the radio at this time.

"We celebrate today the exploit of a bold and adventurous Italian—Christopher Columbus—who with the aid of Spain opened up a new world where freedom and tolerance and respect for human rights and dignity provided an asylum for the oppressed of the old world.

"Today, the sons of the new world are fighting in lands far distant from their own America. They are fighting to save for all mankind, including ourselves, the principles which have flourished in this new world of freedom. "We are mindful of the countless millions of people whose future liberty and whose very lives depend upon permanent victory for the united nations.

"There are a few people in this country who, when the collapse of the axis begins, will tell our people that we are safe once more; that we can tell the rest of the world to 'stew in its own juice'; that never again will we help to pull 'the other fellow's chestnuts from the fire'; that the future of civilization can jolly well take care of itself insofar as we are concerned.

"But it is useless to win battles if the cause for which we fought these battles is lost. It is useless to win a war unless it stays won.

"We, therefore, fight for the restoration and perpetuation of faith and hope thruout the world.

"The objective of today is clear and realistic. It is to destroy completely the military power of Germany, Italy, and Japan to such good purpose that their threat against us and all the other united nations cannot be revived a generation hence.

"We are united in seeking the kind of victory that will guarantee that our grandchildren can grow and, under God, may live their lives, free from the constant threat of invasion, destruction, slavery, and violent death."

PLAN FOR PAPER MILL CURB HELD BLOW TO RUBBER

Slash in Output Would Decrease By-product.

BY HAL FOUST.

Ralph O. Brewster [top], and Wallace H. White Jr.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—An administration plan to curtail paper production, putting a crimp in newspapers, was encountered here today by advocates of proposals to enroll the country's wood pulp mills in the synthetic rubber program.

A reduction in the output of paper would reduce a potential source of alcohol for rubber calculated to have an annual capacity of 900,000 tons of tire material, were all mills in Canada and the United States employed. The alcohol would be distilled from sulphite liquor, a by-product now constituting a disposal problem in paper manufacture. If the output of paper were reduced the quantity of the by-product would be smaller.

The advocates who reported this news, discouraging to newspaper publishers and to motorists, were members of the Maine legislative delegation headed by Senators Wallace H. White Jr. and Ralph O. Brewster.

Government Help Sought.

With the aid of their governor, Sumner Sewall, they have been soliciting government help in bringing to their lumber state some of the wood pulp synthetic plants as part of the rubber program enlargement recommended by the Baruch committee.

The curtailment order is expected to be announced as a 10 per cent reduction from the output a year ago and as a necessity to conserve labor and materials. In New York trade circles, however, it was said this would mean at least a 30 per cent reduction in the current production rate, which has been expanded during the last year to meet the rising demands for paper as a substitute for metal containers, particularly in packaging foodstuffs for the military and for lend-lease shipments.

Sen. Brewster related the paper order and its probable effect on newspapers with the government's prosecution of the Associated Press and the government's tightening control over advertising.

Termed No Mere Scare.

"It's no mere Halloween scare for the press of America," said the Maine Republican. "And the cut in paper output will distract from the prospects of tires. The administration, in the first nine months of the war, didn't place rubber production ahead of other interests.

"You'll recall that the Truman committee, of which I was a member, last May recommended appointment of a rubber director to end the muddled management of this national problem and to break the oil boys' monopoly of the synthetic program. President Roosevelt at that time said there was no occasion to be worried by the rubber situation.

"But in September he finally acted in accordance with those recommendations when they were repeated by the Baruch committee. William M. Jeffers was appointed rubber director and the program for using alcohol has been expanded.

Technicians Cool to Proposal.

"Last February I asked a Moscow rubber expert, who was here, to advise Jesse Jones' men in using alcohol for rubber. Mr. Jones' technicians weren't impressed. Even the President's own advisers, the Baruch committee, commented in its September report on the 'inexplicable' failure of the administration to consider the Russian method."

The paper mill process would produce the Buna-S type of synthetic rubber that is on the wheels of the Russian and the Nazi armies. Some of this rubber, under the government's present program, would be made with wheat and other grains providing the source of the alcohol, while another type is to be made from petroleum.

"In obtaining the alcohol from the waste at paper mills, now dumped into streams and lakes," said Sen. White, "we would not be tapping the country's food or its fuel supplies, and we would be aiding the great problem of abating the pollution caused by this industry.

Three Factors Cited.

"In considering the costs of obtaining rubber material from the paper mills, we must not overlook these factors: the value of a new rubber source to the war effort, the value of the wheat and petroleum and the labor and materials consumed in their production for rubber, and the value of pollution abatement.

"The paper pulp mills are existing, working industrial units, with power, machinery, men, and transportation ready for enlistment in the rubber drive. Many of them are remote from labor shortage areas."

Gov. Sewall, who came to Washington several days ago to advance the use of the paper pulp mill process in Maine, said he was actuated by three motives: To aid America's war effort by providing more rubber, to obtain a new industry for his state, and to abate stream pollution.

NEGROES' LEADER HITS HENDERSON ON RENTS IN N.Y.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12—Edgar G. Brown, director of the national Negro council, declared today the failure of Price Administrator Leon Henderson to place New York City under federal rent control "is the most serious discrimination to which the more than 500,000 Negro tenants of Harlem have ever been subjected."

Henderson on Sunday ordered rents cut back to March 1 levels by Nov. 1 in 96 areas, bringing federal rent control to every large city except New York.

Negroes in Chicago also are suffering, Brown said, because Chicago rent ceilings were based on March 1 levels, instead of April 1, 1941.

JEFFERS BLASTS TIRE MUDDLING; PLEDGES ACTION

Vows He Will Get Rubber Wherever He Can.

don't want to win the war," Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] interjected. "If the war is lost, the responsibility will be with the War Production board and other departments. If patriotism is to be measured by performance, the administration's record on rubber doesn't look so well."

"There's a lot to what Sen. Wheeler said," Jeffers observed. "There's too much post-war planning when we got a war to win."

Wheeler Assails "Nuts."

"We got so many nuts going around the country saying what we'll do after the war that we may not win the war," said Wheeler.

"I'll say!" Jeffers affirmed.

"Have you any judgment on how much rubber we're going to get and when?" asked Sen. Wheeler.

"I don't want to cite any figures," Jeffers replied, "but the situation looks very hopeful. With nation-wide gasoline rationing and with a 35 mile an hour speed limit and with every motorist playing the game like I'm confident he will, we're going to bridge the gap. We're going to keep automobiles running until the synthetic program comes in."

At another point Jeffers said: "I think every one should know where we stand. I am especially interested in the man who eats in the kitchen.

"I agree that the man in the street ought to know what is going on. I'm going to get rubber any place and by any method that it can be obtained. Our objective is rubber for every one, with essential driving coming first."

Post War Planning.

The subject of postwar planning arose again in a session of the senate small business committee which Jeffers attended after the meeting of the agriculture committee.

"I wish Mr. Jeffers would prepare a statement for us," said Sen. John A. Danaher [R., Conn.], "in regard to a widely quoted article by a high government official [Vice President Henry A. Wallace] that we have no desire to expand the synthetic facilities to a point where they'll need tariff protection after the war.

"The public suspects this may be a reason for the delay in the synthetic program. I don't expect Mr. Jeffers is prepared to answer this question now, but I'd like for him to be prepared next week."

Comment on Bill Delayed.

Jeffers' comment on a pending bill that would give independent dealers the exclusive business of selling tires, tubes, and recaps to consumers other than governmental agencies also was postponed until next week.

Sen. James E. Murray [D., Mont.] said the purpose was to keep small dealers in business so they could service tires. Jeffers said he did not want restraint on the use of any recapping facilities.

Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] asked Jeffers whether he was looking into the possibility of making tire material from a byproduct of wood pulp mills which now is being wasted. The answer was affirmative.

WILLKIE REACHES ALBERTA ON TRIP AROUND WORLD

Lands in Edmonton After Flight from China.

EDMONTON, Alberta, Oct. 12 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie, personal representative of President Roosevelt, arrived here tonight after a flight from Fairbanks, Alaska, and will fly to Minneapolis tomorrow morning on the home leg of a swift round-the-world trip.

During the six weeks since he left the United States at the end of August, Willkie has traveled across Africa, the middle east, Russia and China. He left Chungking, Chinese provisional capital, Oct. 7, and arrived unheralded at Fairbanks yesterday after flying across Siberia.

His hop from Alaska was without incident.

"Upheld President's Hand."

Willkie said he thought it inappropriate while abroad to reply "to flippant statements made by certain public officials concerning the expression of my opinion in Russia on the question of a second front."

In a prepared statement, he said: "I felt it my duty while abroad to uphold the hand of the President and all other united nations officials, which I continued to do even after such remarks were made."

Willkie's statement in Russia, urging speed in opening a second front and saying that, perhaps, the military leaders needed prodding by the public, resulted in widespread repercussions in the united nations.

Recall Roosevelt Remarks.

Mr. Roosevelt, replying to questions, said in Washington that he had read the headlines on the Moscow dispatches but had not considered it worth while to read Willkie's statement since he considered it speculation.

Willkie's statement tonight did not indicate which comments on his remarks he considered "flippant."

The tenor of Willkie's prepared statement indicated that the matter was far from closed as far as he was concerned, altho he had considered it in bad taste "to reply to such flippancies while I was in other countries."

Willkie said the objectives of his trip were "to give encouragement to our allies, to give an impetus to action by the undecided countries, and to report to the American people on the facts I found and the conclusions I reached. . . .

"The trip has exceeded in interest my utmost expectations. I have tried to do the jobs assigned to me by the President. I have collected much material and reached certain conclusions about our war effort, and about other countries and our relations with them. I have already reported some of my conclusions to the American people, and some to the President. I shall be in the United States shortly, and I shall report to my fellow citizens further and in full, and to the President, if he wishes, on such subjects as he desires to discuss with me."

BROOKS WIDENS SUBURBAN LEAD IN TRIBUNE POLL

Sweeping G.O.P. Upsurge Seen Downstate.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The third table in THE TRIBUNE straw vote, published today, gives the results of 12,862 straws gathered in all quarters of Illinois. The new straws make only slight changes in the percentage standings of earlier tabulations. Results of 37,834 straws have now been given in the three tables.

The samplings of sentiment indicate the political winds downstate are blowing Republican stronger than two years and four years ago, when state elections registered G. O. P. upsurges outside of Chicago.

Five More Wards Reflected.

Today's straws embrace canvasses made in five Chicago wards not in previous tables. All of Chicago's 50 wards have now been covered, many of them twice, in the straw poll. The tally of 19,883 Chicago straw ballots in three days' tables gives Sen. Wayland Brooks [Rep.] 46 per cent. Raymond S. McKeough [D.], Brooks' rival for the senate seat, has 54 per cent. This is an indicated gain of 2 percentage points for Brooks over the vote he got in the November, 1940, election, when he had 44 per cent of the total vote in Chicago. James M. Slattery, Brooks' opponent in that election, had 56 per cent.

Votes from four more Cook county suburbs in the new straws increased Brooks' percentage in the suburban area by three points as compared with the suburban tally of the previous day. With 12 suburbs now included in the three day straw total, Brooks has 61 per cent of the straws they cast.

Downstate Percentages Stand.

The straw results in 13 downstate cities made no changes in total percentages as indicated in Monday's table. Brooks now has 61 per cent of 15,371 straw ballots collected in 43 downstate cities, and published in three days' tables. In these 43 cities, Brooks received 55 per cent of the combined votes cast on election day in 1940. The straws indicate a gain of 6 percentage points for Brooks in the 43 cities over the actual combined vote they cast for him two years ago.

The 13 cities which furnished 5,817 of the new straws in today's table include a large proportion of Democratic territory. Eight of the 13 cities were carried by Slattery two years ago. Each is in a different county. In 1940 Slattery carried 6 of the 13 counties and Brooks 7. Brooks leads in the straws cast in 10 of the 13 downstate cities.

The results of the 37,834 straws now tabulated and printed may be summarized as follows:

	Percentage —of straws—		Percentage of 1940 election vote cast in same cities
	Brooks....	McKeough..	Brooks....	Slattery....
Chicago	46	54	44	56
12 Cook Co. suburbs	61	39	62	38
43 downstate cities	61	39	55	45

Chicago cast only 42 per cent of the state-wide vote for President and for senator in 1940. Roughly speaking, in state elections, half the Illinois votes are cast downstate and half in Cook county. With that in mind, the straws seem to indicate a strong Republican swing in Illinois.

The 13 cities in today's table appear to present a good cross-section of political trends downstate. The combined vote of the 13 cities in the 1940 election gave 54 per cent to Brooks. This was the same as the percentage Brooks got in the state outside Cook county. In 1938, 54 per cent of the combined vote in the 13 cities went to Richard J. Lyons, then candidate for the senate. Lyons carried all downstate by 53.5 per cent.

Here's how the 13 new downstate cities cast their straw votes:

Elgin—About one-fourth of the straws were gathered at the watch factory; the rest in the shopping district. Brooks had 75 per cent of the straws.

Wheaton—A poll taken in the business district gave Brooks 70 per cent of its straws. In 1940 he had 78 per cent of Wheaton's actual vote.

Savanna—A poll on the business street of this railroad town gave Brooks 52 per cent of its straws.

Mattoon—Straws collected here gave Brooks a slight lead. Mattoon was carried by Slattery in 1940 with a 56 per cent vote and Coles county went 52 per cent Democratic for senator.

Effingham—A poll in the business section gave Brooks 47 per cent of the straws and McKeough 53 per cent.

Vandalia—The old capital city gave 57 per cent of its straws to Brooks.

Pontiac—A poll gave Brooks 72 per cent of the straws. In the 1940 election he had 63 per cent of the actual vote.

Mount Vernon—The poll gave Brooks 44 per cent and McKeough 56 per cent of the straws. In the 1940 election the voting was 43 per cent for Brooks and 57 for Slattery.

Carlyle—The straw poll went 50-50 for Brooks and McKeough. Two years ago in the election Brooks had a 52 per cent vote in Carlyle and carried Clinton county with 60 per cent of the votes.

Galesburg—The straws gathered were 66 per cent for Brooks. He carried the city two years ago with 58 per cent of the vote, and carried old Republican Knox county with 59 per cent.

Centralia—In a poll of the business section, 55 per cent of the straws went to Brooks, who lost the city in 1940, when he got 44 per cent of the votes.

Belleville—A poll in which many farmers participated gave 57 per cent of its straws to Brooks. Two years ago Slattery carried the city by 53 per cent.

Edwardsville—A noontime poll gave Brooks 48 per cent of the straws. In the 1940 election it gave him 49 per cent of its votes, while Democratic Madison county went to Slattery with a 58 per cent vote.

More Returns from Tribune Poll

Below are the third day's tabulations of the state-wide straw vote being taken by The Tribune on the principal candidates for United States senator in Illinois. The tabulation shows the number of straws cast for Brooks and McKeough in the Chicago wards, Cook county towns outside Chicago, and downstate cities, and the percentages for each. For comparison the official election percentages by ward, city, or village on the 1940 Brooks-Slattery race and the 1938 Lyons-Lucas race are also included.

CAREY THUMPS O'BRIEN POLICIES IN SHERIFF POST

Would Alter System of Party Mate.

The first indication of how the Democratic nominee for sheriff, Peter B. Carey, feels about the office and the way it has been run by another Democrat, Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien, was given last night in a statement issued by Carey from his headquarters in the Morrison hotel.

"I am aware that the confidence of Cook county citizens must be restored in the sheriff's office," said Carey. "In business it is natural for the personnel manager to suggest a change when a job is not being effectively manned. This certainly does not mean that the same policies will be pursued."

O'Brien's supporters last night were unable to read much of an indorsement in the statement for the present sheriff, who is running for congress on the Democratic ticket. They reasoned the party chieftains simply put more value on the sheriff's office than on the congressional seat.

"May Be Called Naive."

Carey, who was formerly president of the Chicago Board of Trade, explained he was "running the risk of being called naive in political circles" but that he intended, at all costs, to be "painfully frank" with the voters of Cook county.

"Having been a business man for 40 years, I know there must be mutual confidence before an agreement is closed between two contracting parties," Carey said. "I cannot expect citizens to have confidence in me unless I state my position clearly and truthfully."

The Democratic nominee said that altho he has been elected a delegate to the last three national conventions he never has entertained political ambitions.

"Responsible to Citizens."

In answer to the charges of the Republican nominee for sheriff, Leo Carr, that he is a "hand picked favorite of Pat Nash," Carey said: "I consented to becoming a candidate with the sole understanding that, if elected sheriff, I was to be responsible to no one except the citizens of Cook county."

Carey said the sheriff's office requires a highly trained executive and emphasized that the police duties constitute just one department. He pledged to voters that if elected he will:

"Set up an employé merit system; install sound business methods to improve public services and achieve economies; coöperate completely with the federal government in the war program and take every precaution to prevent sabotage; suppress all vice, improve police services and coöperate fully with township police departments; retain Frank Sain as warden of the county jail, which has been given one of the highest ratings by federal authorities; and aggressively and energetically collect personal property taxes."

BARRETT FINDS BROOKS WILL WIN BY A LANDSLIDE

Pontiac, Ill., Oct. 12 [Special].—Attorney General George F. Barrett said here tonight that his study of election trends indicates Sen. Wayland Brooks will be reëlected by one of the largest majorities ever given a senatorial candidate in Illinois.

Barrett spoke at a women's meeting sponsored by the Livingston County Republican Women's organization at the M. E. Educational building here. He said his election forecast was based on personal interviews, reports of straw votes and comments of elected officials in the 101 downstate counties, as well as in Chicago and Cook county.

Ahead in Chicago, Too.

"Straw ballots thruout the state show Brooks out in front as much as 4 and 5 to 1," Barrett said. "One of the amazing features is that Brooks is also running well ahead in Chicago, the stronghold of the Kelly-Nash machine."

Barrett said the entire state Democratic organization is permeated with a spirit of defeatism resulting from the hopelessness of the task of selling an unknown candidate against a man who has kept his word with the people.

"Our survey reveals that the great swing to Brooks is due to the fact people are not voting at this time along party lines," Barrett said. "They realize that the issues which confront the nation are greater than party ties or family political traditions. There is a somber and widespread conviction that the very future of our nation is at stake.

Business Men Up in Arms.

"Our reports further reveal that small business men thruout the state are up in arms against the tactics employed by the national administration with reference to their welfare. They are struggling desperately to save the life savings they have invested."

Barrett said that parents of men in the armed forces, many of them life long Democrats, have expressed a preference for Brooks because of his record on the battlefields of France in the last World war.

"Because of that experience," he said, "Republicans and Democrats alike feel that Brooks is in a position to know the needs of the men in service."

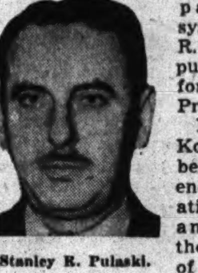
Chinese Kill or Wound 200 Japanese in Ambush

CHUNGKING, China, Oct. 12 (AP).—A fierce Chinese attack from ambush killed or wounded more than 200 Japanese and destroyed 12 trucks out of 30 truckloads of invader troops on the road to Chienshan from Hankow, the Chinese high command said today.

2 PARTY SYSTEM GUARDS FREE U. S., PULASKI ASSERTS

G.O.P. Nominee Sees Peril in Giving Up Beliefs.

BY WARD WALKER.



Stanley R. Pulaski.

One candidate in the present campaign who has stressed America's need for the two party political system is Stanley R. Pulaski, Republican nominee for judge of the Probate court.

Last night in Kosciusko hall before an audience commemorating the third anniversary of the establishment of the Polish National Alliance citizenship schools, Pulaski told why he believes neither party should be permitted to stay in power too long.

"This is not Europe with its power politics—one party to a nation—which create, foster, and perpetuate dictators in power," Pulaski said. "Yet you will hear it said that now, in this war, with all the efforts of the nation required in a common cause, all party differences should disappear.

Forerunner of Dictatorship.

"I do not subscribe to that belief, for that form of government would be the forerunner of dictatorship in its most violent form. It is the union of our forces, not a giving up of our own beliefs, that will help win this war," he continued.

"When political parties are first formed they are founded on fundamental issues. I believe in the Republican party and in what the Republican party stands for today."

Ernest J. Peterson, Republican nominee for member of the board of tax appeals, said Cook county taxes must be reduced and added that "1 per cent limitation" must be the yardstick for taxes if the small home owner and small business man are to exist.

Based on Sale Value.

In a statement issued from his La Salle hotel headquarters, Peterson outlined the 1 per cent plan, which provides that all real estate taxes be assessed on the basis of 1 per cent of its salable value, instead of a higher percentage of assessed valuation.

"Many critics claim this plan isn't feasible," Peterson said. "My answer is this: Nothing in the way of real economy in government is feasible under the present management of our county government.

"If the Democratic machine had tried to introduce economy in its operation, the cost of the Cook county government wouldn't have risen more than 46 million dollars from 1934 to 1941. The tax levy had to be increased more than 25 per cent to keep up with the rate that they were spending money."

Warns Against Machine.

At a 5th ward Republican organization meeting last night, Loyd C. Larson, Republican nominee for county clerk, warned that machine politics as set up by the Kelly-Nash group in Cook county are the roots of a national dictatorship.

"Few people realize how far reaching that machine's power really is," he said. "Pat Nash is our dictator. He controls the entire government of Chicago — America's second largest city.

"By controls, I mean he tells the city council what to do. He controls the fire and police departments. He controls most of the judges of the Municipal, Circuit, and Superior courts. He controls the county board, the county clerk, the county assessor, the board of tax appeals, the county treasurer, the county highway police, and the county jail.

Obey Nash, or Else.

"In Cook county today, you either do what Pat Nash says, or else. . . ."

Howard E. Reddy, Republican nominee for bailiff of the Municipal court, at south side Republican rallies, predicted that Nov. 4—the day after election—will be known as "the day of the big spin" in the bailiff's office.

"I'm going to rotate the Democratic job holders in the office so fast they'll still be spinning when they hit the street," he said, explaining his idea of rotation in office.

ADMINISTRATION MAY DELAY PEACE TO KEEP POWER, SAYS THOMAS

No real postwar peace, but a prolonged armistice in which the administration will attempt to maintain its power by continuing emergencies, was predicted last night by Norman Thomas, Socialist party leader. He addressed more than 500 persons at a meeting in the Hamilton hotel sponsored by the Socialist party.

Thomas opposed relinquishing of powers by congress and suggested that if such a trend continues, the nation may find itself governed dictatorially, with the administration relying on various opinion polls for public opinion.

After citing increased anti-sedition activity as compared to World War I., Thomas said the power to curb both press and speech are in the hands of President Roosevelt together with many other powers President Wilson did not have.

"You must submit to many more restrictions in wartime," said Thomas, "but you don't have to throw away all liberty to fight totalitarianism."

WARNS KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS OF REDS IN AMERICA

Cites Purge Efforts in N. Y. Election.

New York, Oct. 12 [Special].—George Timone, chairman of the New York chapter of the Knights of Columbus, warned 3,000 listeners at a Columbus day rally today that the United States on the home front must combat inimical forces as deadly as Hitler's panzer divisions while fighting on battlefronts to preserve the American way of life. He left little room to doubt that he referred to the Communists.

American admiration for the Russian soldier fighting heroically to defend his homeland is one thing, said Timone. But, he added "we are not confusing it with our suspicion and distrust of the crowd in America who on June 21, 1941, suddenly put on the masquerade of superpatriots." It was on that date that Germany declared war on Russia.

Cites Biddle's Ruling.

Timone pointed out that Attorney General Francis Biddle has officially ruled that the Communist party of the U. S. A. "advocates the overthrow by force and violence of the government of the United tates."

The speaker went on to accuse the Communists of plotting to defeat State Senator Frederick Coudert [R.] co-head of a legislative committee which recently uncovered widespread communist activity in the New York school system.

The state senatorial district which now is represented by Coudert "is now invaded by the Communist party and by the teachers' union." Timone asserted in citing the danger on the home front.

"They are right now flooding the district with thousands of circulars," he said. "Right now hundreds of their workers, most of them from outside the district, have hit this section like a plague of locusts and are visiting voters posing as neighbors.

Charges Purge Effort.

"All this is for what purpose? This intensive and vicious activity conducted under the name of high sounding committees is an organized purge of the Communists and the teachers' union, directed against the senator who is chairman of the Rapp-Coudert committee because that committee rendered the great public service of exposing the Communists in our public schools."

Timone served notice on the Communists of New York that "altho we of the Knights of Columbus have no political preferences, and altho we are engrossed in our country's war effort we are still keeping an eye on them and their un-American tactics."

NEW ZEALAND DRAFTS WORKERS.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Oct. 12.—The national service ministry revealed today that 6,000 men and 1,000 women workers have been drafted from nonessential jobs into essential industry. Only 300 of the drafted workers appealed to the man power boards.

LUCAS ATTACKS BROOKS' RECORD; OWN BACKFIRES

G.O.P. Recalls Democrat's Anti-War Stand.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Sen. Scott W. Lucas last night attacked Sen. Wayland Brooks' voting record before Pearl Harbor. That form of criticism was the major part of the first of a series of Democratic radio addresses scheduled for the three weeks before the Nov. 3 election.

In contrast to Brooks' record, Lucas praised the votes cast by Congressman R. S. McKeough, Democratic nominee against Brooks, who has supported all Roosevelt administration measures except the extension of the draft, a vote not mentioned by Lucas.

As soon as the nature of Lucas' speech became known, the Cook county Republican headquarters called attention to some phases of Lucas' pre-war record. In particular they cited several speeches in 1938, 1939, and 1940 in which Lucas said he would never vote to send American boys overseas and that he would not vote "one dime" for that purpose.

Quotes from Letter.

The senator chose as his text a letter he received from an Illinois woman which some of his listeners understood as a plea to judge all members of congress by their actions since war was declared rather than their attitude before that date.

The part of the letter quoted by the speaker was:

"What counts now to the voter is whether the men representing us look forward on national questions instead of following the past. It is only by having men looking years ahead that this country will survive."

Senator Lucas said the writer had struck the keynote of the campaign.

"What we as soldiers and civilians did in World war I. has absolutely nothing to do with what we are doing in World war II.," Lucas continued. "It is not what we did 25 years ago that will win this war and the peace that will follow, but the question is: What are we doing now?"

Reference to Brooks Seen.

This was thought to be a reference to the emphasis Brooks' supporters are placing on Brooks' record as a hero. During his 1938 campaign Lucas was accused of being slow to enlist in 1917, but he did enter the army and served in this country.

Lucas appealed to "Democrats, the independent voters and the liberal Republicans" after saying:

"It is not a question whether Raymond McKeough is a Democrat or Wayland Brooks is a Republican. Never before has party label meant so little.

"My friends, it is a question of the record, the motives, the vision, and the judgment of candidates before and since Pearl Harbor as well as what they propose to do about a lasting peace after we are victorious in this war. . . . All other problems fade into insignificance."

The senator said that no one could attach any blame to "the fine patriotic citizens for any convictions they held before Pearl Harbor," but that any man in congress who did not know Hitler and his axis partners hated America more than any other nation "had eyes that would not see and ears that could not hear."

When Fred Tiggs went hunting for salvage in his home at 119 East 37th place he started to tear apart a pile of lumber, hoping to find some old metal. Instead, he found a nine pound oppossum. He said he had no knowledge of how long the animal had been in his basement. Tiggs said he's offering the possum for sale to any one who wants it for dinner.

PICK COMMITTEE FROM HOUSE TO ADJUST TAX BILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—Conferees from the house on the 1942 revenue bill, biggest in American history and raising taxes by about 9 billion dollars, were appointed today as a pledge was made by Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], chairman of the house ways and means committee, that the bill will be sent to the White House as soon as possible.

Name Members of Committee.

Conferees from the house and senate are expected to iron out differences between the two versions of the bill this week and have it ready for final adoption by both chambers next week.

Speaker Sam Rayburn appointed the following members of the ways and means committee to act as house conferees: Representatives Doughton, Jere Cooper [D., Tenn.], John W. Boehne [D., Ind.], Wesley E. Disney [D., Okla.], Allen T. Treadway [R., Mass.], Harold Knutson [R., Minn.], and Daniel A. Reed [R., N. Y.]. The conferees from the senate are Senators Walter F. George [D., Ga.], David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.], Tom Connally [D., Tex.], Robert M. La Follette [P., Wis.], Arthur Capper [R., Kas.], and Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.].

Will Meet Today.

The conference committee is scheduled to hold its first meeting tomorrow. There is not expected to be any serious disagreement on the part of the house on the bill as approved Saturday by the senate, and most of the important senate amendments are expected to carry. These include the 5 per cent victory tax on gross incomes above $12 a week and the freezing of social security pay roll taxes at 1 per cent instead of allowing them to rise to 2 per cent each on employés and employers.

The congress later will consider a new tax bill for compulsory savings and postwar credits and this is expected to be enacted by next March 15.

HOUSE MEMBERS FORCE POLL TAX ISSUE TO A VOTE

Approves Discharge of Committee, 250 to 85.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—House passage of anti-poll tax legislation apparently was assured today when, by a vote of 249 to 83, a measure introduced 21 months ago was set for consideration tomorrow.

Over almost solid southern opposition, the house first voted 250 to 85 to take the bill from its rules committee. Then, with the second vote, it ordered the measure brought up tomorrow with debate limited to four hours.

Southerners, who had assailed the procedure as "waging war against the white people of the southern states," conceded privately they would be beaten on the final vote, probably to be reached Wednesday, but prepared, nevertheless, to fight it out to the last ditch.

May Fail in Senate.

They held some expectation, too, that the legislation would not be approved in the senate, where a judiciary subcommittee already has termed it unconstitutional.

Introduced on Jan. 3, 1941, by the late Rep. Lee E. Geyer [D., Cal.], the legislation asserts that requirements for payments of poll taxes as a prerequisite to voting have resulted in "pernicious political activities."

When the measure was not reported by committee, Geyer circulated a discharge petition — that is one to bring the bill to the floor — which received its 218th signature last month and led to today's action.

Opponents unsuccessfully sought to block consideration on the parliamentary grounds that not all of the 218 signers still were in congress, several of them having died and others having been defeated, but Speaker Rayburn overruled them.

Southerners Active in Fight.

Southerners were active on both sides of the fight, Rep. Estes Kefauver [D., Tenn.] assailing the taxes as "unreasonable restrictions" on voting and Rep. E. E. Cox [D., Ga.] defending the right of states to prescribe their own voting regulations. Kefauver was one of six Tennesseeans who voted for the discharge motion, but most other members from poll tax states opposed the motion.

Poll taxes are levied in Tennessee, Virginia, Arkansas, South Carolina, Georgia, Albabama, Mississippi, and Texas.

Proponents of the legislation charged that the taxes were used to discriminate against Negroes and some white citizens of the south and were not in keeping with Democratic principles.

Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] termed them "unreconcilable with the elementary principles of popular sovereignty or a government by the consent of the governed."

Southern members hotly denied this, contending the taxes were necessary for support of educational institutions.

SKETCH CHICAGO CANDIDATES FOR COUNTY BOARD

Ten Republicans Seek to Displace Democrats.

[This is the fifth in a series of sketches of the candidates for office at the November election.]

BY WARD WALKER.

Ten Chicago Republicans will throw their political hats into the ring on Nov. 3 in an attempt to wrest control of the county board from 10 Democratic veterans who now hold the offices.

As explained in the preceding sketch, five of the 15 county commissioners are elected by the country towns, who traditionally vote Republican. Therefore, if the Republicans can gain three seats in the city they will have a majority of the board.

Sketches of Republicans.

The Republican candidates are:

Dr. Walter J. Barth, 47 years old, 4342 North St. Louis avenue, a surgeon on the staff of Alexian Brothers hospital. He was graduated from the Loyola university school of medicine in 1918.

Harold B. Blomstrand, 37, of 5030 Berteau avenue, head of a real estate and investment firm. He has been prominent in Swedish circles and is an active member of the 38th ward Regular Republican organization.

O. Stanton DePriest, son of the former congressman and Negro leader, Oscar DePriest. He was graduated from Lewis Institute of Technology, Howard university, and Loyola university law school. He helped organize the Young Republicans of Illinois.

Douglas K. Huntress, 33, of 1011 East 50th street, a coal company executive. He was formerly a Washington, D. C., newspaperman and is a member of the board of directors of the Union League club of Chicago. He is married and has two children.

C. Herman Johnson, 49, of 5636 North Bernard street, an insurance broker and attorney. He served in France with the United States army in the World war and is a member of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is the 40th ward Republican committeeman.

Alexander Keehn, 3744 North Lawndale avenue, who has practiced law in Chicago since 1921. He is a director of and attorney for the Railroad Employés' International Pension association. He was born in Bloomington and was graduated from Augustana university, Rock Island.

George Oscar Lehr, 41, of 3245 West 64th place, president of the plumbing and heating company bearing his name. He has been active in Cook county Republican organizations and is a member of the executive committee of the Young Republican organization of Illinois.

J. B. Martin, 52, of 4552 Michigan avenue, Negro sportsman and financier. He is part owner of the Chicago American Giants baseball club and the Memphis Red Sox baseball club and is president of the Negro American Baseball association. He is a member of the Elks and the Urban league.

Michael J. Rudnik, 46, of 4804 North Linder avenue, a real estate and insurance broker and director of a loan association. He is a World war veteran and a member of the American Legion as well as a number of civic organizations.

Mrs. Gladys Specht, who has lived in Morgan Park for 34 years. She attended the University of Illinois and is past president of the Chicago Federated Charities, Service Council for Girls, and the Child Haven association. She is a director of the Women's National Republican club.

Smith Heads Democrats.

Heading the Democratic list is Clayton F. Smith, president of the board. The other Democratic candidates, also incumbents, are.

Frank Bobrytzke, 56, of 639 Deming place, real estate dealer and dairy owner. He has been a member of the 45th ward regular Democratic organization for 25 years. He has served two terms as a member of the county board.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, 7834 Oglesby avenue, who has been active in Democratic politics since the last war and for several years has been a member of the national committee. She was Chicago's first woman jury commissioner and was commissioner of public welfare for the city from 1931 thru 1934. She has been a member of the county board since 1934.

Peter Fosco, who is finishing his first term as county commissioner. He is head of the Street and Tunnel Miners' union and as such was an associate of the late Michael Carrozzo, labor racketeer.

Maurice F. Kavanagh, 73, a resident of Chicago for 40 years. He has been a member of the county board since 1922. He served in the city council from the old 18th ward from 1918 to 1922.

Miss Mary McEnerney, who is completing her third term as a commissioner. She is active in women's trade union circles and was the only woman vice president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor.

Harry E. Perry, 7817 Aberdeen street, former alderman from the 18th ward and World war veteran, who is completing his first term. He has been assistant county treasurer and an engineer in the county highway department.

Daniel Ryan Jr., who was elected to the county board in 1923 to fill the vacancy left by the death of his father, Daniel Ryan Sr., and has been a member of the board ever since. He served in the World war and is a member of the American Legion.

Edward M. Sneed, colored Democratic politician, who is completing his first term on the board. During the federal trial of William A. Skidmore on income tax evasion charges, it was brought out that Sneed visited the gamblers' payoff man at least once a week "to buy eggs" for his child. He is Democratic committeeman of the 3d ward.

John E. Traeger Jr., 49, of 9911 South Seeley avenue, who does not emphasize the "Jr." His father, John E. Traeger, was coroner, city collector, city treasurer, city controler, and sheriff. The younger Traeger held appointive offices until he was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Mayor Cermak as a member of the county board, a position he has continued to hold. He is a World war veteran.

FIND TOUHY MOB HAD FIRE BOMBS HIDDEN IN PRISON

Multitude of Tips Fails in Hunt for Felons.

Three liquid filled electric light bulbs, left behind by the seven convicts who shot their way out of Stateville penitentiary last Friday, were found last night to be incendiary bombs.

The colorless liquid in the bulbs was gasoline, according to T. P. Sullivan, state director of public safety. The improvised bombs had fuses of cotton. Sullivan said that once the fuses were lighted, the bombs could be exploded by hurling them upon the ground, so that they would scatter flaming gasoline.

Report by Keeler.

The report as to the nature of the bombs was made by Leonarde Keeler, state police criminologist.

Sullivan said the convicts evidently had hidden the bombs in the prison storeroom before they invaded it to take the ladder with which they scaled the wall. Had they met effective resistance, the safety director said, the desperadoes would doubtless have tried to spread confusion within the prison with flames.

Police telephones and radios buzzed yesterday with reports on Roger Touhy, Basil Banghart and the other convicts who escaped with them.

Banghart was reported to have been seen in Chicago, getting his car greased in a service station at 328 West Grand avenue. Touhy and four companions were reported to have threatened a truck driver four miles west of Paw Paw, Mich. From many parts of Illinois came telephone calls that the convicts had been seen.

But all seven were still at large last night, and many of those closest to the investigation were willing to bet that not one of them had stirred from the hideout to which they are believed to have fled.

Surveys Scene of Break.

Col. Frank D. Whipp, state superintendent of prisons, surveyed the scene of the break. George A. Barr, a Joliet attorney, conferred with Warden E. M. Stubblefield. Barr, a brother of State Sen. Richard J. Barr [41st] of Joliet, said later he had only offered his assistance to the warden.

Police were called to the Grand avenue service station by Ben Skulnik, the owner, after a nervous man with a weapon in his car called there and asked for a quick greasing job. Osborn Jackson, a Negro attendant accidentally had pushed a coat off the weapon in the back seat while servicing the car and had been reprimanded by the owner, who Osborn said resembled Banghart. The weapon was said to have been a machine gun.

No Such Wisconsin Numbers.

The supposed Banghart had departed when the police arrived. Jackson gave them the Wisconsin license number he had recorded, but Wisconsin authorities said there was no such number.

Erving White, a Paw Paw truck driver, told police he met a man who looked like Touhy with four other men west of Paw Paw. White offered the men help when he found them repairing their car, but one pointed a sawed off shotgun at the truck driver and ordered him on his way. White said the other men all were armed. A police blockade failed to trap the men and police said they might have been hunters.

Warden Stubblefield reported that he received a telephone call from New York from a man who identified himself as a police captain but mumbled his name so that the warden could not understand it. The caller reported that five of the convicts had just alighted from a train and said:

"There was one wrong guy in that bunch and we are going to take care of him."

Touhy's brother, Edward, was questioned at Madison, Wis., by Lieut. William McCarthy of the state's attorney's police. It had been suspected that the man who had frequently visited Touhy in prison under the name of Edward Touhy was not the gangster's brother, but was a member of the gang, arranging the escape. Edward, a Madison bartender, said, however, that it was he who visited Touhy. McCarthy said Edward denied all knowledge of the gangster's whereabouts, and said he wouldn't tell even if he knew.

The car in which the convicts fled from the prison was returned yesterday to its owner, Guard Herman Kross, from whom the fugitives stole it. The automobile was found abandoned Saturday night in Villa Park. The police removed its license plates before returning it, lest some official who had not heard of its recovery might suspect the convicts were inside and fire upon it.

Love Suicide Case

GLORIA CARROLL.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide while temporarily insane, "due to a love affair," yesterday at an inquest into the death of John Sanatra, 20, of 6215 South Seeley avenue, who shot himself because his sweetheart asked that their engagement be broken temporarily.

Sanatra's fiancée, Miss Gloria Carroll, 20, of 1501 East 65th street, testified she told him Sunday night not to call again until Oct. 16 to give her time to decide if she loved him enough to marry him. Miss Carroll then quoted Sanatra as saying, "The next time you see me will be at my wake."

"I hurried to his house, but no one answered the door. A neighbor helped me get in the house. I walked into his bedroom, saw him lying in his bloody shirt, and screamed," she related.

$40 FEE UPSETS LEGAL PEACE IN DILLING BATTLE

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals will begin this morning to hear the appeal of Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling from an order by the federal District court that she must go to Washington to stand trial on charges of seditious conspiracy.

Her attorney, William Scott Stewart, said yesterday that he may have to go into court without a brief because of a squabble between him and Kenneth Carrick, clerk of the court.

Carrick, according to Stewart, demanded a $40 docket fee. Stewart contends that since he is answering the government he is not obliged to pay.

Carrick said last evening the case will go on and that the judges will decide who is to pay the $40.

Stewart said the federal statute gives unlimited right of appeal in habeas corpus cases.

"We contend," said Stewart, "that if congress had intended to abolish all appeals where a person was ordered to be removed, congress could have said so in unmistakable language."

Internal Revenue Aid Retires After 34 Years

Carl H. Truemper, controler of the accounting division of the internal revenue department, retired yesterday after 34 years of service. Carter H. KIDNAPING TAX MUST BE PAID BY HUMPHREYS

Supreme Court Rejects Plea of Gangster.

Murray [The Camel] Humphreys, once Chicago's public enemy No. 1, must pay $74,617 in income taxes penalties and interest for 1930, 1931, and 1932, the United States Supreme court ruled yesterday in Washington. The court refused to review a decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals, which held last January that Humphreys obtained $50,000 in a 1931 kidnaping and should have paid a tax on it. Several other items of income were included in the tax judgment.

The victim of the kidnaping was Robert G. Fitchie, then president of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union. He was seized by four gunmen and held prisoner for two days, until the $50,000 ransom was paid by Steve C. Sumner, secretary of the union, out of union funds.

Kidnaper Saved by Statute.

Humphreys was never punished for the kidnaping. The full story of the crime was not made public until 1939, when Fitchie and Sumner testified at a federal tax hearing. By that time, the Illinois statute of limitations had barred prosecution of the case.

Sumner testified at the tax hearing that Fitchie had not reported the kidnaping because he was frightened, and feared the gangsters would kill him.

Following directions by the kidnapers, Sumner said, he left the $50,000 ransom on the seat of his car in front of the McKinley High school at 2040 Adams street. He said the money was picked up by Humphreys and George [Red] Barker, labor racketeer, who was machine gunned to death on June 17, 1932.

Humphreys Paid for "Protection."

In addition to the $50,000 ransom income, the government charged that Humphreys received $10,000 for providing "protection" to the dry cleaning industry. The Appeals court opinion also held that a $5,000 interest in the Drexel Cleaners, which the gangster said he received "as a gift," was taxable income. The court found that Humphreys became a $5,000 partner in the business because the owner feared he might be forced out.

Also involved in the tax case was $79,446 in a bank account kept by Humphreys under the name of M. L. Brunswick.

Carter H. Harrison, collector of internal revenue, said yesterday the government would levy on any of Humphrey's assets which it could find. The gangster served 18 months in prison for failure to pay taxes for the three years.

John Owen Is Appointed Assistant Federal Attorney

United States Attorney J. Albert Woll announced yesterday the appointment of John Owen, veteran Chicago lawyer, as an assistant district attorney. He will be assigned to criminal law cases. Owen was an assistant state's attorney from 1912 to 1920, and was a special attorney for the board of election commissioners from 1930 to 1935. He served as secretary of the Illinois Athletic commission from 1937 to 1940. His home is at 7827 Lake Shore drive.

BUDGET YOUR SPENDING THE GOVERNMENT URGES

Tells how you can help win the war while helping yourself

"On the home front you can tell where you stand," says the Government, "not by looking at a map stuck with thumbtacks but by looking at your budget."

Few of us realize how much depends on what each individual family does with its money. No family can do its patriotic duty without a financial plan. And the Government has published a budget plan for you to use to marshal your dollars to help win the war.

A tested plan for you

This budget plan wasn't developed by theorists. It is based upon the experience of successful families. It has been thoroughly tested. Thousands of families are enthusiastic about it. That's why we have reprinted it and want to send you a free copy.

This plan gives you a simple way to stretch your dollars over war bonds, contributions to USO and the Red Cross, higher taxes and increased living expenses. Here, too, is a way to clean up your debts—something the President has suggested as part of the national program to keep down the cost of living.

Simple to use

"To operate this budget," says the Consumers' Guide, the magazine published by the Government, "you don't need to do much more than people who are careful with their money usually do when payday comes around." That's how simple it is. Yet the plan makes certain that each payday you take into account every expense that will have to come out of your next paycheck. It makes you decide what you must save to meet future expenses and what you can get along without.

We believe that this budget method will be helpful to every homemaker trying to make her wartime dollars buy the right food, clothing and living conditions for her family. So we have reprinted the plan exactly as published by the Government. We shall be glad to send you a free copy.

Get this help without obligation

With the Government's budget method we shall enclose a copy of our Budget Calendar. This is a handy workbook published to help families plan their spending. It provides just what you need to put the Government's plan to work for you. There are enough work sheets for every payday in the year. The Budget Calendar and the Government plan will be sent to you without obligation. Ask for both at the local Household Finance office (see your telephone book for address). Or send the coupon. There will be no solicitation or follow-up.

CHICAGO SCRAP FLOW EXPANDS 50% SINCE SEPT. 1

Newspaper Promotion Improves Collection.

Flow of scrap from the Chicago area to the steel mills has expanded 50 per cent since Sept. 1, partly as a result of the newspaper salvage drive now in its third and final week, John Nuveen Jr., regional salvage director of the War Production board, asserted yesterday.

Chicago scrap dealers this week are operating at an estimated daily rate of 4,500 tons, compared with 3,000 tons on Sept. 1, he said. The improvement is attributed largely to effectiveness of the salvage drive accentuated by newspaper promotion during the last two weeks.

Inventories Improve, But——

Nuveen said scrap inventories at the steel mills continued to improve, but he indicated these reserves still ranged from two weeks to six weeks supplies compared with the goal of an average of two months reserves by Dec. 1.

Nationally, the newspaper salvage drive was reported to have brought in more than one million tons, based on incomplete reports from 24 states. The drive was credited with helping send steel mill output this week to 100.2 per cent of rate capacity, the highest since the attack on Pearl Harbor.

Illinois Figures Unavailable.

Explaining the absence of Illinois from the top ranking states in the salvage drive, Nuveen asserted that accurate figures on collections in the entire state were not available to make an authentic report. He said the Bureau of Mines gathered official statistics which were reported monthly. However, the official report arrives two months late and does not disclose the current situation. Nuveen said his office is contemplating the preparation of an estimate on the newspaper drive shortly after it closes on Oct. 17.

"Day to day figures are meaningless, even if they were obtainable," Nuveen said. "The real test of the success of the drive is the stockpile at the steel mills. However, it is practically impossible to determine at the steel mills or even in the junk yards where the scrap actually originated—whether from an Iowa farm or an Illinois factory. Since Chicago is a center of the scrap industry, naturally a good deal of scrap from surrounding states flows into Chicago."

The newspapers' united metal scrap drive committee in New York ranked the following states as leaders on the basis of per capita results, indicating per capita and total collections: Kansas, 72.2 pounds, 65,000 tons; Utah, 61.8 pounds, 17,000 tons; and Oregon, 45.5 pounds, 25,000 tons.

Twenty-five industrial executives in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Wisconsin will receive this week a letter from Harvey T. Hill, regional chief of the WPB industrial salvage section, asking what they have done to uncover more scrap. This is part of his efforts to organize the entire industrial resources of the region in the campaign.

Mayor Kelly reported that 10,000 tons of scrap was uncovered in an inspection tour Friday of city department shops. He indicated the city would dispose of the scrap by calling for bids.

A CHRISTMAS GIFT TO CHINA.

On the 31st anniversary of the revolution which established the Chinese republic the American government announced its willingness to revise the treaties and abolish extraterritorial rights which have prevailed for nearly a hundred years. The British government joins in this expression of good will. America has no territorial concessions to surrender, but it will give up its treaty rights to courts, garrisons, and ships of war in Chinese waters. Great Britain has concessions and territories to relinquish as well as other infringements upon Chinese sovereignty.

The Chinese have accepted the proposed relinquishments in good spirit and are said to regard the offer as an evidence of the good faith of their two allies in fighting a war for freedom and independence. They are too polite to say that it is an empty stocking. Recovery of what was possessed in China before this war began might be a military impossibility, or if it were not would constitute such shocking hypocrisy as would shame any nation pledged to other people's rights, even in a most cynical world.

There is, however, another aspect to the indorsement of the charter of liberties in the pledge given the Chinese that there will be no more white imperialism in their land if the war comes to a happy ending. The Chinese have been critical and suspicious of some of the works of the nations pledged to universal freedoms everywhere in the world, because they have observed that the progress of that crusade was not satisfactory in India. They have wondered whether the crusaders meant all they said while Indian leaders were imprisoned and the Indian people were being repressed not without considerable bloodshed.

An estimated 800 Indians have been killed and many more injured in the suppression of disorders attending the civil disobedience campaign instigated by Gandhi and other Hindu patriots. The British policy of not granting greater liberties until after the war has been made an issue in this country between Americans and Englishmen. It is a controversy which is growing in heat and doing no good to the relations between the two peoples. We believe that India should be free, but we have the principles and Great Britain has the problem. The principal agitators here for immediate Indian freedom are persons who were conspicuous for prowar activities before Dec. 7. They are now raising an issue with their British friends. It grows in bitterness every day and recriminations are increasing on both sides of the water.

Nothing apparently is being done to quiet the Indian situation, but the British and American governments have taken the occasion of the Chinese anniversary to assuage Chinese sentiments by saying that so far as Chiang Kai-shek's people are concerned the charter of freedom is full of valid and redeemable promises. Even if this be an empty stocking granting the Chinese something that they have already earned if they can win the war, it at least has the appearance of a suitable Christmas gift, mailed early so as to insure delivery on time. It is intended to reduce the Indian heat.

IT'S THE CLOUT.

Loyd C. Larson, the Republican candidate for county clerk, is delivering a telling indictment against the Democratic city hall machine in his campaign speeches. He quotes surveys which show that between 1934 and 1941 enough factories either left Chicago or turned down proposals that they locate here to provide jobs for 100,000 workmen.

The principal reason why Chicago has been unpopular with industry, Mr. Larson says, is its constantly rising tax rate. Since 1934 Cook county has been subjected to an increase in its annual tax bill of more than 45 million dollars. That, with the corruption obtaining in the local governments, is, as Mr. Larson says, a potent factor in discouraging industry from operating in Chicago.

It is a mistake, however, to measure the cost of machine government to the taxpayers of this city solely in terms of their tax bills. The latter are only the visible costs of the Kelly-Nash gang. Far greater waste and expense than the taxes are the invisible costs arising from the fact that almost everything done in Chicago is on a political basis. Every business is vulnerable to all manners of political shakedown. It does not matter whether the business in question trades with local governments. Every concern has to have from time to time certain privileges, perfectly legitimate privileges such as driveway openings and the like, which should be granted without question. They are not. Business is subjected to all manner of inspection. The inspection is necessary, but it is also a vehicle of extortion. There are a hundred ways in which the machine can penalize business. The consequence is that much of what Chicago business buys is purchased on a political instead of a comparative cost basis. Coal and insurance are but two of the more flagrant items in this class.

Politicians have a word for all this. The little favors and the big favors that they get by exerting pressure on business come to them as the result of the clout. The analogy is to a blackjack, not Gandhi's costume. It is the clout even more than the tax bill that is oppressing business and driving it out of this city. Voters have a dollar and cents interest in supporting the Republican candidates on the local ticket. A vote for them is a vote against the clout. If the clout can be eliminated Chicago offices and factories will provide more jobs, more wages, and more profits.

TOOLS FOR PEACE.

Donald Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, warns that industry must scrap or break up into usable parts all highly specialized machinery stored for the duration. WPB thinks any machinery is dispensable that has not been used for three months and will not be used during the coming three months. Hard upon Mr. Nelson's statement, Hamilton W. Wright, chief of WPB industrial salvage, told the automobile industry that, altho usable automotive machinery now lying idle is not yet considered dormant scrap, "the day may shortly come when we will have to ask you to give up those machines."

Automotive tools and dies are extremely costly and cannot easily be replaced. When the industry converted to war work, some of the tools that could be used in war production when slightly altered were sold to other plants. Other tools and dies that could not be converted were packed away in grease. The industry, however, made an energetic effort to provide scrap to keep the steel mills going. In the greatest housecleaning in its history, it rounded up more than 40,000 tons of dormant metal and 297,000 tons of production scrap within a period of three months.

Mr. Wright's statement still leaves it an open question whether the stored tools and dies are to be commandeered by the government. His hesitancy in taking arbitrary action suggests that he may be persuaded that a wiser course might be pursued than to junk this equipment. If the tools of production are scrapped now, the automotive industry will have to rebuild completely when peace returns. During this period production would be held up and the great majority of automobile workers would remain unemployed for perhaps a year longer than if the present machines could be saved.

It has been pointed out that, instead of ordering these tools scrapped, the government would be better advised to start rounding up many types of nonproductive metal so far untouched by salvage operations. Among them are iron fences, metal sign posts, metal lamp posts, safety zone posts, and countless other salvageable articles. These can in no way contribute to employment after the war, while the tools of production will. Getting over the hump of converting again to peacetime work is going to be one of our major problems, and it would be wise to start planning to meet it now.

WHERE DO WE GO FROM HERE?

"The war department has elaborate plans for enlisting 1 million [or is it 4 million] men with no very clear idea what they are going to do with them afterwards."

That was written on Jan. 10, 1939, almost three years before Pearl Harbor, in a remarkable letter by Adm. Harry E. Yarnell to the president of the Naval War college. Adm. Yarnell, then commander of the Asiatic fleet, forecast war with Japan and predicted with unusual accuracy the kind of war it would be and the manner in which this country's leadership would meet it. He was none too optimistic that the leadership would recognize the appropriate course of action to pursue, and his critical remark concerning a mass army was only one statement among many verified by subsequent events.

We are not only assembling an army of 1 million, or of 4 million, but draft officials are talking of an army of at least 9½ million men, and a total in the armed forces of 13 million. The preoccupation with mass is exemplified by the assertion of Fowler W. Harper, deputy man power administrator, that if the United States were to mobilize to the same extent as Germany, an American army of 19½ million men would be possible.

As we proceed toward the organization of huge forces, the leaders of the war administration have, as Adm. Yarnell said, "no very clear idea of what they are going to do with them." With Washington overrun with "planners," no clear plan is discernible. We need both a plan for military operations and a plan for full use of all resources on the home front, and we must so order the disposition of our man power that each plan provides maximum support for the other. Instead, we are witnessing an indiscriminate snatching of men by the draft boards, while war production falls below quota and agriculture faces an acute labor shortage. Meanwhile, on the military front, there seems to be no agreement concerning what we must do to defeat the enemy and how we should set about doing it.

The only planning so far apparent has had the effect, if not the intention, of accomplishing the total disruption of all normal and orderly processes. Three years and eight months ago Adm. Yarnell asked, "Is it not about time that we come down to earth, try to picture the war as it will be fought in the future, keep foremost in our minds the after effect this war and its cost will have on our governmental structure and our future national welfare, and plan accordingly?" That counsel is old, but it is still good.

REWARDING FRIENDS.

For the last 10 years Edgar G. Brown, director of the National Negro council, has been in Washington as a representative of his people in federal legislation and administrative acts affecting the welfare of the race. He has seen what the New Deal could have done to advance the interests of colored citizens and to help them assert their constitutional rights. He has also seen what it has done or failed to do. He concludes that the New Deal has deserted the Negroes.

Mr. Brown has given the Democrats a fair chance. He voted Democratic in every Presidential election since 1920. But, he says, "the so-called New Deal Democratic party has gone sour on the Negro and capitulated body and soul to the Jim Crow disfranchisement and discrimination pattern of the south. As an ex-service man, I propose to join with the voting Negro soldiers in punishing our enemies and rewarding our friends. I will speak and vote for the election of Republicans to congress next Nov. 3. I, for one, am compelled to stop, look, and listen before marking another 'X' for my enemies."

Mr. Brown cites many proofs of how his race has been abandoned by the New Deal party. Its congressional majority defeated a nondiscrimination amendment to the economic stabilization law, and a race comprising one-tenth of the population is refused one place on the 14 man Economic Stabilization board. There is no assurance that Negroes will be given representation on the 8,000 price and rationing boards in the country. As president of the United Government Employés, Mr. Brown has also seen the indifference of the New Deal party to giving a proper apportionment of federal offices and jobs to Negroes.

The Negro has been served in government, Mr. Brown says, by Republicans, and by Republicans only. The outstanding example of that service which he cites was Sen. Wayland Brooks' anti-poll tax amendment enfranchising Negroes in the armed services. Sen. Brooks recognized that this country cannot with propriety make preachments to the world as long as it condones unjust treatment of its own citizens. Those who hope for a better world will join in believing that the place to start making it is here.

NAMES AND NATURES.

Crime is no laughing matter, of course, but we find a touch of exquisite absurdity in Basil Banghart as the name for a dreaded jailbreaker. It suggests the comic strips.

Criminals and coppers in popular fiction often bear the name Velie. We have no notion why authors are so fond of it, but we offer the explanation that V stands for villain as well as for victory. Velie is an uncommon name, and its racial background is vague. There are only five in the Chicago telephone directory.

* * *

Whenever purists object to "have got," our blood pressure rises a few points. Example: A sentence from a murder mystery tale by Ellery Queen: "'We've only got one,' added Bell ungrammatically."

* * *

Therefore we hasten to inform said Ellery Queen, who is really two other guys named Frederic Dannay and Manfred B. Lee, that the remark was good colloquial English. See Fowler's "Modern English Usage," under "get." Thousands of Americans suffer from the "have got" phobia because they remember what some prissy grade school teacher read to them out of a text book wearing a stiff Addisonian collar.

* * *

The brighter side of the war will become almost dazzling when the WARCOGs are added to the WAACs and the WAVES. We tried to think of an improvement on WARCOG but gave it up after inventing WRECK [Women's REserve against Coastal Kalamities.] . . . Anyway, WARCOG [Women's Auxiliary Reserve of the COast Guard] will sound better when you remember that "cog" is an ancient word for "ship."

ON THE LAST FRONTIER.

Corporal Gibbs of the Engineers, on a transport headed for Nome,
Thought of the pioneer gold rush days, as pictured in Service's poem;
Dreamed of the lure of the Yukon Trail, as northern Lights streaked the sky;
Thrilled to his bones, as the snowy crags of Alaska's foreland swept by.
Here was a land for a man to love, where the very sunlight was gold;
Valleys and forests, lakes and creeks—a wild land to summon the bold.
Corporal Gibbs craved adventure raw, and these Yukon camps would provide Boisterous, dangerous episodes, like when Dan McGrew up and died.
He had a yen for romantic stuff, like the "light o' love" they called "Lou";
Show him a roaring, wide open town and this lad would know what to do;
Life by the side of an open fire, when the arctic night shuttered down;
Then for a night at the Malamute, and the honky-tonks of the town.
After a month at a camp called "X" this same Gibbs was given a pass;
Drawn to the town, he prepared himself for a high old time, but alas,
Everything seemed like back home in Maine, for the town was quiet and slow;
Frontier saloons were in history books; all amusements by U. S. O.

AFTER ELECTION DAY.

We'll go to town to win the war,
After election day;
And taxes will rise more and more,
After election day;
We'll lay the old bus up on ice,
And pork chops will become "no dice,"
So be prepared for sacrifice,
After election day.

We'll probably have snow and rain
After election day;
We'll still be short of cellophane
After election day;
But be not altogether sad,
Here's one thing that will make us glad;
The Line Book will be out, b'gad!
After election day.

Prophecy by an Early Victorian.

(From Ainsworth's magazine, July, 1842, contributed by Harwood Frost.)

"I am standing on Shakespeare's Cliff, or what remains of it, wondering at the ruins of the railroad and waiting for the daily post from Australasia. I see a speck in the clouds, and hail the harbinger of news. The postman alights for half a second [his regular breathing time], folds his caoutchouc wings, sucks in a concentrated lozenge the virtues of a quart of London porter, blows his nose with an asbestos pocket handkerchief, and is off again like a rocket, before I have seen whether my letters have the postmark of Adelaide or Sydney."

D. T.'S FROM TOO LITTLE FOOD.

DELIRIUM tremens, or "the horrors" as the ailment was known a century ago, is the name attached to a group of mental disturbances which are observed occasionally in habitual topers. It should be noted, however, that less than 5 per cent of those who have pursued a long alcoholic career will present these manifestations. Furthermore, those who confine their indulgence to malt beverages are rarely afflicted.

Acute symptoms usually follow a prolonged spree, altho they may come on whenever illness or an accident, requiring hospital care, forces abstinence. But it isn't the sudden withdrawal of liquor that is the causative factor. In fact, 75 per cent of these victims will develop the disorder in the midst of a drinking orgy. One characteristic should be mentioned—namely, that the individual has no appetite for food. A substantial meal within 48 hours of an attack is a rarity.

The sufferer himself may be aware that he is becoming increasingly nervous. In order to allay his "fidgets" he continues to imbibe. Sooner or later, he will collapse. If a physician is called the temperature and the pulse will be found higher than normal. The face expresses terror, the skin is bathed in perspiration, and the tongue is beefy red. The deep cardinal shade of the mucous lining of the oral cavity may extend downward to the pharynx.

We are dealing with an emergency and perhaps treatment cannot be prompt enough to ward off the "whisky fits" [convulsions]. Mentally, the addict is cloudy. He may know his name but not where he is. He takes it for granted that the nurses and other attendants are boon companions. Imagination runs riot and numerous and varied are the animals, reptiles, birds, etc., that march in procession up and down the counterpane. All the characters in Gulliver's travels may be present and accounted for.

Ludicrous as may be the antics of the sick person, there is nothing amusing about the affair. To him it is all horrible—very real and confusing. Our chief reliance in treatment is to get the patient to bed and under sufficient control with a sedative to induce sleep. Liquids are forced and not less than 4 quarts should be administered in the first 24 hours. The value of large quantities of water lies in the fact that the toxins responsible for the mental aberrations are diluted. If swallowing is not possible, intravenous or subcutaneous methods are in order. Occasionally, spinal punctures will be helpful.

Vitamin B is important and may be injected beneath the skin. As soon as the stomach can tolerate food, substantial meals may be prescribed.

Should the drinker desire to avoid a repetition of his experience, the gradual withdrawal of alcohol [if he is a veteran] is better than abrupt cessation. A modest daily allowance may be reduced until there is no longer a craving for the drug. Whether success will come or not will depend largely upon the patient's own desire to correct a situation which for him may be fraught with danger. It goes without saying that constant supervision is essential during an acute seizure.

FALLING LASHES.

F. C. S. writes: My physician prescribed mercuric oxide for falling lashes. After two months there is no improvement. Can you suggest something?

REPLY.

This preparation is both an antiseptic and a tissue stimulant and is usually prescribed for the condition you mention. Apparently your trouble is not due to local inflammation. Increasing body reserve, with general hygienic measured, is advised. The diet should be rich in vitamins.

EYESIGHT.

B. J. writes: What is the cause of my eyes being so deep set?

REPLY.

The eyeballs fill the sockets which nature has provided. You have the orbs of your ancestors. In other words, the characteristic is inherited. Perhaps overhanging or beetling brows make it appear that the organs are "set back."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, The Tribune.

SUCCESSFUL YOUTH PROGRAM.

Waukegan, Ill., Oct. 8.—I read that juvenile delinquency was on the increase since the war. My experience here in Waukegan will show you what we are doing to meet the problem.

Last December Sam Kittell and I organized the boys of our community into a club called the North Side Athletic club. They elected officers and began work, collecting dues to carry on their activities. One night a week was spent at a club meeting. Another night was spent in a gymnasium learning basketball. On April 1 we checked up with Police Chief Bart Terrell and found that we had shown a 90 per cent decrease in juvenile delinquency in our area.

We continued thru the summer with club meetings and baseball and softball games. The reduction in delinquency continues, and we have received much commendation. We believe that if proper attention is given to the youth, especially in physical education, they themselves can handle most of their problems as they come up. Mr. Kittell and myself only act as advisers in problems that they do not know how to handle.

We are mighty proud of our accomplishment, in view of the fact that we have an industrial city and are in the very heart of a great war effort. We have read several books that told us that juvenile delinquency would decrease with physical recreation, and we have definitely proved it thru actual practice.

FOREST PARK SEWERAGE TAX.

Forest Park, Ill., Oct. 4.—Not satisfied with having the highest water rates in any surrounding suburbs, our village fathers have put in a sewerage system and taxed us poor saps 52 per cent on our water bills. I have an average bill of $5, on which I am taxed $2.62. This tax was added on and this project put thru without the approval or vote of the people; in other words, the council pulled a fast one. They also add a 10 per cent penalty to this tax if it is not paid on a certain day. I have been a resident of this town for 35 years and have never witnessed such mismanagement of office.

One of our commissioners has urged the council to print the names of the delinquents on water bills. Those of us who are unfortunate enough to be a few days late in paying our water bill and have to pay the extra 10 per cent more than make up for the nonpayers.

CHICAGO MILK STANDARDS.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Mayor Kelly today says that the board of health is investigating the possibility of lowering Chicago milk inspection requirements without impairing the health standards of milk. Chicago is the healthiest large city in the world and much of this is due to the high standards of milk inspection—scientific rules and standards put into effect under Mayor Busse. The city council had the guidance of Dr. William Evans in devising these standards. Dr. Evans was formerly head of the health department and health editor of The Tribune.

I would caution our politicians that germs do not have any brains and cannot be propagandized. Like the Nazi and Jap, they will, if given a chance, destroy humanity.

Dr. E. J. Buchan.

UNREGISTERED VOTERS.

Chicago, Oct. 6.—I have read the article this morning entitled "Doors Slammed on Voters; See Democratic Plot." You are misinformed. I have served as a registrar five times, and we have always had the same condition the last day.

My co-workers and myself worked until 2 a. m. this morning and then had to take our returns to the election commissioners' office. Our last registration at the fire house at 1732 West Byron street was taken at 10:45 p. m. The law is that the doors are to be closed at 9 p. m., and that all persons in the precinct station at that time must be registered.

As to supplies, an additional amount was sent to us at 7:30 p. m. At no time was there even a suggestion of a shortage. Defense workers could not have been all off last night and at no other time the last eight days. To me it is the people's own fault if they went unregistered. In the early part of the week we ran about 50 registrations a day, and yesterday 600. Instead of knocking us, you might try to help us educate the public to register early if they want to register in comfort.

Mrs. Verna Engelmann.

RUBBER FOR A LIFETIME.

Berlin, Wis., Sept. 29.—The rubber problem which is vexing so many has now been solved for me. We will be allowed a maximum of 2,880 miles a year under gasoline rationing. I am 63 years of age. By consulting actuarial tables, I find that my life expectancy is 12 years. 12 x 2,880 equals 34,560. At the permitted driving speed, they tell us we should get from 60,000 to 80,000 miles from our tires. Thus it is apparent that I will die of old age long before my tires wear out. At least I can quit worrying about that.

J. H. Pickert.

WHY THE RUSH?

Zearing, Ill., Oct. 9.—Referring to "Mrs. J. N.'s" letter on delays in delivering bonds. My husband and a number of his friends working for railroad companies are each buying a bond a month on the pay roll deduction plan, but were told it would take three months for delivery. Where is the hardship? We don't want to redeem them for 10 years anyway.

Satisfied To Wait.

FAREWELL THE HORN.

VICTORIA, B. C., Sept. 28.—There are 26 million horns on 26 million cars that will make 16,000 tons of scrap and restore 6 million nights of sleep to war workers. With the 35 mile speed limit, horns are no longer necessary.

Wm. A. Lamb.

ALLIED TROOPS IN INDIA.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—The cartoon of Sept. 28 from the London Daily Express misrepresents the position of Gandhi and the India national congress in regard to the presence of foreign troops in India. It portrays the congress leaders asking a British soldier to leave them, while a tiger representing the Japanese invaders stands a few yards away.

As a matter of fact the congress leaders have not demanded that the British or American forces be withdrawn from India. They merely demanded greater Indian representation in the defense effort. They demanded that an Indian minister of defense be appointed. They did not demand the withdrawal of Wavell or the other generals in charge of the united nations forces. It is not correct to say that the Indian demand for independence now means that they are not interested in fighting alongside the united nations against a Japanese invasion. As a matter of fact, they promised to join in the fight if independence is granted. One cannot blame them for being skeptical of promises of independence after the war when they know that such promises made during the last war were disregarded afterward.

Virgil J. Vogel.

CORN.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Just returned from a 35 mile an hour trip down on the banks of the Wabash, with plenty of time to view the bumper corn crop. Corn huskers are needed—why not bring Willkie back for the husking? He ain't worth shucks as a diplomat.

ESTATE FEES.

Mendota, Ill., Oct. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My father died in Illinois, leaving an estate of about $50,000.

1. What would be the executor's fee?
2. If there were two executors [2] would the fee be doubled or [3] divided between them?
4. What would the lawyers' fee be? The estate is not difficult to settle.

L. D.

1. No definite fee is fixed by the Illinois statute. If the parties cannot agree, the court will fix the fee taking into consideration all of the circumstances.
2. No.
3. Yes.
4. Depends on the facts.

CHICAGO AIR LINE PLANS 5 LATIN AMERICA ROUTES

Seek O. K. for Caribbean, Canal Zone Services.

Permission to open new air routes which will give Chicago and the midwest fast passenger and cargo transportation to the Canal Zone, the islands in the Caribbean and the north coast of South America has been requested by Chicago and Southern Air lines in an application filed in Washington with the civil aeronautics board.

The company proposes to operate daily planes out of New Orleans, southern terminus of its route, which now includes Chicago, St. Louis, Mo., Memphis, Tenn., Jackson, Miss., and other cities.

Five Routes Sought.

The five routes, all originating at New Orleans, for which authority has been asked are:

1. To Balboa, Canal Zone, or some other Canal Zone city, by way of Merida, Mexico; Belize, British Honduras; Guatemala City, Guatemala; San Salvador, El Salvador; Tegucigalpa, Honduras; Managua, Nicaragua; San José, Costa Rica.

2. To Balboa, Canal Zone, by way of Tampa, Fla.; Havana, Cuba; Kingston, Jamaica.

3. To Havana, Cuba, by way of Miami, and Tampa, Fla.

4. To Port of Spain, Trinidad, by way of Tampa and Miami, Fla.; Nassau, Bahama Islands; Santiago, Cuba; Kingston, Jamaica; Port-au-Prince, Haiti; Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic; San Juan, Puerto Rico; St. Thomas, Virgin Islands; St. John's Antigua; St. Lucia, Windward Islands, and Barbados, British West Indies.

Army Approval Indicated.

Because the army now controls the manufacture of all transport airplanes and has found it necessary to take some standard Douglas transports from commercial lines for the world wide network of army cargo lines, it is believed Chicago and Southern has had some assurance that its application will be favorably received. The company will require new planes to fly the long routes outlined, and could not get them without army permission.

Pan-American and American Export Lines have had applications pending for two years for routes into South America. Both these lines are now operating scheduled flights in the army's world service.

JOHNSON FIGHTS TAX CONVICTION IN HIGH COURT

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—Counsel for William R. [Bill] Johnson, alleged operator of Chicago gambling houses and convicted of federal income tax evasion, told the Supreme court today that the government had failed to show Johnson received any taxable income which he did not report during the years from 1936 to 1939.

The Chicagoan was convicted of income tax evasion during that period and sentenced to five years' imprisonment and fined $10,000, but the conviction was set aside by the seventh federal Circuit court at Chicago.

Johnson reported income of $764,213 for the four years during which the government contended he received $3,377,613. Floyd E. Thompson, counsel for Johnson, said there was no proof that his client "ever received a dime" of profits from any gambling house.

SHOPPERS STORM LOOP IN YULETIDE EVE PROPORTIONS

The loop presented a mardi gras appearance again last night as thousands of shoppers surged thru the crowded streets to take advantage of the State Street council's new policy of keeping stores open Monday nights until 9.

Last night's crowds were reported the largest thus far, and stores were filled with shoppers. The scene resembled that presented by last minute Christmas shoppers, according to veteran merchants.

The "open-Monday-night" policy was started for the benefit of the city's thousands of war workers whose duties prevent their reaching the loop during conventional shopping hours. Another advantage is that it permits husbands and wives to visit stores together.

FORMER CONVICT ADMITS SLAYING, POLICE REPORT

Coleman Fay, 44 years old, a former inmate of the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas., was held by police last night after he reportedly confessed to killing a south side bartender-waiter in an argument Oct. 4.

Fay, according to Edward Grant, assistant state's attorney, and Sergt. John Noonan, at first denied the slaying of William Lysaught, 39 years old, in a tavern at 6901 State street, but Grant said that under a lie detector test Fay changed his story and admitted shooting Lysaught and hiding his gun.

Fay was arrested Saturday after witnesses to the tavern argument described him to police.

GAS STATION ROBBED.

Four youths between the ages of 18 and 20 robbed John Weis, proprietor of a gas station at Skokie and Golf roads in Skokie of $16 last night. They locked him in a washroom before they fled.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department will answer questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

J. N. writes: "I have been ill for some time and my brother has supported me. As his dependent I signed a waiver for him when he entered the army. Shortly after enlisting, he married. May I still be considered a dependent or does his marriage nullify it?"

ANSWER: You can be considered a class B dependent if you are unmarried or incapable of self-support by reason of physical defect. Your brother's wife would be a class A dependent and it will be mandatory for him to apply for benefits for her if he is in one of the four lowest grades of the army. He also will be permitted to apply for an allotment for you if he can prove he contributed a substantial amount to your support before going into service.

Mrs. L. S. writes: "I am now receiving $50 a month of which my husband, who is in the army, contributes $22. Will my compensation increase automatically if he is promoted and receives a higher salary?"

ANSWER: No. Your compensation under the service men's dependent's bill will not increase in the event that your husband is promoted to a higher rank in the army. The amount is the same for soldiers in the 7th to 4th grades inclusive. If his rank becomes higher than that of a line sergeant you no longer will be eligible for benefits. He may, of course, make an additional class E allotment, if his salary permits.

G. G. writes: "I am single and because I have a mother as a dependent I am in class 3-A. However, I intend to enlist, and when I do expect to sign an allotment application to send at least $20 of my pay home so my mother can get $20 from the government. If, after I am in the army, I get married, would my wife get a $28 allotment only and not $50? How would this work out?"

ANSWER: The government will not necessarily match any amount you wish to send home. If you apply for your mother previous to marriage, $22 would be deducted from your pay, the government would add $15, and your mother would receive a total of $37. After you marry, your wife would receive $22 from you and $28 from the government, making a total of $50. You also could apply then for benefits for your mother. An additional $5 would be deducted from your pay and the government would add $15 to that, making a total of $20 which your mother would receive. The amount allowed for your mother and your wife would be a total of $70 per month of which $27 will come from your pay. These figures are based on the assumption you are in one of the four lowest grades in the army and that your application is approved.

A. M. asks: "Is it true that allotments to class B dependents are purely voluntary? My brother who is in service, says they are. He always has helped to support me, but says he will withdraw his application because he does not approve of a young man I've been going with. Can he refuse to contribute to an allotment for me?"

ANSWER: Yes, your brother is correct. Benefits for class B dependents may be discontinued at the request of the allotter.

N. P. asks: "A friend of mine, whose husband is in the army, is already receiving her allotment allowance check from the government. She said she simply sent a copy of the church record of their marriage, and did not have to fill out any affidavit. My son is in the army and told me I would have to provide two affidavits. Why is this and what kind shall I send?"

ANSWER: Your friend is a wife, and therefore a class A dependent, and must prove her relationship to the soldier. You, as a mother, are a class B dependent and must prove both relationship and dependency. This department has an affidavit form for class B dependents which you may have by sending a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

AFL DEMANDS AN INVESTIGATION OF THURMAN ARNOLD

Asks Probe to Find if He Uses Office for Gain.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 12 (AP).—The American Federation of Labor asked today for an investigation of Thurman Arnold, United States anti-trust chief, to determine whether he has used the prestige of his job for personal material gain, signaled a fresh attack upon the National Labor Relations board, and offered an immediate armistice to the CIO pending negotiations for full reunion.

The resolutions committee, headed by Vice Chairman Matthew Woll, brought in reports on the three subjects which the convention adopted by a voice vote without dissent.

The report on Arnold, headed "labor and the anti-trust drive," concurred in and supplemented the executive council's annual report on that topic. Both accused Arnold of starting a destructive anti-labor campaign three years ago. A series of Supreme court decisions, the committee said, "flatly repudiated" Arnold's "attempted distortions of law."

Recalls Hutcheson Case.

The best known of Arnold's suits was the Hutcheson case, which grew out of a strike by the AFL carpenters union. The court decided Arnold had no anti-trust case because he failed to show collusion with a second employer.

After that decision, the committee said, organized labor believed Arnold's "uncalled for eruption had been effectively and authoritatively quieted." Instead, the report added, events proved Arnold was far more interested in the impression he made upon the press than upon the Supreme court.

The delegates whooped and clapped again when Daniel J. Tobin, president of the teamsters, read a telegram from President James C. Petrillo, president of the musicians union, informing him that a federal court in Chicago had dismissed Arnold's civil anti-trust action against the musician.

Urges Action by Biddle.

The committee recommended that United States Attorney General Francis Biddle be requested to investigate and determine whether Arnold "has exploited the prestige of his public office for his own material and financial gain." President Roosevelt is to be advised of the report on Arnold.

In New York City Biddle said: "I don't see why they want to investigate Mr. Arnold, who is simply doing his duty. However, I'd be glad to hold an investigation—it would show what an efficient public official Mr. Arnold is. He hits them on both sides of the table."

Reading of the report on the National Labor Relations board opened a barrage of denunciatory oratory which added up to a charge that administrative bias in favor of the industrial form of union, as represented by the CIO, was causing turmoil among workers in war production, particularly in west coast ship yards.

Report on Labor Unity.

In dealing with the labor unity question, the resolutions committee wrote its own report and did not act specifically on any of the four resolutions introduced on that subject. The committee said it "heartily approves" of the resumption of peace negotiations, scheduled for next month, and said, "we are convinced if these negotiations are to be successful, bitterness of feeling must be eliminated and hostilities come to an end.

"Your committee believes that it would be difficult indeed for the unity committee to make satisfactory progress if in the meantime hostile raiding tactics continue. We therefore urgently recommend that this convention approve of an immediate armistice as an essential evidence of good faith and sincerity."

The committee did not set forth what would constitute an armistice, or how it would be achieved.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by M. McKeand, 1341 East 89th street.]

THE QUESTION.

Did you ever take a short cut that proved the longest way around?

WHERE ASKED.

Commonwealth Edison building, 72 West Adams street.

THE ANSWERS.

George E. Mees, electrician, 4112 North Claremont avenue—When I was delivering papers I tried to save steps by tossing rolled copies up to the second floor. Half the time they would land on the third floor. That meant a bigger climb than ever.

W. H. Wright, teller, 553 North Parkside avenue—I started to jaywalk across the street to my destination and was caught in the midst of traffic. By the time I could get back and start all over it was the longest way around.

Gladys Taborek, treasury clerk, 2238 Lincoln avenue—I take pictures of fires. One time I figured I'd get to the blaze quicker by following a fire truck than by stopping to telephone. But the truck was coming from a fire, and not going to one.

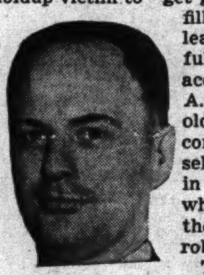
Edward T. Bourgerie, pay roll clerk, Maywood—It seemed a waste of energy to carry the furniture down three flights of steps. So I got a rope, tied four chairs together and began lowering them. Half way down the knot slipped. It took much more time to pick up the pieces.

Lawrence Lenit, attorney, 432 Surf street—There is one stop light I always try to avoid. Once I turned down an alley to do so. A huge truck was parked there and before I knew it I was pinned in by several cars whose drivers had the same idea.

Margaret M. Crawford, priority clerk, 6838 Ridgeland avenue—My train was about due, so I cut across the school yard on my way to the station. The path was rough and a heel broke off one shoe. I had to hobble back and lost more time than ever.

ASSISTANT CITY ATTORNEY SHOT BY BOY BANDITS

A few minutes after they told one holdup victim to "get going before we fill you full of lead," two youthful stickup men accosted Thomas A. Dillon, 42 years old, an assistant corporation counsel, and shot him in the left leg when he resisted their attempt to rob him.



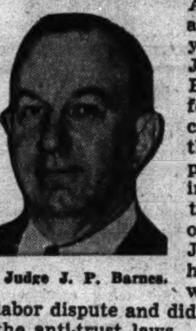
Thomas A. Dillon.

The shooting, which took place outside Dillon's home at 1502 East 68th street, was witnessed by the earlier victim, Charles Palmer, 48, of 7034 Kimbark avenue. Dillon was taken to the Illinois Central hospital by his wife and neighbors. The bandits, who fired two shots, fled in an old automobile.

Palmer told Woodlawn police he first thought the holdup was a boyish prank because the bandits were only about 16 years of age.

U. S. LOSES SUIT TO END PETRILLO CURBS ON MUSIC

A. F. M. Chief Says Ban on Recordings Stands.



Judge J. P. Barnes.

The government lost its anti-trust suit against James C. Petrillo and his American Federation of Musicians yesterday when Judge John P. Barnes of the federal District court dismissed the government's petition for an injunction to end the union's ban on canned music. Judge Barnes held the case was essentially a labor dispute and did not come under the anti-trust laws.

Immediately afterward Petrillo announced his ban on canned music still stands. Thurman Arnold, head of the anti-trust division of the department of justice, who had come to Chicago from Washington to fight for the injunction, said merely, "The government will appeal the case."

Blow to Radio Stations.

The suit was based on Petrillo's order, effective last Aug. 1, barring union musicians from making radio transcriptions, juke box records, and commercial recordings not for home use.

In the nation-wide controversy that followed, union spokesmen argued their action was a case of self-preservation; the canned music actually tended to destroy the musicians' livelihood. Against this radio spokesmen and others, including the government, contended that the ban resembled a monopoly and threatened to put many small radio stations and other businesses out of existence.

These points were argued yesterday in the hearing before Judge Barnes. Last week both the government and Joseph Padway, attorney for the union, submitted briefs, and these, studied by Judge Barnes over the week-end, provided the basis for his ruling against the government. Only Arnold was permitted to argue, and his talk was interrupted by Judge Barnes several times.

Calls Pleas Persuasive.

Judge Barnes, after saying he did not need to hear Padway's presentation, and describing Arnold's pleas as "interesting, instructive, and at times very persuasive," gave a terse ruling.

"I think a labor dispute is involved here," said the judge. "There are certain demands from the public for music, and the union has this music for hire. They do this thru masters, those for whom the musicians work—manufacturers of records, transcriptions, and such.

"There is a controversy as to whether the union should be permitted to furnish all music for which there is a demand. The musicians insist they furnish all of it. The masters say no, that some of it must be produced by others, including amateurs and students. This distinctly represents a labor controversy, and I can't see any way around recent decisions of the Supreme court regarding situations such as this."

Written Opinion Later.

Judge Barnes then dismissed the government's petition, saying he would amplify his ruling soon in a written opinion. Petrillo, who had listened to Arnold's argument with a glum face, smiled broadly. He made it clear the victory was somewhat personal.

"This case," said Petrillo, "demonstrates that the abuse of a high labor official, who is merely protecting his members, cannot triumph over law and justice. The National Association of Broadcasters spent thousands of dollars to malign me. The combination of the press, juke box owners, broadcasters, and makers of records to influence against me was the strongest ever used to arouse the public against union officials in labor disputes."

Arnold cited statements by Elmer Davis, head of the Office of War Information, and by James L. Fly, chairman of the Federal Communications commission, that the ban is harmful to communications and morale, doubly worse in wartime.

ACCUSED UNION MAN ACQUITTED OF GOON ATTACK

Harold Erlandson, paroled convict accused of a labor goon assault, was acquitted last night by a jury before Judge Harold G. Ward in Criminal court. Erlandson was accused of beating Lawrence Belles, rebel member of the Gravel Roofers' union. The jury was out only an hour.

The defendant testified in his own behalf, and followed the line of half a dozen defense witnesses attempting to set up an alibi. He was at or near his home on the far south side at the time of the slugging, he said, and many miles away from the north side, where Belles was beaten.

A surprise defense witness was Policeman Louis Christofoli of the Sheffield avenue station, who testified that a prosecution eyewitness was under the influence of liquor.

DEATH KISS GIRL NOT SHOPLIFTING, POLICE DISCOVER

Margaret Mary Collins was known as The Kiss of Death Girl in prohibition days. Her gangland sweethearts always were getting assassinated. Because she has a record as a shoplifter, Lieut. John Griffith and Detective John Payton took her to the detective bureau for questioning yesterday after meeting her at State street and Jackson boulevard. Margaret Mary, who now calls herself Fay Burke, convinced them she wasn't shoplifting because she wasn't wearing the baggy bloomers in which women shoplifters hide the things they steal.

HOLD SERVICES FOR VOLIVA IN ZION TOMORROW

All Institutions Will Close During Funeral.

Followers of Wilbur Glenn Voliva, general overseer of the Christian Catholic church of Zion, will pay him their last respects at services at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the Zion auditorium, which seats 2,000 persons. Mr. Voliva, who was the leader of the Lake county religious colony for 35 years, died Sunday at the age of 72 in the Albert Merritt Billings hospital.

M. J. Mintern.

The funeral oration will be delivered by M. J. Mintern, the new general overseer, whom Voliva named to succeed him in a will drawn five years ago. Elder Carl Q. Lee and Overseer E. E. Harwood will assist in the ceremonies. The body will lie in the Gold room of the Zion Home, the colony's hotel, today and until 1 p. m. tomorrow. All Zion institutions will close for the funeral.

Future Policies of Church.

Mintern, the new general overseer, is 62 years old, a slim, gray haired, gentle voiced man. Under the terms of Voliva's will he will be succeeded by Elder Lee, who is tall, forceful in appearance, and still in his 30's.

Asked to define the church's future policies, Lee said yesterday it would continue to oppose liquor, tobacco, dance halls, uncensored motion pictures, and the eating of pork. He insisted, however, that the church had followed more liberal policies in recent years and in the future would emphasize Christian morality rather than blue laws.

Sound Financially.

Divine healing, one of the major tenets of the sect, will not be neglected, he said, but the church now holds that medicine and surgery also are forms of divine healing.

Lee said the church is in good shape financially and is holding its own in membership. It claims 2,500 members in Zion and more than 50,000 in mission churches in England, Australia, South Africa, and China.

U.S. PLANE CRASH SETS MANSION ON FIRE; PILOT DIES

Boy Sees Army Flyer's Vain Fight for Life.

New Canaan, Conn., Oct. 12 (AP).—An army plane plunged into the side of a spacious estate home here today, killing at least one occupant of the machine, and touching off a fire which quickly consumed both the plane and the house.

John Stanton, 9 year old school boy, who saw the crash from less than 200 feet distance, said the pilot of the plane made three vain attempts to pull his ship out of a spin.

Mrs. Webb Weekes, owner of the home, her maid, Miss Anna Nelson, and three workmen were in a room near that into which the plane smashed but escaped in a shower of plaster. The plane immediately burst into flames. The pilot was identified as Second Lieut. Richard M. Craghill, 22, of Corcoran, Cal.

Army Planes Collide in Air.

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—Two army fighter planes collided in midair over populous Queens county today, sending one into a diving crash which killed the pilot while the other landed safely at a nearby airport.

The crippled plane, its tail assembly sheared off by the impact of the collision, buried itself in a muddy field along the East river in Astoria.

The 1st air force identified the dead flyer as Second Lieut. Donald M. Braday, 20 years old, of South Gate, Cal., who had lived with his wife, Kathleen, in New York City while on duty here. The pilot of the other plane, Second Lieut. Marvin Bledso of Los Angeles, Cal., was unhurt altho his ship was slightly damaged.

Crash Victims Identified.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 12 (AP).—Lieut. Comm. T. Randall Stiers, 31, of Philadelphia, Pa., and his radio man were killed yesterday when their navy plane plunged into Narragansett bay, near Warwick, R. I.

Amplifying a brief earlier announcement, the navy today identified Stiers and Stanley D. Overfelt, 25, second class radio man, of Route 4, Clarence, Mo., as the victims and said divers were still searching for the bodies and the plane.

Plunges Into Marsh.

Smyrna, Del., Oct. 12 (AP).—An airplane crashed into the marsh two miles east of here today and exploded. Swamps surrounding the scene prevented firemen from reaching the scene. Observers said the plane was accompanied by a second ship which circled about for more than a half hour after the crash.

Ninth in Bomber Dies.

Topeka, Kas., Oct. 12 (AP).—Staff Sergt. James C. Price, Trenton, Ga., died at the Topeka air base hospital today of plane crash injuries which took the lives of eight other bomber crewmen. Burns to Death in Bomber.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 12 (AP).—One soldier was burned to death and 12 others escaped with minor burns and bruises when a heavy army bomber crashed and burst into flames at army air base Biggs field today. Sergt. Lansing Hibbard Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lansing Hibbard Sr., East Syracuse, N. Y., burned to death. He was the plane's machine gunner.

Army Captain Is Killed.

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 12 (AP).—Officers of the army ferry command's base here announced tonight that Capt. Edwin W. Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—The senate military committee, after a six month investigation of wartime airplane accidents, reported today it was convinced there was no proven evidence of sabotage in any of the crackups and that the accident rate was lower than it had reason to believe it would be.

UNION OFFICIALS CONFESS RACKET ON U.S. PROJECT

Fined for Shakedown of Nonmembers.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 12 (AP).—Four Albany men pleaded guilty in federal court today to a charge of conspiring to obtain about $50,000 from employés on a government construction project at Voorheesville and were fined $10,000 each.

Federal Judge Frederick H. Bryant paroled the men, scheduled to go on trial today, in the custody of their counsel until the fines are paid, for which Bryant set a 10 day deadline.

Union Agent Named.

The defendants were Thomas F. McGraw, business manager of local 106, International Union of Operating Engineers [AFL]; his son, John McGraw, a stationary engineer in the Albany city bureau of streets; George F. Mannl, assistant business manager of the local, and Jacob Betar, union steward on the project.

The defendants were charged with instituting a "permit card" system for supplying operating engineers and hiring nonunion men after union rolls were exhausted, the nonunion workers being required to pay for the privilege of working.

Four Counts Dropped.

Four other counts of the five count indictment were nolle prossed. They referred to specific instances in which the men were accused of inducing employés of the Voorheesville regulating station near Schenectady "to give up a part of the compensation to which each of them was entitled under his contract of employment."

Altho the indictments named the defendants only, making no reference to the union, the special prosecutor, Brig. Gen. Amos W. W. Woodcock, told the court, "There is no evidence that the money went into the pockets of the defendants. The union received the benefits of the practice, which was certainly unlawful."

REALTORS WANT FREEZING OF TAX RATES LIKE RENT

The Chicago Real Estate board, in an outline of a local tax program made public yesterday, demanded tax rates be frozen—as rents have been frozen—at 1941 levels. Another suggestion was that the county board and the state's attorney continued their campaign of voluntary foreclosures of properties.

The suggested plan also recommends new legislation be obtained making it mandatory for county officials to file involuntary foreclosure suits against any properties that have been in tax delinquency as much as 10 years.

Morgan L. Fitch, chairman of the Real Estate board's taxation committee, said the outline was sent to candidates for public office, with a request that each comment on its justice and feasibility.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cushing, the former Elizabeth Goodrich, daughter of the late Albert W. Goodrich, a fire commissioner and owner of a steamship line, stopped for a brief visit at the home of Mrs. Clarence Prentice, 20 South Mayflower Road, Lake Forest, yesterday on her return trip from Reno, Nev., where she was granted a divorce last Saturday from her husband, Charles Goodwin Cushing, on the ground of cruelty. The Cushings were married here on Aug. 15, 1917. They have two daughters, Nancy and Mrs. Joseph Richardson Dilworth, the former Elizabeth McKay Cushing. Mrs. Cushing plans to leave for the east today.

O'GRADY LOSES AGAIN IN FIGHT FOR UNION POST

James Leonard O'Grady, suspended president of local 66 of the Elevator Operators' and Starters' union, lost another round yesterday in his fight to retain his office when Judge William J. Campbell, in federal District court, dismissed his petition for injunction.

O'Grady sought the injunction recently after the parent union, the Building Service Employés' International organization, took steps to remove him on the ground he is not an American citizen. Two weeks ago the international suspended him. Yesterday Judge Campbell held the dispute did not belong in federal court.

ADMITS SLAYING WIFE IN DESERT, SAYS SHE NAGGED

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 12 (AP).—Detective Lieutenants Ray Giese and Jack McCready today arrested Frank W. Meyers, 60 years old, of Crystal, Mich., and said he confessed slaying his wife on the desert near Needles, Cal., last Monday.

"I lived with her for many years, and I just got fed up with her nagging," the officers quoted Meyers, who was arrested when he went to a bank to draw some money.

Mrs. Elizabeth Meyers' body was found beneath a bridge on a highway, a short distance west of Needles. She had been beaten to death with a rock. The detectives said Meyers, a bricklayer, made this statement:

"Driving along in that desert heat, with my wife arguing with me, my temper just got the best of me. I stopped the car, got a rock, hit her over the head with it, and killed her."

SENATORS DRAFT ANOTHER BILL TO SEIZE AUTOS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—A bill giving the President power to commandeer or acquire by voluntary sale automobiles and other transportation equipment is to be introduced this week by Senators Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] and Sheridan Downey [D., Cal.]. Downey said today the measure was a revision of previous bills introduced by the senators.

The bill would authorize an appropriation of $500,000,000 for acquisition of transportation equipment. Downey said it would pave the way for reduction of autos on the highways from 27,400,000, the number in use at the beginning of this year, to 20,000,000, the number reported in a recent Brookings Institute analysis as necessary to carry on the economy of the nation.

The senator said scrap from such acquisition would total approximately 4,250,000 tons of steel [at the rate of 1,420 pounds a car], 240,000 tons of nonferrous metals, and 27,000 tons of nontire rubber, plus a limited number of good tires.

CHARGE CIO AID HID MEMBERSHIP IN RED PARTY

Cleveland, O., Oct. 12 (AP).—The government charged today that David Balint, a leader in the CIO steel workers, had concealed his membership in the Communist party.

The information, filed by District Attorney Don C. Miller, accused Balint of giving false information in his registration as an Hungarian born alien. It said Balint was a member of the Communist Party of America for five years before Dec. 21, 1940, but neglected to say so when asked about it in the nation-wide registration of aliens.

This charge was served upon Balint immediately after he had pleaded innocent to a charge brought against him Saturday—that he falsely swore in applying for United States citizenship that he never had been arrested. Arraigned on the new charge, Balint again pleaded innocent. Balint led an unauthorized strike recently at a machine plant here.

3 ARE ACCUSED OF DEFRAUDING U.S. ON MATERIAL

Cleveland, O., Oct. 12 (AP).—Three former officials of the Harsch Bronze and Foundry company pleaded guilty today to conspiracy to defraud the government by using rejected materials in the production of submarine engine and marine instrument parts.

Judge Emerich B. Freed delayed sentence until prosecutors prepare a report upon the effect of the defendants' fraud upon war production.

The confessed conspirators are Harry Harsch, 45 years old, former vice president and secretary; Alfred H. Huck, 28, former production manager, and Walter E. Cowie, 27, Huck's assistant.

Maximum penalty is two years' imprisonment, $10,000 fine, or both.

BOY, 14, SHOOTS GIRL, 17; THOUGHT GUN WAS EMPTY

A boy's attempt to scare her with a supposedly empty gun resulted last night in the wounding of Angeline Montesana, 17 years old, of 1840 Grenshaw street.

The girl, who was taken to Mother Cabrini hospital in a critical condition from a bullet in her lung, was shot by Paul Pasquale, 14, who lives upstairs at the Grenshaw street address. He told police he didn't know the gun was loaded or even in a workable condition. He was not held.

According to Marquette police, Angeline had gone upstairs to visit Paul's mother, Mrs. Louis Pasquale, and was talking to her in the kitchen. Paul appeared behind her, called to her, and pulled the trigger of a .22 caliber rifle as she turned around.

OPEN MINE UNION TO WOMEN, OTHER FIELDS OF WORK

Set Up Fund for Post-War 'Protection.'

Cincinnati, Oct. 12 (AP).—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers today formally opened its doors to women and workers outside the coal industry, possibly to 50,000 mine bosses, and set up a fund to fight a postwar "movement to crush labor" predicted by its leaders.

The union, opening the second week of its 37th annual convention, spent a full day in debate over biennial revision of its constitution, and every proposal of the international executive board was indorsed.

Proposals Indorsed.

These included:

1. Adding to the list of workers eligible for membership, hitherto restricted to the coal industries, those of "such other industries as may be designated and approved by the board, on the American continent." Delegates informally said the change authorized the UMW's district 50, which already is organizing dairy farmers, to go into other fields hitherto unorganized.

2. Changing the word "workmen" to "workers" in the jurisdictional section. Officials explained that women likely would replace drafted men in some mining tasks.

3. Authorizing the executive board to "prescribe rules and regulations upon which supervisory employés may be admitted to membership." Delegates said this applied only to men who had no authority to hire and fire.

4. Raising the monthly per capita dues from a 75 cent minimum to $1.50, the increase to replace a 50 cent assessment voted by referendum more than a year ago to build up the postwar fund.

Expect Fight After War.

Debate on the dues increase halted only after William Mitch of Birmingham, Ala., president of district 20, declared "there will be a movement to crush labor after the war and the best protection is a strong treasury."

Most of the objection to the increase was on grounds that the locals' proposed share, 30 cents, would not be sufficient or that miners in some localities could not afford it. Under the present dues schedule, the international gets 50 cents. Under the new schedule it will get 90 cents, with the districts and locals dividing the remainder equally.

In the debate over admitting supervisory employés, some delegates expressed fear that they would side with the operators against the miners. Others contended that if the bosses were members, the UMW would have a means of controling them. Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer, declared that the number of "confidential bosses," technically ineligible for UMW membership, had been increased by operators from 10,000 to 50,000 in 10 years to keep them out of the UMW.

NAVY ASKS BAN ON JOBS FOR 207 IN FORGE STRIKE

Union Votes to Return to Work Today.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 12 (AP).—AFL forge plant workers voted tonight to end a week old strike at the Steel Improvement & Forge Co., after the navy recommended that the strikers be deprived of future employment in war production industries.

E. Wayne Patterson, international representative of the AFL Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers union, said 166 of 207 strikers voted to return at 6 a. m. tomorrow.

Agree to WLB Action.

"The men were given proof that the strike was affecting war production, and agreed to go back to work and allow the War Labor board to settle the dispute," Patterson said.

Union representatives said the strike was called because the company installed chronologs—time checkers—on the big drop forges.

Chairman William H. Davis of the WLB, said the board would act tomorrow on recommendations of James V. Forrestal, assistant secretary of navy, "that the striking workers be deprived of any further opportunity or employment in the production of war materials."

The strikers had let the fires burn out in the Cleveland plant today, ignoring a wire from Davis last night urging them to return to work while the board acts on grievances.

Board to Investigate.

Davis told the union "it is the board's intention also to investigate and recommend appropriate action against the individuals who were instrumental in preventing compliance with its order that production be resumed in the plant.

"The unwillingness of these individuals to comply with their government's request to return to work constitutes in fact a strike against the best interests of our armed forces.

MUNITION PLANT KEPT CLOSED BY OUTLAW STRIKE

11,000 Idle as Union and Mediator Confer.

Alton, Ill., Oct. 12 [Special].—With 11,000 men idle and production of ammunition at a standstill as a result of an unauthorized strike at the Western Cartridge company plant, Ronald Haughton, mediation officer of the War Labor board, conferred here today with representatives of the American Federation of Labor.

Hundreds of pickets paraded before the doors of the huge plant which covers 500 acres on the outskirts of East Alton and is one of the principal sources of small arms ammunition for the armed forces and the united nations. The strike was called Saturday by officers of the unrecognixed Molders and Foundry Workers' union [AFL] following a dispute with company officials over the makeup of a grievance committee.

Meets with Union Organizers.

Haughton flew here from Washington and spent the day conferring with Fred Olds of East St. Louis, in charge of AFL organization efforts at the plant, and E. C. Bundy and Pat McCartney, AFL organizers. Tonight he met with representatives of the management. He said he would have another conference with the union men tomorrow.

Union officials sent a statement to W. H. Davis, chairman of the WLB, in which they attributed the work stoppage to "deplorable conditions existing at the plant."

Green Orders Work Resumed.

Olds, who previously said he had been authorized by William Green, AFL president, to say the present walkout is unsanctioned, made public tonight a strongly worded telegram from Green ordering the strikers to return to work immediately.

"It [the strike] cannot be approved or tolerated," Green's wire read. "Grievances no matter how aggravated they may be, must be taken up with government agencies for settlement. Because the war situation demands that war material production plants must operate without interruption, I direct that the strike be terminated and workers resume work immediately, taking up question in dispute with government war agencies. Please advise if compliance with these instructions is made immediately."

The strike is the second within a month at the plant. The previous walkout, which halted operations for four days, was precipitated by the Chemical Workers' union after the company refused to reinstate Francis Bunzy, union president, discharged for entering a restricted area of the plant. "Either Bunzy works or there'll be no work," was the edict of Olds at that time.

Olds is a former bootlegger who operated the Lake View Inn near East St. Louis during the prohibition era. He served a penitentiary term for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act and received a full pardon from President Roosevelt in 1936 so he could qualify for a job as an AFL organizer.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By GAIL COMPTON

Job for Canaries.

Oct. 12, 1942.

THE farm could use a flock of 1,000 canaries. But they would have to be trained to tell the difference between clover seed and weed seeds.

The men have been combining the clover field to get the seed, and have been harvesting as many weeds as they have clover. The warmth and ample amount of rainfall during the time the clover heads were ripening allowed an unusually large number of ragweeds, burdock and other weeds to spring up in the hay field.

The men were forced to wait some time before combining the clover and as a result the weeds had a chance to go to seed.

Cleaning Job Ahead.

After looking at the seeds in the combine hopper one of the men remarked that it would be a good idea to have a trained group of canaries to eat all the weed seeds, leaving the clover. Cleaning the seed will be a different job. It will have to be done, however, as it would be impossible to plant seeds without sowing a lot of weeds.

The yield of clover seed has been light. Farmers thruout the nation have found the same condition, and the country's crop of clover seed this year is expected to be small.

Now that part of the field has been harvested it is possible to see the strong growth of new clover that has sprung up as a result of the unusual length of the growing season. The stand looks so good the manager is planning to leave it alone and see how it comes thru the winter. It may furnish another good crop of hay next year without plowing and replanting.

The two main jobs left for the men this season are corn picking and fall plowing. There is little hurry to get the corn in. With the way the weather has been in the last week or so it will do the corn good to stand in the fields a while longer and dry more. The ears picked from a few stalks seem dry enough for storing, and carry an excellent proportion of corn to cob. There has been some sign of borer activity.

Prepare for Plowing.

There are about 60 acres to be plowed this fall before snow flies. The men have been getting the big caterpillar tractor in order to do the job. This big machine handles a three bottom plow with the greatest of ease and can make short work of a large field.

The manager still is doubtful whether he will harvest his soy beans. The frost hit them while the beans were immature and as a result they have not developed fully. He may plow them under, as many farmers have been forced to do.

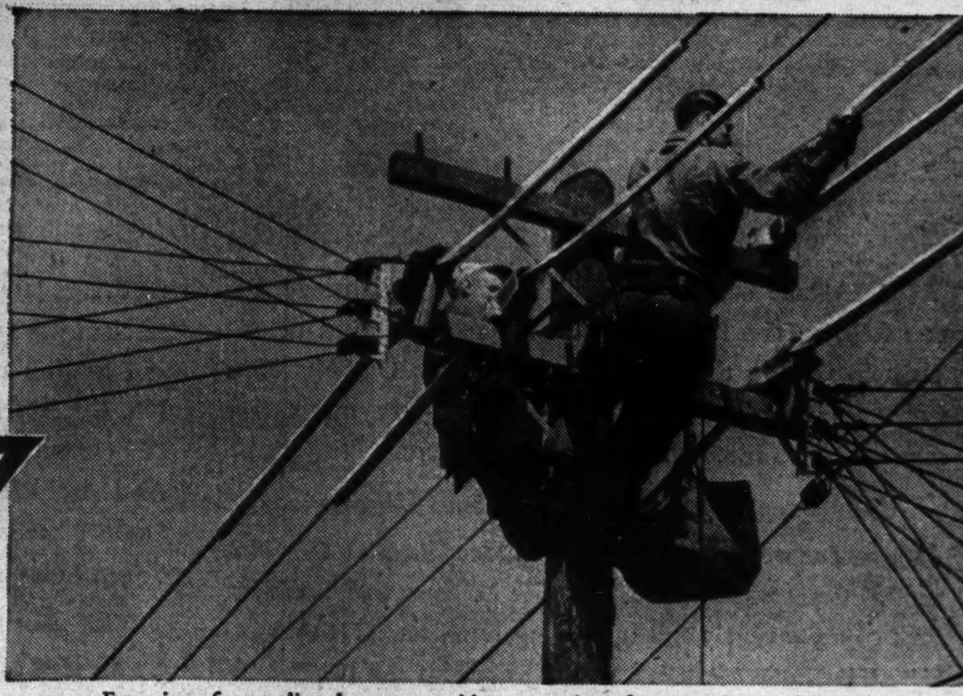
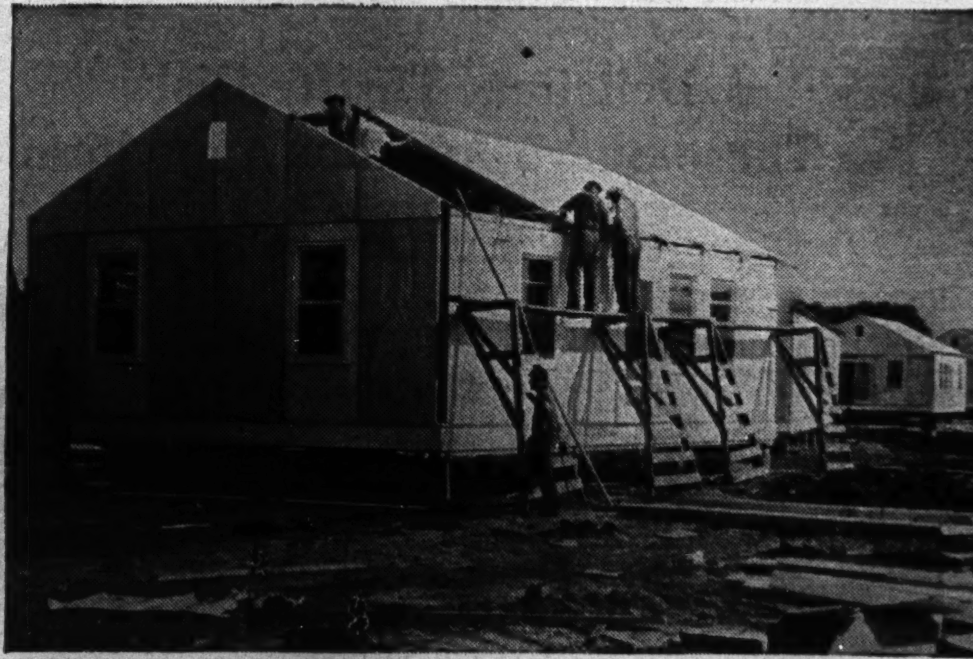
A war housing project typical of the many springing up in Northern Illinois to provide homes for thousands of war workers.



Extension of power lines keeps pace with construction of new war homes. These lines carry electricity which contributes so much to the comfort and convenience of war workers.



New building methods are used to speed up construction of homes urgently needed for thousands of war workers in Northern Illinois.

War Housing and Electric Power in the Chicago Area

In America's expanding war production program; the construction of homes for war workers is an important factor:

Great new war plants and additions to present ones bring an urgent need for adequate housing. And with architects, contractors and workmen doing their utmost to meet the demand; thousands of war homes and apartments are springing up over night.

In all these homes electricity is essential for the well-being of war workers — for lighting and refrigeration; for washing and ironing, for cooking, for cleaning, for radio reception:

Electric power lines are being extended to these new war homes as fast as they are constructed. For we know that serving the war workers; like serving the war plants; is vital to America's victory program:

Save Used Silk, Nylon Hose, Women Urged

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C. Oct. 12.—The War Production board today urged women to save all discarded silk and nylon hosiery and announced that a "stocking collection" campaign to salvage the hose will be started shortly.

Frank L. Walton, deputy chief of the WPB textile, clothing, and leather branch, said that all available silk and nylon hose can be processed into supplies needed by the armed forces—chiefly powder bags.

"Many patriotically minded individuals have written us asking whether they should hold their old hosiery for government use," Walton said. "The conservation division has assured me that it will take the necessary steps for establishment of collection machinery.

"Until announcement of the start of the campaign, I want to ask all women to save their old and discarded silk and nylon hosiery in order that it be available when the campaign gets under way."

Walton emphasized, however, that hosiery should be repaired and used whenever possible.

The salvage campaign, WPB officials said, will set up machinery whereby women can easily dispose of old stockings to agencies which will channel them into war uses.

The WPB today also froze all stocks of used nylon hosiery in the hands of dealers so it will not be diverted to nonwar uses. A similar freeze order for used silk hose was issued July 20.

Under the restrictions dealers in second hand silk and nylon stockings may sell them to processors authorized by the WPB to buy the hosiery for war purposes.

Dealers or sorters are also permitted to sell used hosiery to other dealers or sorters in order to facilitate the accumulation of carload lots. Small dealers are also permitted to dispose of rags containing only a small percentage of used hosiery to sorters or other dealers.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

Lost in the Shuffle.

Once upon a time there was a TYPE. He was the American business man. Sinclair Lewis wrote novels about him. Cartoonists drew pictures of him. Broadway produced plays about him. Mencken exorcised him with adjectives.

He was—if we can believe his portrayers—overfed and overconfident; overbearing and intolerant. He traveled to Europe with his perennially youthful wife and—up and down the continent—flashed a letter of credit. He told them how to run trains in Italy "Back in Topeka we know how to do things . . ."; how to manage hotels "Take my home town of Lincoln, Neb. . . ."; he represented American efficiency on a gilt-edged spree.

But even his most cruel caricaturists conceded that the old boy had something. American trains DID run on time; hotels WERE well managed; efficiency WAS an American product. Service—SUPER-SERVICE—was the by-product, or the 'buy-product' if you choose. And all of us reveled in it like a girl in a bubble bath.

Yesterday, this one white collar girl, shopping on limited time, was brought abruptly face to face with the need for patience. Where, formerly, there were five clerks, there were two—both busy. Where, in normal times, there were hundreds of things from which to select, there was a small shelf, sparsely filled. Where, ordinarily, change is returned in the jingling of a coin,' it took 11 minutes. Where, before the war, there was service, there was now need for patience.

There isn't an office, a store, factory, or shop that will not require it in the months ahead when efficiency is directed, necessarily, towards the war rather than towards our civilian needs—patience—the homely virtue which somehow got lost in the shuffle of American super-service.

Can't Say Yes, Can't Say No Dept.

"Men," said the Ph. D. who professes to know about such things, "hire secretaries who are either the exact replica or the exact opposite of their wives. Think it over," he said ominously.

Women in War Work . . . . . By Kate Massee

Mrs. A. O. Figge.

Mrs. A. O. Figge of River Forest, who broadcasts regularly in the interest of war bond sales for the treasury staff, will continue that war work in addition to a new job. She will take on the duties of first vice chairman and chairman of projects for the women's coördinating committee, Civilian Defense councils of Oak Park and River Forest. Mrs. Figge has just completed a term as chairman of press relations for the Garden Club of Illinois, and recently relinquished the gavel as president of the Garden Club of Oak Park and River Forest. Under her direction a highly successful victory garden campaign was waged during the summer in the two western suburbs.

Miss Bertha Weeks, general chairman of the Midwest Filing conference, which will be held at the Palmer House all day Friday, plans to appeal to service men's wives free to work to apply for the hundreds of positions now open in filing. Miss Weeks declares that places in the filing departments of Chicago businesses and industries engaged in war production actually go begging for lack of applicants.

She says plants are taking inexperienced women and offering to train them for the work. She adds that employers are paying $25 a week to beginners and that an expert filing supervisor can earn as much as $3,000 a year with a large company. As a future for women, Miss Weeks says they outnumber men as filing department heads; they are the housekeepers of American business.

Mrs. Lida C. Melby, filing supervisor for the Chicago ordnance district, will speak. Her subject will be "Corresponding with the Government." Miss Mary A. Kennedy, personnel officer of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, will discuss future office opportunities for women in the postwar period. Protection and disposition of records against air raids will be discussed by Conrad Zwingle, operations and personnel division of the First National bank.

Mrs. Barbara Draper, supervisor of files for Time, Inc.; J. M. Herrmann, superintendent of personnel of the People's Gas Light and Coke company, and Miss Esther Iversen, president of the Chicago Filing association, complete the list of speakers.

Any woman is welcome to attend this conference. There is a registration fee of $1. Miss Weeks hopes the session will be the means of interesting new workers in this field. She adds that ability to do the work is the requirement; it is a good opportunity for those past-40 women who would like to return to the business field.

The Chicago branch of the National Council of Negro Women, of which Mrs. Eleanor Daley is president, announces a three day emergency workshop conference on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. This local group meeting is one of several being held in various cities in place of a national convention, which is being omitted because of war exigencies.

The conference will study problems facing women in wartime, particularly Negro women; clarify the program of the national organization, and gird for action designed to help win the war.

Mrs. Mary Bethune, director of the Office of Negro Affairs of the NYA, will speak at Thursday night's meeting at the DuSable High school. On Friday afternoon, at the Art center at 3831 South Michigan avenue, Miss Kathryn L. Judkins, supervisor of women in industry at the Illinois Institute of Technology; Mrs. Maudelle Bousfield, principal of the Wendell Phillips High school, and Austin H. Scott of the War Man Power commission will participate in the program. The conference will close with a dinner meeting at 8 o'clock Friday night at the Chicago Woman's club.

Because a woman is responsible, this department points with pride to the enviable record established in the scrap metal drive by Rogers Park-Clark community 17, division 6. Mrs. Arthur Flank, chairman of the drive, and her committee piled up between 85 and 100 tons—considerably more than one ton per block and twice what the committee had hoped for in the beginning.

Under Mrs. Flank's supervision, the community was broken down into zones, each with its own chairman. Depots were established, trucks bore posters, and children designated as junior salvage commandos contributed to the successful effort.

Mrs. Flank, by the way, will be glad to help any chairman whose communities have lagged behind. As she expresses it, she has gone thru all the grief and growing pains. Her telephone number is Ambassador 3785.

The newest project to be announced by the Navy Mothers' Club of Chicago is a dessert luncheon and fashion show on Wednesday, Oct. 28, at the Edgewater Beach hotel. The ways and mean committee will be in charge, and the program also will include a talk on nutrition by Ruth Stouffer of the Commonwealth Edison company.

Proceeds will go toward maintaining the club's various activities, such as keeping open house for sailors, soldiers, marines, and coast guardsmen at headquarters and making garments for the men in service. Tickets may be obtained at 335 North Michigan avenue, telephone Franklin 4368.

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and answers questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

A Delicious, Thrifty Dish For Those Sharp Autumn Appetites . . .

BAKED BEANS

1 lb. navy beans
¼ lb. salt pork
1 tsp. prepared mustard
¼ cup molasses
1 tbs. salt
1 small onion

It's easy to prepare this bean-feast: pick over beans. Wash and soak over night in cold water. Cook beans for 1 hour in water in which they have soaked.

The next simple step is to put onion and rind of pork in bottom of bean pot. Cut remaining pork into pieces and add to beans with molasses, salt and mustard.

Use water in which beans have been cooked and enough more water to cover beans well. Bake in slow oven (275°) 5 to 6 hours. If needed, add more water during cooking.

Informality Key for 'Ice Follies' Benefit Tonight

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE keynote of winter benefits undoubtedly will be informal dress. There will be few evening gowns in the audience at the Chicago arena tonight when the "Ice Follies of 1943" opens as a benefit for the Service club, whereas in the past white tie and tails and the most formal of party frocks were de rigueur at Service club affairs.

The president of this organization, Mrs. Robert A. Cavenaugh, is wearing a street length dress tonight, believing that a short frock is more in keeping with the times. Many other feminine members of the audience will have spent the day at work in Red Cross, civilian defense, or other war-time jobs, and simply won't have time to change, especially those who live in the suburbs.

Office-to-concert frocks like those shown at a fashion show the women's committee of the Chicago Symphony orchestra presented yesterday at Marshall Field's will double as office-to-Ice Follies, or civilian defense to most any benefit this winter. A tailored suit of snuff brown wool gabardine with panels of mandarin orange facing the sleeves, modeled by Miss Shirley Hopkins, would be equally at home at the ice show or at the concerts, which start on Thursday night.

Usual Service Club Revue Abandoned for This Year.

Until this year the Service club has presented its own revue with debutantes of the season dancing in the choruses and University of Chicago or Northwestern students and other young men taking part. Young men are scarce this year, however, and the young women of an age to participate in the show are too busy with a multitude of other duties to spend long hours rehearsing. The list of boxholders reads much the same as in years gone by, however, with Mrs. James C. Ames, Mrs. Arthur W. Cutten, Mrs. John Dern, Mrs. Orville J. Taylor, Mrs. Herbert Kennedy, Mrs. Horace Newcomet, Robert F. Carr, Mrs. Vail R. Bucklin, and Mrs. Alfred D. Piamondon Jr. among them. Buds of the season will sell flowers, among them Miss Alys Faurot, Miss Audrey Anderson, Miss Alice Hooper, Miss Olive Baird, Miss Fifi Montgomery, Miss Barbara Corning, and Miss Joan Butler.

After the show members of the club and their friends and some of the stars of the show will go on to the Pump room in the Ambassador East for supper and dancing. Some of those with reservations for tables are Mrs. John Davis, who is chairman; Mrs. Henry Sincere, Lieut. and Mrs. Cavenaugh, the junior Carl Binghams, the Harry C. Drakes, and the Leslie B. Olmsteds. Mrs. Olmsted is general manager of the benefit, from which the proceeds will go to 40 charities, including the Army and Navy Emergency Relief societies.

Alliance Francaise's First Fall Meeting Is Thursday.

Members of the Alliance Française will be turning out in full force for the first fall meeting of the organization on Thursday in the clubrooms in the Fine Arts building. Mrs. Carter Harrison, wife of the first vice president of the men's board, and Mrs. Moise Dreyfus, first vice president of the women's board, will pour tea. The outgoing president, Mrs. James H. Winston, will be hostess in place of Mrs. John Collier, the new president, who hasn't returned from Connecticut.

There will be crepes suzettes with tea on Thursday, for Henri Charpentier, who originated these famed delicacies, will be the special guest and lecturer during the afternoon, and will show how his deliciously fragrant

The Illinois Opera guild is meeting at 3:30 o'clock today at the Woman's Athletic club to announce plans for a benefit. The Travelers Aid benefit will be a Chicago Bears-Cardinals football game on Dec. 6.

Sweaters Run Gamut of Fall Fashion Entry

BY REA SEEGER.

At least one sweater for every winter wardrobe. Tiny toddlers to Granny, not a soul is overlooked. Microscopic models for the babies in bonbon colors, slipovers with fancy shoulders knitted right in with the sweaters so as to abolish a ridge, and in so many tints and shades His Nibs can wear a different color each day of the week. There are little sister and brother duets in bright colors with matching cardigans, school sweaters sturdy enough for the daily tussle, sweater jackets and contrasting pullovers for teen age youngsters and all the gorgeous 13 colors in the classics of twin sweaters and cardigans for high school and campus wardrobes.

Brand new candy pastels in the softest imaginable yarn are knitted with trick necklines having a bow and a simulated yoke. These come in heavenly colors of eggshell, pink, blue and yellow and green. Stunning sweater jackets knitted in surprisingly featherweight wool yarn that works up into a rough and ready weave are comforts for spectator sports and cold weather duty. Beautiful shades of brown, beige, gold, yellow and bronze-green are tempting fall shades to use for contrast with dark skirts and simple one piece wool dresses.

Those good looking military sweater jackets with four pockets, each neat and smooth with a gold button, are better and smarter than ever. Bright red, navy blue, khaki beige, white, black, and a few other shades are ideal color jobs for contrast duty. When evening comes around, you'll finish your collection with the gay evening sweaters, some with short sleeves, others with long, some with vee-necks, others round or oval, but all handsomely aglitter with shimmering sequins in riotous colors or with dashing bead work. The glitter is used effectively against pastel, high colored and snowy white or dramatic black, in these fine knitted and beautifully designed evening sweaters.

Players of Old School Provide a Gala Evening

"SPRING AGAIN."

Comedy in three acts by Isabel Leighton and Bertram Bloch. Setting by Donald Oenslager. Staged by Guthrie McClintic. Presented by Mr. McClintic, as the second subscription play of the Theater Guild and the American Theater society in the Selwyn theater, Monday evening, Oct. 12, 1942.

THE CAST.

Halstead Carter	C. Aubrey Smith
Nell Carter	Grace George
Elizabeth	Charlotte Bemis
Edith Weybright	Ann Andrews
Millicent Cornish	Jayne Cotter
Tom Cornish	John Elliott
William Auchinschloss	Michael Rosenberg

Also in the cast are Richard Stevenson, John Mitchell, Ben Lackland, Douglas Gregory, Robert Alvin, Edmon Ryan, Dick Briggs, and Lucien Self.

BY CECIL SMITH.

Grace George and C. Aubrey Smith brought the carriage trade back to the Selwyn last night, for the first truly gala opening in a halting and generally meretricious theatrical season. There may even have been a few members of the audience who remembered seeing Miss George and Mr. Smith when they last appeared in Chicago together, more than 32 years ago, in a brief repertory of two comedies by Thompson Buchanan; and nobody in the audience could possibly have seen either of them on the Chicago stage in the last 10 years, for neither had been here for longer than that.

But it was something much more valuable that these veteran comedians brought back to the theater. They are not glamorous; they are lustrous, and no acting can attain luster unless there is real gold underneath the surface. Theirs is the old school at its best, which controls ripeness of sentiment by sharpness and precision of method, and which holds the enjoyment of the audience to be more important than the personal exhibitionism of the actors.

It is neither accurate nor fair to think of "Spring Again" as a play demanding any sort of serious criticism. Nobody intended it to be either more or less than a pointedly contrived vehicle for its stars. With less winning and artful performers in the leading rôles, scarcely any one would care a fig whether Nell Carter, in the autumn of her life, succeeded in breaking her husband of a lifelong and tiresome fixation upon his father, a Civil war general whose strategy, as Miss George says, seemed to be to sleep while the rebel armies exhausted themselves by waiting.

But Miss George moves in grace and loveliness. She is infinitely sweet, but her personality has a core to it. Even when she did not gauge her voice successfully to the proportions of the Selwyn, a larger house than the one in which she played in New York, she carried her audience with her thru every moment of a long part requiring her presence on the stage most of the time.

The leonine Mr. Smith, with his bumbling British stiffness concealing a heart ready to be softened before the final curtain, quickly found and retained a similar degree of affection. The other players contributed to a generally effective supporting framework. Ann Andrews, as a neurotic New York matron, drawn all too painfully from real life, and Michael Rosenberg, who provided a hilarious caricature of a Hollywood producer in a brief scene in the last act, played an especially effective part in the evening's gayety.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

Very Miscellaneous.

Marc Leeds, the flower man, now is in uniform, and his picture in this new attire hangs in a case outside the Stevens building. The other day the red imprint of a pair of lovely lips was on the glass. . . . We understand the enlisted men at Great Lakes are having a fine time saluting these days. Junior officers out there have been given bicycles to get around the vast reservation and are a bit wobbly on two wheels. Whenever the sailors see a j. o. weaving along now, they salute briskly. . . . Elizabeth Pickett Chevalier, the distinguished gray-haired author of "Drivin' Woman," stood beside a counter of books in a loop store one day last week when up marched a saleswoman. "Come upstairs, please," she directed. As the author of a best-seller never knows where she is going next, Mrs. Chevalier followed without question. Away they marched to the fur salon, and the saleswoman handed her a mink coat. This was a delightful surprise, and Mrs. Chevalier thought it a little too good to be true, but nevertheless she hopped into it and preened and postured until the saleswoman, with an abrupt "That's fine," reached out to retrieve the mink. At this moment a dark little woman spoke up from the sidelines. "Would you mind walking across the room once more?" she asked. "I'd like to see more of that back." A little late, and very sadly, Mrs. Chevalier—and the saleslady, too—discovered that the author had been mistaken for a model.

New Draft Status.

The fifth grade pupil at the Bradwell school had been absent. On her return she proffered this note, signed by her father:

Dear Teacher,

I got a draft in my eye & it swol up.

Rank.

Like the public the elevator force at 910 South Michigan avenue has learned military insignia in time to discover upon donning winter elevator uniforms again that the sleeve stripes rank the starter as a senior grade lieutenant, while the operators are commanders and outrank him.

Mrs. Kelly's Mail Box.

The letter is one of many that flow in daily to Mrs. Edward J. Kelly, fairy godmother of the Service Men's centers here.

"Dear Mrs. Kelly," the boy began. "I've seen you several times, but you don't know me. So we'll just say I'm another sailor, one of your boys.

"I come from a small town in Michigan and had the pleasure of going to trade school at Navy pier and also of availing myself of one of the finest things in the world, the Chicago Service's Men's center.

"I have been in San Francisco two weeks, and the so-called American hospitality here is a joke. They have a place here that is outfitted like the lobby of the Ritz, and the prices of their foods—O, yes, they charge—are along the same scale. I have looked in twice, and you could put the attendance in one elevator.

"Your husband undoubtedly would be pleased to know, too that the city [Chicago] itself has less vice and pitfalls for the service man than any I've visited. After seeing the type of women and hoodlums who are here looking for ways to clip the American service man, I know Chicago is the finest city in the world. I say that without fear, even tho I am fond of my own home town.

"So, in closing, I say to you and all the rest of the people there, keep up the good work, and the boys who have gone thru there and those yet to come will never let you down. How could we?"

Pig Tonic.

Chester Gould, the comic strip artist, raises 20 pigs as well as draws Dick Tracy. One day he approached Coleman Anderson, his assistant, with the problem of what to do for a sick pig. Anderson told him that in Sweden they would give the pig a drink of whiskey. The next day Gould came in and reported that after taking another look at the pig, he had gone back in the house and drunk the whiskey himself. The pig died.

Thru the Looking Glass

Life is so hectic these days, and so streamlined, that touches of sweet softness take on new charm. Girls who wear coveralls all day are going all-out for the frilly touches when their work is done. And who can blame them? They like the frilliest dresses, the maddest of hats and the most romantic kind of perfumes, we've discovered.

We all do, when you come right down to it. The sterner the job, the more fun it is to be fluffy when we can.

Which may be why toiletries in an old fashioned bouquet fragrance are suddenly important. Women of all ages are crazy about them, and using them with satisfaction of soul. They're a whole family of bath accessories, the kind that make you forget the stern realities of fighting grease and weariness when you try to step out of your working rôle into that of butterfly.

All are in the same fragrance, simple and charming and intensely feminine. There's no one note you can identify, but if you're good at dreaming and have yearned over either your own or some one else's flower garden at some time, you fancy whiffs of all your favorites mixed together—mignonette, pinks, roses, lilies, carnations, a melange of favorites that make a sweet and interesting bouquet. And a refreshing one.

There is cologne in this bouquet fragrance, to be used after your bath as a skin perfume; there are crystals to make your tub a sweet scented, restful sea; there is soap, creamy and fragrant, and, as a final fluffy touch, there is dusting powder with which to shower your skin before you dress. All are inexpensive, designed especially for the woman who likes to be wise in her spending but is completely feminine in her tastes.

Stock Launches Symphony on Its 52d Season

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Dr. Stock.

"I have been facing music for many years," said Frederick Stock to the Chicago Symphony orchestra assembled at Orchestra hall yesterday morning for the first rehearsal of the 52d season, "but never have I looked forward to it with a greater thrill than now. We must make this the most brilliant of all our seasons."

The new season, opening with the Thursday night-Friday afternoon pair of concerts at Orchestra hall, will be Dr. Stock's 38th as conductor, which is a world record for consecutive service. Before he launched into rehearsal he greeted the eight new members of the orchestra, introduced his associate conductor, Hans Lange, who begins his seventh season, and listened intently to Edward L. Ryerson, president of the orchestral association, who spoke of the importance of music in wartime, and stressed his conviction that the solid structure supporting the Chicago Symphony orchestra will permit it to survive.

The eight new, or returning, members of the orchestra are: Leon Sametini, Harry Weisbach, and Joseph Michalek, violins; Alice Lawrence and Karl Fruh, violoncellos; Ernest Guntermann, assistant first flute; Fernand Demange, second oboe, and Renold Schilke, assistant first trumpet.

These players replace the following men inducted into the armed services: Sidney Baker, Joseph Faerber, Joseph Fishman, Harold Kupper, Ralph Johnson, Edward Kleinhammer, Meyer Obermann, Jerry Sirucek, Robert Smith, and Charles Zika.

The 10 missing names will be inscribed on a roll of honor in the foyer of Orchestra hall, which also will hold the names of members of the orchestral association and of the theater staff now in service.

Sharing the same desk in the violin section, and attracting particular attention among the "newcomers" were Mr. Sametini, several times a soloist with the orchestra, and Mr. Weisbach, its concert master for eight seasons, starting in 1912-'13.

These two men came to Chicago on the same train back in 1912 and, tho neither then knew the other, they were of mutual interest because of their violin cases. Their first Chicago Symphony orchestra meeting was something neither is likely to forget. Mr. Weisbach was the new concert master and Mr. Sametini was teaching. Mischa Elman was to appear with the orchestra on a Friday afternoon to play the Brahms concerto. Two hours before concert time he had to cancel because of illness. Mr. Sametini stepped in on that brief notice and made his debut with the orchestra.

"My only trouble," Mr. Sametini chuckled yesterday, "was that I couldn't remember the cadenza. So I finally wrote it down, and that fixed it in my mind."

INSTALMENT XIV.
MISSING TWINE.

"You know as well as I do, Maclain." The inspector's voice was harsh as shattered glass. "I've waked up in the middle of every policeman's nightmare and found it true. If the truth leaks out, people will start to die like flies die from falling.

"Why the hell is that blind down? Why is that change and fountain pen missing? Why is that paperweight gone? You don't know and neither do I, but what you do know is that Hadfield was hurled from the balcony on this floor, and that nobody in the building did it!" Davis' strong voice rose to a pitch on the point of breaking. "What do you call that, Maclain?"

"Not what you do," said Duncan Maclain. "We have to break it, Davis. There's no such thing as a perfect crime."

There was unquestionably some truth in Seth's contention that it wasn't good for a girl to stare all day at an office where her father had committed suicide. Elise began to realize it as she sat at her desk on the fourth day of Seth's leave. Blake Hadfield, according to Phil Courtney, executor of the banker's estate, had left Julia independent, and Seth Hadfield a wealthy young man, altho Courtney hadn't committed himself on the extent of Hadfield's fortune.

Seth had pointed all this out to her two nights before over a dinner at a quiet Syrian restaurant in the Thirties where for a time they had dodged a couple of persistent newsmen still interested in the Hadfield show.

Of one thing Elise was certain. The irresponsible Seth had matured overnight, a quick violent change from boy to man. It showed in a dozen ways from the deepening of expression in his hazel eyes to the authoritative manner in which he addressed her and held her hand.

It had been difficult to put him off, much more difficult than two days before when her refusal to marry him immediately had terminated in his disastrous visit to his father. Then, there had been financial considerations, for part of Seth's army pay was going to help Julia. Now, Blake Hadfield's death had smoothed out that important wrinkle. To offer resentment against a dead man as an excuse for not marrying Seth seemed weak and futile, yet the tragedy of six years before still hung over Elise, clouding her future with him in an unhappy pall.

Seth, of course, had taken it wrong.

"I can't blame you, darling. That inspector's too damn friendly to be real. He's confident he'll have me back in jail before very long."

"Seth, you know that's not true. You didn't—"

"I'm beginning to wonder." His face was so forlorn Elise had wanted to cry. "It's easy to pin anything on a drunken fool. Maybe I walked in my sleep when I was sitting at your desk."

"And maybe you didn't," she told him defiantly. "Your father fell accidentally."

"I still could have saved him, if I hadn't been so far gone. I'll never wake up again, Elise, without hearing him scream."

Elise turned to Mr. Bentley's precise dictation and inserted a letterhead into her typewriter. Her fingers answered the guidance of her shorthand notes, but a vision of Seth was sitting across the desk from her, leaning forward, a shadowy interrupting figure, his brown hand on her arm.

"You don't think it was an accident, Elise," he kept saying. "And neither do I. You're afraid, darling, afraid because there was no one else in the building when father screamed and fell, no one but the watchman, mother, and me."

Her fingers took up the cadence of his whispers and after a while the whispers crept into the clacking keys. Elise got up, went thru the outside hall to the balcony and stood looking down, unconscious that her slim hands were clutching the top of the rail.

Wintry sun poured narrow yellow streamers thru the cathedral windows over the massive doors which were never opened any more, even in the heat of summer. Only one of the outdated elevators was running. As Elise watched, it crept earthward creakingly, and finally succeeded in liberating a crowd of laughing, lunch-bound accountants onto the lobby floor.

She hadn't realized it was after 12. Still she remained staring downward, held by a half unrecognized hypsophobia and an interest in the puppet show eight stories below.

An officer was still on duty, guarding the empty stable. Nevertheless, Elise saw that he conscientiously checked each member of the staff against a list before opening the little panel leading out to Broadway. The police must be very certain that some one else had been in the building to keep a man on duty so long. She happened to know that another officer was posted in the basement day and night, guarding the fire door.

She returned to her desk to find Mr. Bentley had gone out to lunch. With her letters finished, she sat for a time aimlessly pushing the spacebar while she speculated further about the patrolman on the door.

Why had they kept a guard so long? Mr. Hadfield had fallen on Monday night. This was Thursday. Did they think a murderer was trapped in the vast sepulchre of the M. T & T., was lurking some where in its abandoned network of underground vaults right now?

That was idiotic, she knew, but the whole terrible affair was idiotic—trying to blame Seth for something he could never do. Just as idiotic as trying to blame her father for the failure of Sprague and company, and for blinding Blake Hadfield. Jim Sprague had never harmed any one in his life, yet the police. . . .

Elise's small white teeth closed painfully on one carmine lip. She was Jim Sprague's daughter and 20,000 policemen could still be wrong. Dash it all, she knew!

Mr. Bentley had put a six inch pile of reports on her desk to be wrapped for delivery to the sacred precincts of some director's office farther downtown. Elise found brown wrapping paper, wound it skilfully about the reports and went into the controler's office to get a ball of twine.

To Carl Bentley, twine, staples, postage stamps, pins, and metal punches were assets ranked along with war bonds, typewriter paper, and ten dollar bills. Mr. Bentley kept such valuables in the bottom lefthand drawer of his desk under constant supervision, never trusting them to the vagaries of a secretary who might use an unneeded staple or six unnecessary inches of precious twine.

Elise's mind was on other things, but the office habits of two years with Mr. Bentley were strong. She went thru the deep desk drawer twice before deciding with certainty that the ball of twine was gone. It wasn't necessary to search the other drawers in Mr. Bentley's desk, altho she did so. Carl Bentley kept everything in place except his glasses. If the ball of twine wasn't in the lefthand bottom drawer, its loose end held neatly in place with an encircling rubber band, a cataclysm had struck the office.

She went out and searched her own desk, just to make sure, since she had used the twine a few days before. Let's see, it was Monday. She'd wrapped reports for the state insurance department, but she'd put that ball back in Mr. Bentley's drawer. Well, she'd take a look in the assistant chief auditor's desk, Mr. Dickson. He was a nice fellow with brown eyes and an apologetic air, but he had little reverence for Mr. Bentley's assets, and might under pressure embezzle twine, even in a private ball.

Mr. Dickson's desk yielded nothing. Neither did the desks of four other members of the staff whom Elise considered worthy of suspicion. The desk she searched was across the building from the controler's office.

Elise had given it a thoro going over and was about to return to her own desk, when farther down the room Carl Bentley stepped in from the hall. She saw with relief that his glasses weren't on, otherwise he'd have noticed the half-wrapped package on her desk and started his own string hunt. The resultant hubbub would have lasted well thru the summer and into the fall. It could all be avoided if Elise slipped quietly out to lunch and bought another ball.

North	East	South	West
1 club	1 heart	1 spade	Pass
2 spades	3 diamonds	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the diamond deuce to his partner's second bid suit because he, West, had a high supporting honor. Declarer won and drew trumps in two leads, carefully noting that East, who had announced at least 10 cards in the red suits, also had two spades. A low heart now was led, East won and returned a diamond, which declarer ruffed. Another heart lead and another diamond ruff, followed by the ruff of South's last heart, stripped the North-South hands to the black suits.

Now, with the play in dummy, declarer had to consider the club situation. Obviously, he was home if he lost only one club trick, but on the bidding it was certain that clubs could not break 3-2. Since East was marked with no more than a singleton club, declarer carefully led a low club away from the A-K. He was perfectly willing for East to win this trick with an honor, if he had it, since successive finesses then could be taken against West, who was marked with an original holding of four clubs.

As it happened, East had only the three spot, hence declarer was forced to put up the 10. West won with the jack, and since a red suit return would now permit declarer to ruff in one hand while discarding in the other, returned the club nine. Dummy's king won and, when East showed out, declarer's previous caution was rewarded. Declarer entered his own hand with a trump and led a club toward the A-8. West, reduced to the Q-7, was trapped, and the contract became a laydown.

Even Soldiers Should Meet Mother, Girls

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"The girl I pal around with and I are troubled over something that I think many other girls would like advice on," writes Betty. "We met two soldiers from a camp near our home town and my girl friend invited them to her home for supper and to spend the evening. Her mother wasn't home that evening, so did not meet the boys personally. But she heard about it and has forbidden her daughter to see the boys again."

"So our question is: 'Is it proper for girls to bother with fellows in uniform they do not know?' If you think it is all right for us to see them, will you please tell us and also tell us what to say to our parents so that we can get their permission and coöperation?"

We gather you are young, you two girls. And while your intentions are good, and patriotic, and inviting the boys to one of your homes for a real meal indicates the nicest intentions in the world, we still think it would be a better course to have gotten your mother's permission and coöperation first. It gives a young woman better standing in a man's eyes, uniformed or not, when the conventions in the home are observed to the extent of having mother or some older person present. That's what the mother resents, we think, along with the fact that the boys were complete strangers.

You girls must remember that uniforms house many types of young men. Fortunately for our world, the majority of them are one hundred per cent right. But, there's always the offchance that a wrong one might be picked up with.

New Booklet Helps Stretch Meat Supply

[Copyright: 1942: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Well, we have a new booklet. It's called "Meat Stretchers," and it's available for 7 cents by mail, or 5 cents if it is picked up at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, Tribune Tower lobby, or 1 South Dearborn street.

The booklet includes the kind of recipes you need right now, recipes for making that pound of meat go as far as possible, recipes for meatless dishes, too, such as rice and nut loaf, and cheese combinations. A few of the recipes have appeared in THE TRIBUNE within the last few years. Others are new. All of them are for economical dishes.

Organ meats are coming in for more attention these days, in view of the fact that they are highly nutritious, and probably won't be rationed. Don't think you have to have calf liver. Its high price is due to the great demand. Pork liver is nutritious, too, and moderately priced.

Kidneys, hearts, tongue, sweetbreads, brains, and tripe are some of the organ and "specialty" meats which aren't highly demanded, but which are nutritious, fine in flavor, and are not at all difficult to prepare.

Kidneys.

Beef kidney should be braised, but veal, pork, and lamb kidneys are tender enough to be broiled. Wash kidneys and remove outer membrane. Split thru center and remove fat and heavy veins. Soak beef or pork kidneys in cold water for half an hour before cooking. To cook, simmer until tender, about an hour for beef kidney. Then you can serve the meat in a sauce or in any other way you prefer.

If you are broiling kidneys [veal, pork, or lamb], first soak them in a tart salad dressing for half an hour or longer. Split and skewer to hold flat, and broil about five minutes to the side. Halves of kidney may be wrapped in bacon and broiled.

And don't forget that kidney stew is awfully good!

Hearts.

All animal hearts are "tough" organs, having had a good deal of exercise. They require braising or cooking in water. Large hearts may be stuffed and braised. To braise a beef heart, wash and trim it, then dredge with flour and brown all over in hot fat. Add a very small amount of water, season with salt and pepper, cover, and cook at low heat until tender, perhaps as long as 3½ to 4 hours. Hearts from younger animals cook more quickly.

Tongue.

Another exercised muscle, tongue must be cooked in water. A beef tongue may take four hours. Fresh, smoked, or pickled tongue is prepared in the same way. Spices and onion may be added to the cooking water for fresh tongue. Cut away roots and skin from cooked tongue [plunge in cold water after cooking], then serve sliced in a sauce or by itself.

Sweetbreads.

These are a real delicacy. They are the thymus glands from young animals. They are perishable, so buy them just before you use them. Or precook them, if you have to keep them a while before preparing. Soak in cold water for 15 minutes, then simmer 15 minutes with 1 teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon vinegar for a quart of water. Drain, cold-dip, remove membrane, and use at once in a sauce, or chill until wanted. They are good dipped in egg and crumbs and French fried, or they may be brushed with butter and broiled.

Brains and Tripe.

These are the orphans of the meat family, but both are delicate and delicious, properly prepared. Simmer tripe until tender, at least an hour. Serve brushed with butter and broiled, spread with dressing and baked, or dipped in batter and French fried. Good with tomato sauce, too. Pickled tripe should be soaked 15 minutes in cold water before cooking.

Soak brains in cold water, remove membrane and prepare as you would sweetbreads. They are good scrambled with eggs, heated in well seasoned cream sauce, or tomato sauce, or dipped in egg and crumbs and French fried.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 12.—Now that Paramount's deal is off with David Selznick, I suppose David will be making big news again, announcing his production plans for the immediate future. And I have a hunch the one he'd like to announce more than any other would be that Orson Welles will play Rochester opposite Joan Fontaine in "Jane Eyre," and also direct the picture. Can you imagine what would happen with two such geniuses as David and Orson under the same roof? Spontaneous combustion would have nothing on those two. They're both as wily as any politicians I've ever met, with David saying he wanted to sell out and be thru with it all—and Orson saying he wouldn't return to Hollywood, wanted to broadcast from New York and do a play there, when all the time he's signed with Lockheed to do its air show here. It will be interesting to see what develops. It had better be soon. I can't stand this suspense—can you?

Well, Well!

Is it true that Olivia De Havilland is again in the doghouse at Warners? . . . I hear they've canceled the life of Marilynn Miller over there. Script trouble. . . . Bing Crosby tells me the most entertaining thing that happened during his tour was having the bite put on him by 42 members of the Rhythm Boys—when, as everybody knows, there were only three. He lost nine hats on the trip. He didn't care about the hats, but the bands were specially woven from feathers in Honolulu, and he can't get any more. Says, "I guess I'll just have to wear turbans from now on." . . . Have you noticed the difference in Lieut. Lieudmila Pavlichenko since the beauticians got hold of her? Why, she could almost pass for a glamor girl, I doubt if she'll remain here to be in the Russian picture Lillian Hellman's writing for Goldwyn. But before she arrived on the coast she had several conferences with Lillian Hellman.

Looks Like More.

"The Navy Comes Through" has made such a hit that RKO is trying to find a follow-up story on it, using the same cast, they hope—Pat O'Brien, George Murphy, Jane Wyatt, and Jackie Cooper. They're sorry now they killed off Max Baer in the first picture, 'cause they can't bring him back for the second. [I don't know why not. Look what they've done for Frankenstein!]. . . . The best booster for the Palladium, ever since its opening, has been Lana Turner. She should really be on their pay roll. No matter where she is or with whom, when she's having a night out, around 11 o'clock she says, "Come on, fellows, let's go to the Palladium"—and does. . . . With everybody making song albums, Betty Grable may be the next to record the numbers she's going to do in "Coney Island," such as "Cuddle Up a Little Closer, Baby." . . . Twentieth Century is really running a race against time. Henry Fonda is due in the navy Nov. 1, and, due to difficulties on location and in the studio, "The Immortal Sergeant" is already three weeks behind schedule, with six more weeks to go. So you figure it out.

No Wonder.

The reason Walt Disney changed the title of "Donald Duck in Nutziland" to "Der Fuehrer's Face" is that the song of the latter title has sold more than 100,000 records to date, and they have twice that many orders they haven't been able to fill. It's expected the picture will be another "Three Little Pigs." . . . . And speaking of Disney coming to work the other morning I ran into Maj. Alexander de Seversky. In the middle of traffic he got out of his car, came over to me and said, "Hedda, where can I get those fish scales ladies wear on their dresses?" "You mean sequins?" I asked. He said, "I don't know what you call them, but they have a hole in the center, and they come in all sizes." I told him to call up Adrian—he could get all he wanted. "But what do you want them for?" "O," he said, "I'm making a miniature air plane, and I need them for the nose."

This and That.

Rex Bell, now that he's moved down to Hollywood, is wanted for the second lead in "Grand Canyon," which is to be made in technicolor. RKO's having quite a time rounding up technicolor cameras because the equipment Orson Welles took to South America never reached these shores. . . . I hear Ava Gardner Rooney wasn't dropped at Metro. She was under suspension because she wouldn't make a picture at Monogram. Now Metro's testing her, and she really hopes for a good part. . . . I love the story of Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn, who were kidding on the set one day, and Katie said, "I hope my being in the picture won't keep any of your fans away." "O," laughed Spencer, "I can always count on the boys from Boys Town. They took a pledge to see all my pictures—no matter who else was in them." . . . Conrad Nagel and Bonnie Edwards have everyone asking questions, but it's the consensus that Conrad has already asked. . . . Did you hear Tony Martin and Ann Sheridan were together on his last leave to Hollywood? It's beginning to look serious between Anne Shirley and Eddie Albert, now that they've brought their romance out into the open.

Fair Enough.

George Tobias has a bet on with John Garfield that he can ride his horse eight miles from his home to Warners in 45 minutes. The loser has to wash dishes at the canteen every night for three weeks. . . . Leon Belasco, wearing the uniform as a private, went to the canteen the other night and said, "I don't want to meet the stars—just introduce me to the musicians." . . . Otto Preminger is having a field day directing and acting in "Margin for Error." The other day, when he was directing himself, he blew the line and said, "Must be the air out here. I never went up in that line during more than 300 performances on the stage." . . . Maria Montez should be comfortable these days with Acquanetta having quietly slipped off to New York.

Modern View: Child Neither Good Nor Bad

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

In a recent letter to me was a statement most thought-provoking to me, or perhaps I should say, most article-provoking. It was a brief observation, but one which went deep, striking upon a truth that exists widely, but is seldom recognized even by those who feel it. The writer said:

"I was brought up under a régime of stern discipline, always fair and just, but basically antagonistic. It meant a watchfulness on the part of my parents for undesirable traits, and an intense will to eradicate them."

Altho this correspondent referred to the generation of parents preceding her own, that mental attitude toward children still exists. Many parents still are actively on the look out for undesirable traits, still determined to root them out.

* *

With set lips [mentally] they say: "My child is not going to be a liar." "My child is going to obey." "My child is going to be this or that, or not be it." With that rather grim and righteous attitude, those parents do indeed make things hard for both themselves and their children. It is an attitude which ties up with the old theory that child nature is made up of good traits and "bad" traits, and that the latter must be forcibly suppressed.

Children were consequently brought up with the idea foremost in their parents' minds, that anger, jealousy, hatred, selfishness, and cowardice were inherent qualities, of the very fabric of a child's nature, and that they must be torn out or punished away.

Then, side by side with these, were good qualities: Bravery, unselfishness, "innocence" or "purity," truthfulness, frankness, and so forth. These, too, like the evil qualities, were supposed to live side by side with the good qualities, rank weeds and beautiful flowers. The former we killed and the latter we nourished.

Now we know this no longer is so in normal humans. We know that babies are born with certain strong, natural impulses. If these normal, vital impulses are allowed to have the right outlet, the child becomes free, happy, poised, and useful, or what used to be called "good." If, instead, his natural impulses are blocked, he may become inhibited or he will find some outlet for his energy which may be destructive, or both. That is, he may become sullen, defiant, jealous, selfish, untruthful, secretive, sly, or given to fierce tempers. He may become what, in a word, we used to call "bad."

We are trying to erase the picture of a child who is made up of vice and virtue. In its place we are building the image of a young being who is neither good nor bad, but who possesses great life forces, and who needs only wise guidance to help him to learn how to use them.

Jewish Women Add $75,000 to War Bond Purchases at Rally

Chicago section members of the National Council of Jewish Women yesterday purchased $75,000 in war bonds at their Columbus day buy a bond rally, managed jointly by Mrs. Elmer E. Benesch, program chairman, and Mrs. Max Stein, bond chairman, in coöperation with the United States treasury department. These sales raised the council membership's total to $154,000 since Pearl Harbor.

In addition to their own bond and stamp program, volunteer workers of the council man the booths in the Medical and Dental Arts building, where the council headquarters is located, and the Conway building.

The rally was conducted in a manner reminiscent of the liberty bond drives of the first World war, with old fashioned ballyhoo and entertainment by stage and radio stars of current Chicago productions.

Engagements

The engagement of Miss Joan Louise Ketcham to Richard Carlson was announced at a tea last Saturday in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Ketcham, of Kenilworth. Miss Ketcham attended Sullins college and Colorado college. Her fiancé, a graduate of Northwetern university, is attending the university's naval reserve midshipmen's school. He is the son of Mrs. Frederick Henkel of Winnetka and of Wallace Carlson of Chicago.

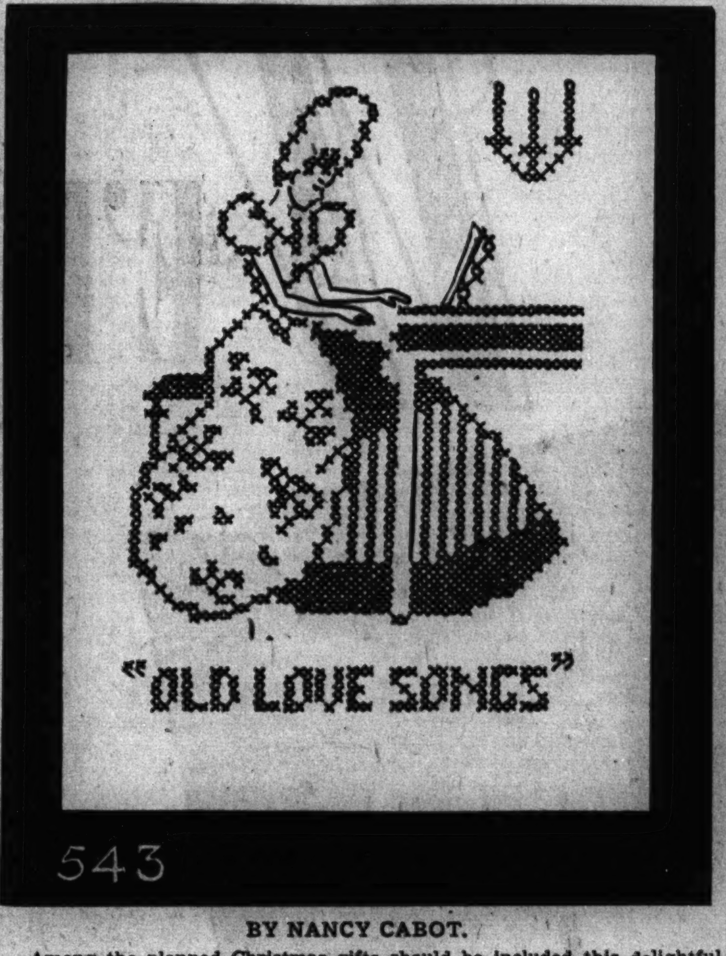
* *

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thomas Worthington of Stamford, Conn., formerly of Oak Park, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Barrett, to Frederick William Honerkamp Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Honerkamp of New York. Miss Worthington attends Marymount college at Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., and Mr. Honerkamp is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame.

* *

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander E. Marks of the Sherry hotel announce the engagement of their daughter, Elaine, to Ellis E. Isackson, son of Mrs. Lillian Isackson of Bay City, Mich. Miss Marks was graduated from the Faulkner school and attended Colorado college. Mr. Isackson was graduated from the University of Missouri.

Cross Stitch Sampler



BY NANCY CABOT.

Among the planned Christmas gifts should be included this delightful sampler for a close, musically inclined friend. This lovely old fashioned girl sitting at her spinet creates a charming picture in cross stitch and one which may be embroidered in a short time. The finished pattern measures approximately 8x11 inches and the directions include an illustration of stitches and a suggested color scheme.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the sampler, "Old Love Songs," No. 543, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Trust Damon Runyan to pop up with a "different" story. . . . This one, however, is just a little too much so. . . . Strains itself—and your credulity.

"The Big Street" is about the great love of a bus boy for a cheap, bad tempered night club entertainer. . . . She treats him like the dust, but—no matter what she does or says—he loves her. . . . When she gets struck down [literally] by the big shot she's two-timed and becomes a hopeless invalid, it is he who joyously shoulders the yoke of her support. . . . He cares for her. He bucks up her courage. . . . He wheels her in a chair to Florida—and, finally, saves the life of the blonde paranoiac as how the picture shall show you. . . .

Much of the action is absolutely ridiculous—but the piece has its moments. . . . Its heart's all right anyhow. . . . Not one of us but has seen unselfish devotion lavished on ingrates and torn our hair in helpless fury at the sight.

Lucille Ball and Henry Fonda handle the leading rôles expertly and as believably as could be possible. In fact Miss Ball's performance is a very creditable runnerup to Bette Davis' horrible damsel in "Of Human Bondage."

Bright bits are contributed by Barton MacLane, Agnes Moorehead, Eugene Pallette, and Vera Gordon.

The picture is effectively staged and too long.

See you soon.

Bright red letters reading "Hotel Sherman, Grand Ballroom" on the face of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations' latest invitations warn members that the meeting on Saturday will not be held as is customary at the Palmer House. The luncheon speaker will be Col. Hugh J. Knerr, aviation expert, whose talk on "The Fight for Air Power" is expected to draw a large crowd at 12:30 o'clock.

The Chicago Convalescent Home for Women and Children had hoped to have a large celebration this year in honor of its 40th birthday anniversary, but because of the war the board has decided to substitute a simple buffet luncheon. The luncheon will be included in the annual meeting on Monday in the home at 2678 West Washington street, and a few former board members are being invited to be present.

As usual, Miss Clark will exhibit "Attic Treasures," given by readers of her column, "When Chicago Was Young," that appears in THE TRIBUNE.

The Woman's Symphony Orchestra board has adopted "a service man and his wife or sweetheart at every table" as its slogan for its Halloween party Friday night at Huyler's cocktail lounge and restaurant, 310 South Michigan avenue. GREAT LAKES TO SHIFT BACKS FOR WISCONSIN

'I'M NOT QUITTING RING,' LOUIS TELLS MIKE JACOBS

CHAMP CLAIMS HIS STORY WAS MISUNDERSTOOD

A Call on Telephone Straightens It Out.

New York, Oct. 12 [Special].—The report that Joe Louis, heavyweight boxing champion, is quitting the ring, tonight was branded as erroneous by Mike Jacobs, boxing promoter. Jacobs declared that in a telephone conversation earlier in the day with Sergt. Joe Louis at Fort Riley, Kas., the champion claimed he had been misunderstood by a newspaper man who interviewed him yesterday in Omaha, Neb. The story quoted Louis as saying, "My fightin' days are over."

As reported by Promoter Jacobs this was the gist of his conversation with the heavyweight champion:

Louis, "Course not."

Jacobs: "Well, what about that story from Omaha?"

Louis: "That fellow misunderstood me."

Jacobs: "But did you tell him you were thru with fightin'?"

Joe Was in a Hurry.

Louis: "Yeah. But I only meant while I'm in the army. You all know I can't fight until the army lets me or until I'm out of the army. I told him I might be too old when that happened. And I said it looked like my fightin' days are over."

Jacobs: "But how come he got it all wrong?"

Louis: "I dunno. Maybe 'cause I was rushin' to catch a train. When he was leavin' he said: 'I'm a newspaper man. Is it all right to say what you said?' and I said, 'Sure—go ahead.' But I didn't think he was goin' to say I was retirin'. I want to fight again. I can use the money."

Jacobs: "Well, you sure started a commotion here in New York."

A few minutes earlier Co-Manager John Roxborough had declared in Detroit that Louis denied his retirement.

He's Champion to Conn.

As soon as Jacobs and Roxborough reported the denial, wire services sent corespondents to Fort Riley to contact Louis directly.

Before Jacobs had contacted Louis by phone, boxing writers in New York doubted that he was in earnest. Promoter Jacobs, himself, had said he couldn't believe it, and still considered Louis the heavyweight champion. Billy Conn, chief challenger, thru Manager Johnny Ray, also declared. "Louis still is the champ in my book."

But while Jacobs, confined to his Rumson, N. J., home with sinusitis, and Ray in Pittsburgh were discounting the retirement, the wires buzzed with the title topic.

Claims Title for Pastor.

From Cleveland where his fighter meets Jimmy Bivins a week from today, Jimmy Johnston, Bob Pastor's manager, claimed the crown for the former Golden Glover.

From Paterson, N. J., Abe J. Greene, president of the National Boxing association, announced that the nationwide boxing board would rate Tami Mauriello, Lee Savold, and Pastor as the three top men in action today to compete for the vacated throne.

From Orange, N. J., and Los Angeles, Cal., came rumbling threats by Tony Galento and Max Baer to emerge from retirement and battle for the title.

But from Detroit, Roxborough declared: "Joe and I talked it over a couple of weeks ago and we agreed then Joe would retire when the war is over if he found out he was too old to carry on. That's what he meant, I think, by his remarks Sunday."

Recall Canceled Fight.

Significantly, perhaps, all the confusion occurred just when Louis was supposed to have been defending the title against Conn in an Army Emergency Relief fund bout. The bout, scheduled for this afternoon at Yankee stadium, was canceled Sept. 25 by Secretary of War Stimson, who said he was shocked at financial arrangements of the fight. It had been announced at first that no individual or corporation would profit from the estimated $700,000 gate receipts, but it later developed that Louis was to receive $100,000 and Conn $34,000 to pay off debts to Jacobs and Roxborough.

Perhaps, ran local speculation, Joe was grumpily recalling what might have been when he talked to that reporter in Omaha, Sunday.

LOUIS TO LOS ANGELES.

Fort Riley, Kas., Oct. 12 (AP).—Joe Louis will start a 15 day furlough tomorrow in order to attend to private business matters, his commanding officer, Gen. Donald A. Robinson, reported tonight. At Kansas City, TWA officials said the heavyweight champion, now an army sergeant, had arranged to leave for Los Angeles by airliner early tomorrow.

Dreams of Peace.

We dream of the days that are far beyond—
When war will be over and done,
And peace will descend on the world again
As a mighty battle is won.

We dream of the days when boys will return
To the homes where loved ones await,
And laughter will ring thru the rooms again
Tho the hour be early or late.

We dream of the days that will come sometime—
The wonderful, magical days,
We remember so well in other years—
And where memory often strays.

We pray that these dreams will come true, dear Lord
But above all—we ask of Thee
To endow us with strength to face the days
Whatever our cross shall be

And mother's pies . . .
Her brave blue eyes
The day I went to war . . .

Jamaica Opens; One-Time Plater Wins Handicap

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—F. L. Tyler's former plater, Eire, came thru a blanket finish to win the Interborough handicap, feature attraction at the opening of Jamaica's nine day fall race meeting today.

Mrs. Tilyou Christopher's topweighted Doublrab, the sprint champ, was second in the group of four horses that finished with heads bobbing together. Glen Felkner's Albatross was third in the field of 13.

The victor, claimed from the Wheatley stable for $6,000 at the Saratoga meeting in August, paid $25.10 in the mutuels and collected purse money of $6,952. The three year old carried 106 pounds and completed the six furlongs in 1:12 2-5.

NEW YORK MAY GET ARMY-NAVY FOOTBALL GAME

Philadelphia Site Offers Rail Problem.

New York, Oct. 12 [Special].—The Army-Navy game scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 28, in Philadelphia's Municipal stadium, may be transferred to New York. Lieut.-Col. Lawrence [Biff] Jones, graduate manager of athletics at West Point, told New York football writers at their weekly luncheon today that Army is "still hopeful the Navy game will be played" but transportation difficulties may force its transfer to "some other city."

Asked to name the likeliest other city, Jones said New York.

However, from Washington came whispers that officials are considering playing the game in Annapolis, on Navy's home field. Col. Jones said he had heard nothing of this report.

Rests with War, Navy Departments.

Final decision rests with the war and navy departments, Col. Jones said. Because some officials might consider the game too frivolous in time of war, Col. Jones said he had sent to Washington a newspaper clipping which told of 65,000 fans watching a soccer game in Great Britain the other day.

"I hope the game is played for the sake of the cadets at both schools," Col. Jones said. "Altho they know that they cannot get leave to see the game, they want it played."

The transportation problem is a serious one. Last year 42 special trains were needed between Washington and New York to haul spectators to the game and then there were seven specials for West Point's regiment of cadets and seven specials for the midshipmen from Annapolis.

Switch Would Ease Problem.

A switch to New York would ease the transportation problem somewhat for the simple reason that special trains from here wouldn't be necessary. Transfer to Annapolis would lessen the load since only some 20,000 fans could possibly go to the game because of the small navy field. However, the swarm of fans from Washington and Philadelphia still would create a tremendous jam on railroads and roads to the bayside Maryland town.

If held in New York the game would have to be played in one of the ball parks. Fordham is playing North Carolina Preflight school on the Army-Navy date in Yankee stadium, so the service game would have to be held in the Polo grounds where only 60,000 can be accommodated.

In discussing West Point's athletic program, Jones said the Army hopes to complete its full schedule of 18 sports for the current school year.

JOE MUSCATO WINS BOUT WITH CALZARETTO

Sergt. Joe Muscato, Buffalo heavyweight, defeated Vince Calzaretto in an eight round bout in Marigold gardens last night. The decision of Referee Frank McAdams and Judges Jack Ripple and Ed Klein was unanimous.

Joe weighed 192¼ pounds and Calzaretto, 189½.

Attendance was 1,431 and gross receipts were $2,045.

Phil Muscato, 18 year old brother of Joe, hammered out a decision over Jack Hill, Bloomington, Ill., in a six round secondary feature. Phil had the upper hand most of the way, scoring a two count knockdown in the third round.

In one of the most exciting contests on the card Jimmy Varketta, Cleveland 138 pounder, scored a six round victory over Jerry Pittro. Joe O'Neil, Chicago lightweight, knocked out Clarence Thurman of Danville, Ill., in the third round.

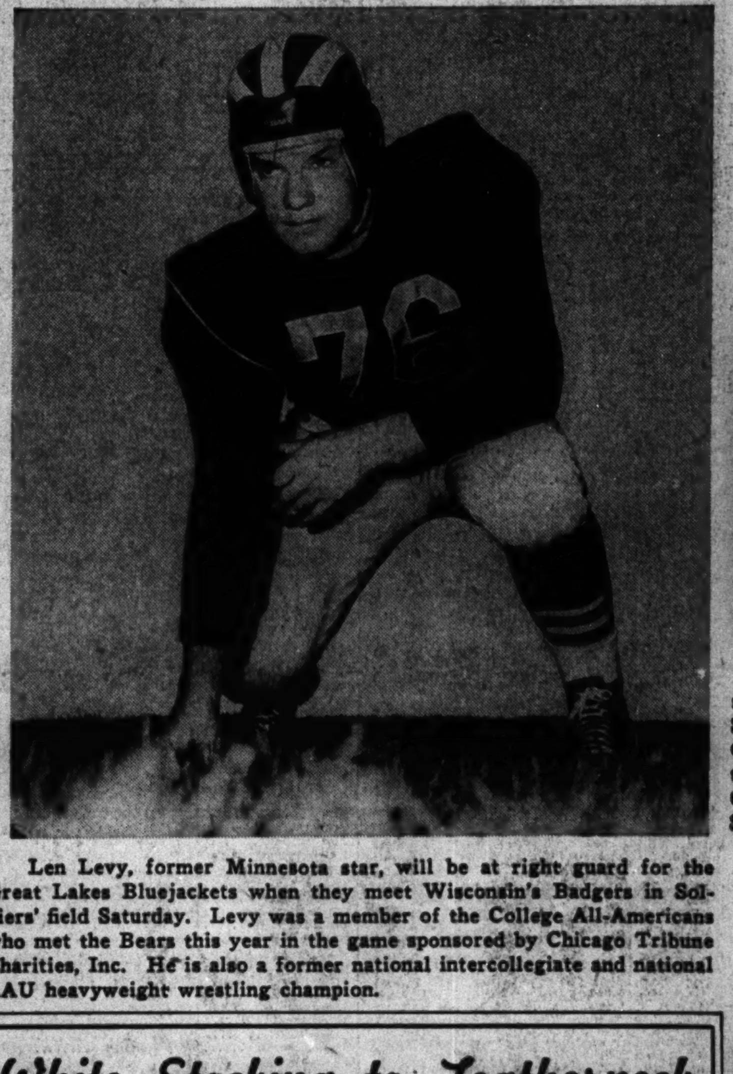
There's a Battle Ahead in Soldiers' Field



Len Levy, former Minnesota star, will be at right guard for the Great Lakes Bluejackets when they meet Wisconsin's Badgers in Soldiers' field Saturday. Levy was a member of the College All-Americans who met the Bears this year in the game sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. He is also a former national intercollegiate and national AAU heavyweight wrestling champion.

Hugh McCullough, Great Lakes right half, will see a lot of action Saturday. He was a leader in Oklahoma's drive to the Big Six title in 1938 and played with the Chicago Cardinals and Pittsburgh Steelers after graduation.

An outstanding member of Wisconsin's back field is Full Back Marlin (Pat) Harder, who is reported recovering from a leg injury. He is expected to be in top shape against the Bluejackets.

White Stocking to Leatherneck

Ted Lyons' Industry Aggravates Sore Arm, but Perseverance Keeps Him a Star

[This is the third of a series on Ted Lyons, White Sox veteran pitcher, who has joined the marines.]

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

YOU'VE traveled with Ted Lyons now thru the 1930 season. In the spring of 1931 the Sox and Giants played a night exhibition at San Antonio, Tex. Ball players in those days didn't know as much about night air as they know at the present. It was a cool, damp evening and High Pockets, appreciating as he still does that you have to win to be anybody, didn't hold back. He launched a curve to Johnny Vergez, then a Giant infielder, and something snapped in the previously bruised shoulder. This time it really looked serious. For the season Lyons was just one of the boys taken along for the ride. He won only four and lost six games.

For 1932 Lyons was back, filled with the same old vigor and vitality. His arm felt all right, but his fast one didn't have the hop of other years. That's when he figured that it might be time to expose the knuckle ball with which he'd been toying for many seasons. More trouble popped up. He got himself tangled in a duel with George Uhle. Uhle was gone before the finish. Lyons was still in there working like a beaver—a 21 inning job. He wasn't much good the remainder of the season and neither was Uhle. Then the arm balked again when he tried to hurry his warmup for a rescue act in the city series.

Ad Schacht Goes to Work on Ted's Ailing Arm.

His adoption of the knuckle ball as his chief weapon against enemy batters, not to mention his determination not to give up, helped in his comeback, but there was another angle. When his arm continued to act up, the late Doc Ad Schacht, club trainer, took him in tow. Schacht was peerless when it came to an arm problem—so good in fact that ailing athletes from other clubs would sneak away from their own trainers to pay Schacht a professional visit.

Schacht was a little fellow, but he possessed powerful forearms. These, with his uncanny knowledge about muscles stood him in good stead. He didn't handle his patients with kid gloves. He literally twisted them out of shape. There were times during two successive seasons when Lyons' right shoulder was black and blue as the result of the good doctor's manipulations. Lyons had tightened. Either he wouldn't or couldn't follow thru as he had when in his prime. Schacht knew he could restore the rubbery quality to the arm and he didn't fail.

Once Lyons got into the swing of big leagueing he didn't need much more than his speed. He not only was fast, but made it doubly deceptive by his easy delivery. And it was a rare occasion that he didn't have unerring control. Batters knew it was useless to wait him out. To try it was a big gamble. He'd sneak that fast one past them so quickly they'd wonder what had happened. Whenever it took him more than one hour and 30 minutes to reel off a nine inning job he was off color.

Knuckler and Slow Curve Keep Him at Top of Heap.

When the fast ball began to slow down, he began to give a little thought to the knuckler—a pitch that almost all big league pitchers now aim to master. Ted had been interested in it way back in 1919 while still at school. He had seen pictures of the grip used by Eddie Rommell. Ted figured it was a pretty cute item to possess, so he monkeyed with it for years, but always saving it up for the rainy day that always comes. When the rainy day came Ted had the knuckler for an umbrella.

Ted even had a raincoat along with the umbrella. The raincoat was a slow curve. He could throw it even when he first came into the big tent, but he didn't have much faith in the pitch. Anyway, he didn't need it. His deceptive speed and control were sufficient. But he always talked about how much he would like to have a change of pace pitch. Ed Walsh, by this time a coach with the Sox, observed Ted throwing the slow curve a few times in practice. Walsh commented that if that wasn't the ideal change of pace he had never seen one. So Ted added it to his répertoire. It's still there and mighty handy.

Even tho Lyons lost his one time speed, he still can make use of what remains. The batters always are afraid he's going to serve up that double vision knuckler. While they are worrying over what they might do with it he sneaks past one of those perfectly controled fast ones.

BILLY HARRELL LIKELY TO GET STARTING POST

Unbeaten Badgers to Have Harder.

Altho the Great Lakes Bluejackets piled up 228 yards by rushing and 141 yards on passes in defeating Pittsburgh, 7 to 6, last Saturday, Lieut. Paul D. [Tony] Hinkle, head coach of the sailors, yesterday demanded more scoring punch for the game with Wisconsin's unbeaten Badgers in Soldiers' field Saturday.

To produce the punch Lieut. Hinkle indicated the new back field he sent against Pittsburgh will undergo further changes. Only a light workout was taken by the sailors yesterday as they prepared for their first Chicago appearance, but several scrimmages are on the week's practice schedule.

Narrowness of victory over Pittsburgh was due to missed blocking assignments which cost the Bluejackets several scoring opportunities, Lieut. Hinkle said. The sailors are confident this week's work will remedy the defect and are anxious for further contact work.

Harrell Likely to Start.

Great Lakes also is hopeful of shaking loose several of its outstanding ball carriers who formerly starred in collegiate and professional ranks. A new starting back field unit composed of Half Backs Hugh McCullough and Bruce Smith; Quarter Back Rudy Mucha, and Full Back Bob Sweiger opened against the Panthers last Saturday, but the combination has failed to satisfy Lieut. Hinkle.

One of the new starters probably will be Billy Harrell, former Alabama half back, who starred with the Crimson Tide as it won from Texas A. and M., 29 to 21, in the Cotton bowl game last New Year's day. It was Harrell's 23 yard pass to Howard [Red] Hickey, once of the University of Arkansas and the Cleveland Rams, which gave the sailors their touchdown against Pittsburgh early in the fourth quarter. Another star performer from the south—Bob Nelson of Baylor—then added the extra point to provide the margin of victory.

McCullough, who played left half back for Oklahoma and the Chicago Cardinals, was shifted to right half by Lieut. Hinkle last week, moving ahead of Pete Kmetovic, who formerly was a member of Stanford's Rowl Bowl champions. There also is a possibility that Smith may play at right half, the position he held at the University of Minnesota in 1939 and 1940. He was moved to left half last season.

Mucha, former center from the University of Washington, and Edward Norris, who played at De Paul university, are the only Chicagoans on the Bluejacket squad. Mucha prepped at Fenger High school, while Norris starred in basketball and football at Fenwick. Last year Mucha was a blocking back for the Cleveland Rams.

Colorful ceremonies are planned between halves of the game. Wisconsin's 150 piece band will arrive in Chicago Saturday morning. There was a brisk demand for tickets yesterday, but thousands of choice seats still remain. They are available at The Hub, State and Jackson, and in the Tribune public service office, 1 South Dearborn street. The prices are $3.30, $2.20, and $1.10.

BADGERS GIVEN REST.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 12 [Special].—Coach Harry Stuhldreher gave the Wisconsin squad its first respite from practice today the Badgers have had since they started their fall workouts on Sept. 1. Players gathered in the squad room for a chalk talk and a review of the motion pictures of their 17 to 9 victory over Missouri last Saturday.

Stuhldreher announced that Tackle Bob Baumann of Harvey, Ill., had been appointed acting captain for the game with Great Lakes in Chicago's Soldier's field.

It will be back to hard work for players tomorrow, altho it is probable that Stuhldreher will not call for much contact work this week.

Players on the injured list are improving. Elroy Hirsch and Bob Hanzlik could feel only slight traces of leg bumps received in the Missouri game and Stuhldreher was happy over the improvement shown by Pat Harder's bruised leg.

RICHARDS SIGNED ONLY AS PLAYER, SAYS TIGER BOSS

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 12 (AP).—Jack Zeller, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, said today that Paul Richards was signed by the Tigers as a player and nothing more. Richards, a native Texan who has been manager at Atlanta in the Southern association for several years, recently resigned and signed a contract with the Tigers.

"We took him on as protection in the catching department," said Zeller. "He's a family man and fairly safe from the draft. There has been no thought of making him manager of the Tigers, altho it is still undetermined whether Del Baker will be back in that capacity."

ZORAWAR WINS STRETCH BATTLE FROM MORDECAI

Colt in Comeback After Breakdown Last Year.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Zorawar, a 3 year old colt which broke down last season, made a successful comeback in his third start of 1942 by beating the veteran campaigner Mordecai by a nose in the Columbus day purse yesterday at Hawthorne. Eddie Guerin and Steve Brooks engaged in a hard riding duel thru most of the stretch drive and Guerin's mount outstayed Brooks'. Valdina Groom was a distant third in this six and a half furlong run.

Zorawar, which had given indications that he was ready to win by running second to Brownie in his last start, was beat down until he was the favorite at 7 to 5, Mordecai and The Gob both being held at 5 to 1. The payoff on the winner was $4.80, $2.60, and $2.60 across the board.

The Gob Challenges Repeatedly.

Zorawar was challenged repeatedly by The Gob in the earlier stages of the race. These two ran head and head down the back stretch and around the turn while Mordecai was striding along in third position. At the head of the stretch Mordecai moved up with the leaders and for a few strides the three were racing head and head with The Gob in the middle. The Gob was allowed to drop back out of the tight quarters and from there home Zorawar and Mordecai engaged in a hard struggle, the camera giving it to the former by a very narrow margin.

The daily double was worth only $14 after Busy Josie, the odds on favorite, had won the first race and Wooden Indian had scored at a little less than 4 to 1 in the second. Busy Josie took the lead away from the early pace setter, Lady Infinity, going into the last turn of a mile and a sixteenth gallop, drew out to a lead of eight lengths in the stretch and came on home five lengths ahead of Noggin. Wooden Indian was forced to extend himself in beating Kai-Hi by a length and a quarter to provide his half of the double.

Illinois Tom Consistent.

The veteran Illinois Tom is still running consistently. He beat a band of horses of the $1,200 class by a length and a half in the third race. He hasn't been out of the money in his last eight starts and has been worse than second only once in that period. In yesterday's engagement he came up to take command soon after the stretch run began. His nearest rival at the finish was a long shot, American Bride, which paid $21.40 to place.

Jesse Higley, who had fallen off Air Raider in the second race, came back to win on Top Straw in the fifth. He drove this horse home half a length ahead of Ann-O-Vision.

Columbus Day Is Observed in Golfing Way

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

There was neither niblick nor brassie in the ship's chest of the Santa Maria when its skipper, one C. Columbus, sighted this land for the first time 450 years ago, but the members of the Butterfield Country club yesterday honored the old gent in a golfing way that would have made him throw away his compass for a 3 iron.

The occasion was the 22d Oct. 12 chosen by the men of Butterfield to celebrate Columbus day as well as to conclude their regular competitive season. A field of 150 players, including several of the district's leading swingers, turned out for the tournament that might well be one of the last club tourneys in these parts for the duration. None denied the 1943 season might be drydocked, but all agreed they're willing to chart their course for another Columbus day event next October.

Novotony One Under Par.

Gus Novotony, a proven fairway sailor, turned in the best navigating job of the day, scoring a 35—36—71, one over par. He was followed by C. J. Bansbach Jr., former club champion, with 36—37—73, and Art Doering of Bob o'Link, erstwhile trans-Mississippi titleholder and national amateur semi-finalist. Three other district regulars, Frank Justin, Walter Crowe, and George Cisar, followed in the gross counting with 74's. Warren Dawson, who will make his home in California within the next few weeks, faltered with a 43 on the front nine, then rolled home with a 34.

Gibbons Has Low Net.

Leading the members home in the low net section were Tom Gibbons, 81—16—65; R. P. Moran, 76—8—68, and Joseph B. Ford, 88—19—69. Best net shooters among the guests were Walter Crowe, 74—7—67; Robert F. Jerrick, 79—11—68, and E. C. Schneider, 92—24—68.

Leading scores follow:

CLASSIC LEAGUE BOWLERS SEEK TOURNEY BERTHS

17 from Circuit to Enter Eliminations.

The Classic league will be generously represented among the Chicago bowlers endeavoring to gain places in the All-Star tournament, it was disclosed yesterday after a study of the entries for the local eliminations received thru Saturday. The list did not include those put in the mail during the 24 hours preceding the original closing hour for entries, midnight Saturday.

The Thompson Restaurants, one of the circuit's top teams, will have one of its members, Herb Freitag, seeded in the All-Star tournament, and the other four will try to gain half of the eight places open to Chicago bowlers. Chicago is to have a 14 man entry in the All-Star tournament, and while six of the places are filled by seeded men, the others will come in thru the three week-ends of eliminations. The other four men on the Thompsons who are to shoot are Jules Sowa, Harry Lippe, Robert Willis, and Joe Puccinelli.

Gills Have Seeded Entrant.

The Joseph L. Gills have one man, Joe Sinke, seeded, but three of their other four will shoot in the trials. They are Adolph Carlson, Eli Marlcich, and Rudy Habetler. The Ambrosia Beers will have four in the trials, the present entry shows—Vern Moon, Frank Sabik, John Munch, and Troy Voyles. The Washington Shirts have entered three, Jerry Skovie, George Calder, and Harold Ploch.

Schlitz has Wally Freitag seeded, but Paul Krumske, the team's anchor man and last year's scoring champion of the league, will be shooting in the trials for a place alongside Freitag. Others seeded from the league are Joe Wilman and Bill Hargadon of the Budweisers and Bill Flesch of the Monarch Beers. John Small of the Buds also is entered in the trials.

Trials to Open Oct. 24.

Math Luecker, 1738 Addison street, secretary of the Bowling Proprietors' Association of Greater Chicago, will continue taking entries thru this week, the deadline having been moved back to next Saturday at midnight. The trials are to open Saturday, Oct. 24 and continue over three week-ends, with play on a round robin basis. Bowlers with a 190 average in a sanctioned league last year are eligible. The entry fee is $25.

Two Tracks Mail Blanks for 1943 Feature Stakes

Arlington Park and Washington Park yesterday distributed to horsemen thruout the country nomination blanks for the five early closing stakes to be run during the 1943 season at the two tracks. All have the same value they had in 1942.

The closing date for entries to these fixtures is Monday, Nov. 2. The five stakes, their 1942 gross value also being indicated, are as follows:

Arlington Classic, $50,000 added, 1¼ miles, for 3 year olds; 15th running; gross value $88,250 in 1942.

American Derby, $50,000 added, 1¼ miles, for 3 year olds; 33d running; gross value $79,400 in 1942.

Arlington Futurity, $20,000 added, 6 furlongs, for 2 year olds; 14th running; gross value $62,900 in 1942.

Washington Park Futurity, $20,000 added, 6 furlongs, for 2 year olds; fifth running; gross value $69,875 in 1942.

Arlington Lassie Stakes, $10,000 added, 6 furlongs, for 2 year old fillies; 15th running; gross value $35,100 in 1942.

Accompanying the stake blanks was the following statement by Benjamin F. Lindheimer, chairman of the operating committee of both tracks:

"We all realize that the war problems confronting the nation have placed greater responsibilities on the sport of racing. In 1942 racing made a splendid contribution in assisting the important war agencies. We believe that it can best be accomplished again in 1943 by offering to the horsemen, breeders, and public the continuation of America's racing fixtures.

"We will appreciate your coöperation and patronage in assisting to build these racing events."

Leo to Seek Sixth Victory in Prep Charity Series

Bob Hanlon.

When the Catholic league started play a month ago veteran high school observers predicted that Leo and St. Rita of the league's south section would be the strongest contenders for the championship.

Next Sunday afternoon—a month before the season's end—this prediction will be tested in Comiskey park when Leo meets St. Rita in the annual Mercy charity game. Tickets, priced at $1.10 for adults and 55 cents for students, are available at Mercy hospital, at Sisters of Mercy schools thruout the city, and at Leo and St. Rita.

Both teams, meeting for the fourth time in the 12 year history of the series, are unbeaten. Offensively and defensively, on the basis of their past activities, they are evenly matched. In two league encounters this season, Leo has scored 86 points and held its opposition to 13; St. Rita has not been scored upon and has collected 63 points.

Perhaps St. Rita should be rated the underdog because of past results in the series. Leo has won two of the games and tied the other one. Last year Leo was on the long end of a 40 to 14 score.

It is expected that the burden of the Leo attack will be carried by Bob Kelly and Bob Hanlon, the high scorers. The St. Rita offensive will center around Bill Beam, who is said by St. Rita adherents to be the equal of either Kelly or Hanlon.

Leo's football team has appeared in the charity game six times and has never been defeated. The first time Leo participated was in 1935, when the Lions conquered St. Philip, 32 to 0.

ELIOT REGIME CONTINUES AN ILLINI TRADITION

Triumph Over Gophers Recalls Other Upsets.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Before the report is started that Illinois football players must have been a bit lucky to whip the mighty Minnesota Gophers—Alex Agase stole the ball for one touchdown and won the game later by recovering a football in the end zone—let's have another survey of the records.

Item No. 1 shows that the Illini outrushed the mighty Gophers, 120 yards to 99. Secondly, Bob Wilson, who was the best lineman Illinois had last year, was unable to play against Minnesota because of an injury. Finally, the Illinois boys stuck and plugged and the Gophers, Western conference champions, got the jitters. When, for instance, did a championship eleven ever fumble nine times in one game? Minnesota ran up that record in Champaign Saturday.

We are not detracting, however, from Illinois' victory when we say that it undoubtedly played as close to physical perfection as possible. It also is reasonable to assume that Minnesota's performance was far below what it might have been or was, for instance, against the Iowa Seahawks. But from such disparity come football's upsets.

Eliot Keyed 'Em Up.

The new coach, Ray Eliot, certainly deserves the applause he has received, not as much for the arrangement of his material as for his success in instilling the belief that Minnesota could be beaten. Last year the Gophers scored on their first play from scrimmage and rumbled on to a 34 to 6 victory over the Illini.

Without discussion of plays, or reference to the lateral pass maneuver by which the Illini scored the second touchdown, their triumph came on the belief they could win, plus fighting spirit. We have seen the Illini completely outplayed but hold a fine Ohio State team to a 6 to 0 victory. Illinois played a scoreless tie with Notre Dame in 1937 when the odds favored the Irish. Illinois upset Michigan, 16 to 7, in 1939, and thus is the only university other than Minnesota to defeat the Wolverines in the last four campaigns.

Upsets Are a Habit.

Illinois' triumph last Saturday is firmly founded in its history which is replete with unexpected victories that go back three decades when another and greater Minnesota eleven was whipped, 14 to 9.

Naturally, the 1942 Illinois football team is stronger physically than its predecessor. The veterans have one more year's experience and the varsity eleven has been strengthened by three sophomores. Six substitutions were made Saturday. Four were lettermen in 1941, one was a letterman in 1940, and the other was a reserve last season.

Coach Eliot probably is the only one who can properly estimate the value of the three newcomers in the Illinois starting eleven. They are Mac Wenskunas, center; Mike Kasap, right tackle, and Roy Florek, blocking back. All were scheduled for varsity service from the opening day of practice. Florek, with some relief from Myron Pfeiffer, a full back most of the 1941 season, provides better key blocking for Don Griffin, the left half. Griffin is relieved by Dick Good, the best forward passer in the Big Nine in 1940. Walter Correll, at right half, was the outstanding kicker in the conference last year.

An Iron Man Performance.

Capt. Jimmy Smith and Tony Butkovich, neither of whom is a smashing plunger, are the full backs. Illinois used three ends against Minnesota, Elmer Engel [who once had to play tackle in the Bob Zuppke régime because of a dearth of hefty linemen], Ray Grierson, and Jim McCarthy. There were three tackles, Kasap, John Genis, and Bob Wallin. Joe Pawlowski and Agase were the guards.

Minnesota's defeat, of course, does not eliminate the Gophers from the Big Nine race. They still have an opportunity to take care of such contenders as Michigan and Northwestern, and will have the advantage of a six game conference schedule. Iowa, Northwestern, and Ohio State also play six games each. Thus, at the present time, the Buckeyes probably are the most serious candidates for Minnesota's laurels, since Minnesota can not control their progress.

For that matter, Minnesota no longer can control Illinois. The Gophers lost that chance last Saturday.

HOOSIERS WORK ON DEFENSE.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 12 [Special]. —Indiana began bolstering its defense against the running plays of Pittsburgh's Panthers today.

Junior Tackle Bob Zimny and Chuck Jacoby, junior right half back, both of Chicago, rejoined the Hoosier squad, having missed the Nebraska game because of injuries. Richard Tackett, sophomore center, did not work today. The injury to his right knee was the only casualty at Lincoln.

MARQUETTE SQUAD INTACT.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 12 [Special]. —Marquette's squad was intact today for the first time in more than three weeks as work began for next Saturday's game with Michigan State in East Lansing. Jim Schweers, injured left end, returned and will be able to play against the Spartans, while the broken nose Guard Doug Strutz received in the Iowa State game failed to prevent him from reporting today.

STEELERS GIVE PRO FOLLOWERS BIGGEST SURPRISE

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Four of the five National Football league winners went point crazy in Sunday's games, but oddly enough the fifth one, with only a modest 7 to 0 triumph, gave the pro followers their biggest jolt. This one was an upset by the Pittsburgh Steelers over the Brooklyn Dodgers in Ebbets field, further complicating the race in the eastern division.

On the Sunday before the Steelers, after having lost to the Philadelphia Eagles and Washington Redskins, had surprised the New York Giants, 1941 eastern champions. These two unexpected triumphs gave the Steelers' victims their first defeat of the season.

Bill Dudley Main Factor.

Main factor in the upsurge of the Steelers is Bill Dudley, the first man chosen in the college draft. Pittsburgh got first call on the triple threat fellow from the University of Virginia because it had the poorest record in the league last year—one victory, nine defeats, and one tie. Dudley, because of participation in the College All-Star game, was late reporting to the Steelers. Now he's making up for lost time. Dudley led the 70 yard touchdown drive which whipped the Dodgers Sunday.

The other four winners made a total of 147 points, or an average of six touchdowns a game. In the forefront, of course, were the Chicago Bears with 41 points, against the Cardinals' 14. Green Bay was next with 38, against Detroit's 7. New York, which comes to Wrigley field Sunday to meet the Bears, piled up 35, against Philadelphia's 17. Washington settled for 33, against 14 for Cleveland. This scoring total probably has been seldom equaled on one afternoon in the National league.

Bear Coach Worried.

George Halas, the Bears' owner-coach, started looking worried and talking pessimistically when he saw that the Giants, ordinarily a low scoring unit, had run up those 35 points.

"Before the Green Bay game," said Halas, "I told the boys that if we won our first three games they would not have to report until Thursday for the game with the Giants. I'm afraid I made a mistake."

Then George had a brilliant idea.

"I'll get 'em out at Wrigley field at 9 o'clock Thursday," he said, "and keep 'em there until 4 p. m. to make up for all of that lost time."

Bears Played Their Best Game.

Halas said that the Bears played by far their best game of the season against the Cardinals. Lee Artoe, the giant tackle, never was better, he said. With all their 41 points the Bears only once had anything resembling a steady touchdown march. Five of their scores came on explosive maneuvers. Three were on passes, with fairish runs by the receivers, Ray McLean and Hamp Pool. Another was on McLean's 89 yard punt return, and the fifth on Bulldog Turner's 42 yard run after intercepting a pass. The other touchdown was set up when a pass was ruled complete for interference on the Cards' 1 yard line. Gary Famiglietti, who was getting touchdown hungry, got the chance to punch it over and ring up his fourth score of the season.

DUCK FLIGHT IS BELOW PAR ON ILLINOIS RIVER

BY BOB BECKER.

Mr. Duck Hunter, don't get your hopes up too high for opening day, Thursday. It's quite likely that you won't see as many birds in the Illinois river valley the first morning of the season as were down there at the opening last year because the mallards and pintails haven't come down from the north in numbers.

We have checked along the river and sportsmen who have reported on the duck populations to us agree generally on one thing: the duck population in the Illinois river bottoms is below that of last year at this time. So unless there is a sudden and dramatic flight during the next 48 hours, shooting may not be up to standard on opening day.

Conservation Investigator Reports.

Here is a typical report on the duck situation. It's from V. C. Connor, investigator, department of conservation, who lives in Havana. He writes on the Havana duck population as follows: "I am sorry I have no good news for you on the duck business. The first real big flight of birds has not come down from the north, but in a couple of weeks the picture will be changed, of course. The duck population above Havana north to Spring lake, taking in Clear lake and the Chautauqua lake refuge, Liverpool, and Quiver lake adds up to some 17,000 birds only.

"I have noted about 3,000 widgeon, 200 blue winged teal, 200 ruddy ducks, 900 mallards [a very small number], 1,250 pintails [small for this time of the year], and about 11,000 mudhens. Havana south to Crane lake, the Sangamon, Snicarte Island, etc—about 8,000 birds, including some 640 spoonbills, 550 mallards, a few teal, 1,100 pintails, 450 widgeon, and 3,500 mudhens."

Outlook Not Too Bright.

Any duck hunter who knows the expanse of sloughs, bayous, and lakes covered in Connor's report realizes that the bird population is way below par for opening day. One of the surprising things about the movement of ducks so far this season is the appearance of small ducks ahead of the usual pintail migration. During the first week of the season one expects to see many pintails on hand. This year the sprigs or pintails are crossing up the experts by not coming down as usual.

Put the picture together as far as the current duck population along the Illinois is concerned and it doesn't look any too bright for a slap-bang opening day Thursday at sunrise, say the duck experts along the Illinois.

ARMY AND NAVY CAMPS ORGANIZE BOXING LEAGUE

The groundwork for a service men's boxing league was laid at a meeting attended by officers representing seven army and navy camps yesterday at Navy pier. Competition, which will be open to all enlisted men who retain their amateur standing, will be held each week, beginning Nov. 25. First round matches on that date will be Navy pier vs. University of Chicago radio school, 87th street Naval Vocational school vs. Camp Custer, and Fort Sheridan vs. Camp Grant. The navy air school at Glenview drew a bye.

Yesterday's meeting was presided over by Lieut. Comm. F. S. Mathewson, 9th naval district liaison welfare officer, and Capt. E. C. Wills, 6th service command athletic and recreation officer. Capt. Wills said the league fighting will help develop strong teams at the various stations for competition in the Golden Gloves tournaments which open in February.

Ice Follies of 1943 Opens at Arena Tonight

Several skaters who won championships in amateur competition during the last five years will appear in the Ice Follies of 1943 opening at the Chicago Arena tonight. The troupe of over 100 members of Shipstad and Johnson's new ice revue will arrive today after a month's showing in Los Angeles.

Norah McCarthy, new feminine star of the 1943 Follies, won the Canadian and North American figure skating championships in 1940. The following winter she retired from competition and taught the Dionne quintupuets how to skate. Under her instruction the girls became good figure skaters when they were 5 years old.

Another Canadian champion is Fran Claudet, who preceded Miss McCarthy as Canadian champion in 1936. That year she represented her country in the Olympic games. She has been with the Follies as choral director and featured star since 1939.

Osborne Colson, Miss Claudett's partner, won the Canadian junior figure skating title in 1934, and was senior champion the next three years. He was a member of the Olympic team in 1936.

INJURY HAMPERS MACIOSZCZYK OF WEST MICHIGAN

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 12 [Special]. —Suffering a leg injury in the 13 to 0 victory over University of Toledo Saturday, Art Macioszczyk, Western Michigan college full back, probably will not be in shape to start against Iowa Teachers Saturday when the Broncos open their home season against the undefeated Panthers.

Macioszczyk will not be able to drill this week, while Capt. Bill Yambrick, center, and one or two others may be out of practice for a day or two as a result of bruises last week.

An easy victory over South Dakota State and North Dakota State in the first two games gives indication the Iowa Teachers are stronger than a year ago when they won their second North Central conference title.

HOLD FIRST PRO HUDDLE TODAY; HALAS TO TALK

The Pro Huddle, a weekly gathering of National Football league officials, coaches, and football fans, which was inaugurated a year ago, will have its first session at 12:15 p. m. today in the grand ball room of the La Salle hotel.

Participating in the discussion will be George Halas, owner-coach of the Chicago Bears; Red Grange, former Illini and Bear star; Lieut. Jim McMillen, another former Bear player; Lou Gordon, pro football official and ex-player, and Lou Boudreau, manager of the Cleveland Indians baseball team. Movies of Sunday's 41 to 14 Bear victory over the Cardinals will be shown. The public is invited, said Gerald Koerner, president of the Illini club, the sponsor.

M'MILLIN TELLS WAILING WALL OF INDIANA SYSTEM

Last Saturday's Indiana-Nebraska game, which the Hoosiers won, 12 to 6, was the topic of yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Wailing Wall in the Sherman hotel's grand ballroom.

Coach A. N. [Bo] McMillin of Indiana spoke briefly of his single wing back offensive system. Then he directed the showing of the game pictures and caught a train back to Bloomington in time for practice.

WILDCATS HAVE GRAVE RESPECT FOR WOLVERINES

Northwestern's Wildcats yesterday recuperated from last Saturday's Purdue defeat and cast an ominous glance at a future which sends them against Michigan, Ohio State, and Minnesota on successive week-ends. To this difficult assignment can now be added the remaining conference opponents, Illinois and Wisconsin, who flashed storm signals by smashing victories last Saturday.

But it is Michigan's high geared eleven that holds the immediate attention of a Wildcat squad which will endeavor this week to shake off the effects of the Purdue setback. Waldo Fisher, who scouted the Wolverines, reported the 1942 eleven is stronger than last year's team that upset the Wildcats, 14 to 7, at Dyche stadium.

Stars to Get Relief.

Half Back Otto Graham and Full Back Ed Hirsch who have been forced to carry the brunt of the attack because of injuries and illness of their immediate understudies will be relieved of their 60 minute rôles Saturday. Joe Scriba, shifty sophomore half back, who has been unable to play for two weeks because of a shoulder injury, will be ready for action Saturday. Scriba who hails from Owosso, Mich., hopes to play against the team from his native state.

The return of Casey Peifer and Laurie Adelman, after a seige of flu, will help bolster the full back position. During their absence, Bill Deodulc was shifted from quarter back to full back and probably will alternate between the two positions for the rest of the season.

KUZMA RUNS SIGNALS.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 12 (AP).—Half Back Tom Kuzma returned to his place in Michigan's first string lineup today during signal drill for the first time since the new season began and Coach H. O. [Fritz] Crisler predicted his leg injury would be a thing of the past against Northwestern here Saturday.

Kuzma, suffering from a wrenched knee, watched from the bench as the Wolverines scored successive victories over Great Lakes and Michigan State and then dropped last week's encounter with the Iowa Seahawks. The Northwestern invasion will afford Michigan its first test of the season against another Western conference team.

COUNTERFEIT RING SEIZED.

Columbus, O., Oct. 12 [Special].—Ohio State university officials, Columbus police and federal agents rounded up a counterfeit football ticket ring here today that had operated the last two weeks at the Ohio stadium. Two men who conceived the scheme and the printer were seized. It was the first time counterfeiters had been involved at the local football field.

Officials of the university athletic department first detected the counterfeits when checking receipts of the Indiana game a week ago. All had the same serial number, according to police, and were smaller than the regular tickets.

Police said 250 general admission counterfeits were printed and sold at a reduced price for the Indiana game and 600 had been printed for the Southern California game. Federal officials were brought in because of the federal tax on the tickets.

PURDUE CENTER INJURED.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 12 [Special].—"One game doesn't make a season," Coach Elmer Burnham warned the Purdue squad here this afternoon as the Boilermakers launched preparations for a continuation of the conference campaign against Ohio State's undefeated eleven at Columbus Saturday.

Iowa Begins Preparation for Illinois

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 12 (AP).—Forrest Masterson, sophomore center who has been out of action a week, moved back on the Iowa varsity today and a newcomer, 225 pound Roger Kane, got a try at the right guard position.

Masterson injured a knee in the Great Lakes game and the position was turned over to three inexperienced players—Bob Weber, Henry Blum, and Ted Lewis—in Saturday's Camp Grant affair. Bob Lauterbach, another center who was injured on the first play of the season, will also be ready to go against Illinois this week-end.

Coach Eddie Anderson added weight to the middle of the Hawkeye line—weakest spot in Iowa's defense—with shifting of Kane, formerly a reserve tackle, to the guard post which has been held by Del Dickerhoof, a 190 pounder.

Iowa has not been defeated by Illinois since 1927.

GOPHERS MAKE CHANGES.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 12 [Special].—That Illinois game in which the Illini played the Golden Gophers right off their feet Saturday to accomplish a 20 to 13 victory and the biggest upset of the season thus far, had repercussions as the Minnesota football squad went back to work today. Changes were the order. Vic Kulbitski, full back, who missed the pass from center that Alex Agase recovered for the winning Illinois touchdown, was supplanted by Bob Kula, sophomore, who has been coming along rapidly. Bill Garnaas returned to quarter back, replacing Bob Sandberg. Jerry Mulready, end, went in for Bill Baumgartner, and further changes are contemplated.

Needing a passer badly to vary the Gopher attack and convinced Bill Daley can't handle that assignment as capably as some others, Dr. George Hauser plans on switching Daley to right half. He will trade with Herman Frickey, with Joe Silovich, the top passer on the squad, alternating with Frickey.

FULL BACK SPOT WORRIES IRISH FOR SEAHAWKS

Clatt Is Only Able Bodied One at That Position.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 12 [Special]. —Corwin [Moose] Clatt, who was given his nickname by the Notre Dame cheering section as he drove for 13 yards thru three or four Stanford defenders last Saturday, may be Notre Dame's only physically fit full back in Saturday's battle here with the Iowa Seahawks.

Jim Mello, who started the three games to date, suffered a leg injury which may keep him out of action. Jerry Cowhig, rated No. 1 last spring, has played only briefly because of leg injuries. Both, however, may be ready by Saturday, Trainer Eugene Young said today.

Leahy Awaits Verdict.

Ed McKeever, in charge in the absence of Head Coach Frank Leahy, directed the third and fourth teams in scrimmage against the freshmen today after End Coach Wayne Millner, who scouted the Iowa Seahawks' 26 to 14 victory over Michigan, had outlined their personnel and plays to the rest of the squad.

Leahy talked with McKeever by telephone from Rochester, Minn., where he is undergoing examination for back pains. He said he has not yet been advised of findings based on Saturday's X-ray pictures and does not know when he will return. He outlined the day's strategy to McKeever.

SEAHAWKS IN GOOD SHAPE.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 12 [Special].—Coming out of a game in their best physical shape for two weeks, Iowa's Seahawks today were busy thinking about Notre Dame and its passing star, Angelo Bertelli.

Jim Langhurst, Bob Swisher, and Bus Mertes, three of the Seahawks who were hurt in the Minnesota game, apparently will be ready for action against the Irish in this week's contest.

Mertes and Langhurst were kept out of the Michigan game to rest their ailments, while Swisher, bothered all fall by an ankle injury, played part of the Wolverine contest.

WAR INDUSTRIES TOLD TO REVISE CONTRACTS NOW

Fair Deal Assured, Says Karker.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

War contractors were advised yesterday by Chairman Maurice H. Karker of the war department price adjustment board to act promptly in submitting contracts for renegotiation.

Maurice H. Karker.

Corporations with large war contracts, he said, are incurring needless liability by their failure to act now. Millions of dollars of recapturable profits are being accumulated by contractors who will have to turn them back to the government later, he said.

The war department board which Karker heads will supervise the renegotiation of 90 per cent of the government contracts which are subject to the price adjustment act. The remaining 10 per cent of contracts subject to the act are being handled by the navy and Maritime commission.

Says Fair Deal Assured.

Industry is assured of a fair deal under the amendments to the act sponsored by the war department and adopted by the senate last Saturday, Karker said.

By shortening the period of liability to one year after the contractor has filed a certified statement, the principal objection to the original law will be eliminated, he said. Unless the government raises a question about a contract within a year, the contractor's liability automatically ceases.

But corporations need not wait for the government to raise objections, Karker said. On their own initiative they can submit their financial statements immediately to the authorized boards and get clearance on their contracts. This procedure will remove uncertainty and needless liability, he said.

Aids Efficient Producers.

"It will be the policy of the board," Karker said, "to permit low cost, efficient producers a larger percentage profit than the high cost contractor. Otherwise war production would be bound to suffer."

Because corporations will be taxed 90 per cent on their "excess" profits, there is a constant temptation not to watch costs carefully, Karker said.

"I am satisfied," he said, "that enough are yielding to the temptation to make it a danger to American industry."

Industry will be seriously handicapped after the war if costs are permitted to rise excessively, he said. America's ability to compete with foreign countries and its domestic economy will be injured.

Alternatives Are Offered.

Industry has not recognized, Karker said, that it faced the choice of the present act or a much worse one. Now that the act has been amended, business should forget its earlier resistance and forget its forlorn hope that the law would be repealed.

Karker, a Chicagoan, is chairman and chief executive officer of the Jewel Tea company. He has been serving with the war department in Washington since early last summer.

Change Willow Run Home Project to Temporary Kind

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—To cut four months from the building time of 2,500 dwelling units at the Willow Run, Mich., bomber plant, the Public Housing authority today changed the construction from a permanent to a temporary type of dwelling, with completion scheduled for June, 1942.

Large Receipts Push Hog Price Down 50 Cents

Bearish reports from officials of the Office of Price Administration regarding the new list of price ceilings on pork which are not expected to warrant existing live hog costs, brought a heavier run of hogs from farms yesterday and caused a price break of 50 cents a hundred pounds below last week's Chicago close.

Statements credited to OPA officials that price limits warranting costs of hogs between $13.75 and $14.75 may be placed on pork within a few days contributed to the confusion of packers and producers.

Called Violation of Law.

Farmers on the market expressed the opinion that to place the ceiling for hogs below $15.30 would be a violation of the recently enacted price control bill.

They contend that the provision in the new law specifying that ceilings cannot be established below the highest price paid from Jan. 1 to Sept. 15 protects them against ceilings below $15.30, which was the price paid on Aug. 14.

However, OPA experts call attention to the fact that the President is authorized to stabilize farm prices at levels of Sept. 15, "so far as is practicable." The top that day was $14.35.

Processors Still Lose.

Despite the break in hog prices processors furnishing pork to the domestic trade under existing ceilings are losing from $2 to $5 a hog, packers said. Hogs that cost $15.35 would bring only $13.75 for the packer under the ceilings. Those selling for lend-lease, however, can realize more than $13.75, they said. Pork ceilings that warrant more than $13.75 for live hogs will mean an increase in pork costs to consumers, meat men said.

EASTERN PLANE FIRMS PUT AID PLAN IN EFFECT

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 12 (AP).—The eastern aircraft industry, organized for the interchange of men, ideas, machines and materials, arranged today to alleviate a machine tool shortage at one plant.

Representatives of eight companies which formed the Aircraft War Production Council, East Coast, Inc., only 10 days ago, took up as its first problem a shortage of machine tools at the Brewster Aeronautical corporation.

Curtiss-Wright, whose president—Guy W. Vaughan—heads the council, reported a surplus and agreed to help. A similar coöperative pool already is in operation on the west coast.

Rearwin, who has been president, said he and his sons, Kenneth and Royce, would continue as employés of the company, which is engaged in war production.

Demand for Home Loans Declines to 10 Year Low

The Federal Home Loan bank of Chicago announced yesterday that demand for new loans to member savings, building and loan associations in Illinois and Wisconsin fell to $235,610 in September, the smallest volume since establishment of the bank 10 years ago.

FOOD RESERVES DWINDLE, OCT. 1 REPORT SHOWS

Meat, Lard, Butter Holdings Fall.

Extraordinary demands created by the war and the high level of consumer purchasing power sharply reduced cold storage reserves of meat, lard, butter and shell eggs last month, altho stocks of cheese, frozen eggs and dressed poultry were at record highs for the period, the department of agriculture reported yesterday.

Despite the fact that packers in the United States produced more pork and lard last month than during any September on record, holdings of pork on Oct. 1 were the smallest in history for that date, while lard reserves were second smallest known.

Much Government Owned.

On Oct. 1, cold storage plants held 268,781,000 pounds of pork, compared with 336,634,000 a month earlier, 616,604,000 on March 1, and 371,362,000 a year ago. The all time low for Oct. 1 was 277,231,000 pounds in 1938. The government owned 38,907,000 pounds of the pork in store Oct. 1.

Only 54,547,000 pounds of lard remained in store at the start of the month, of which, 3,558,000 pounds belonged to the government. A year ago the total was 214,299,000 pounds and about the middle of last year lard stocks exceeded 375 million pounds.

It was estimated that pork stocks left in store were equivalent to what is consumed about every 10 or 12 days. Beef stocks, while larger than on Sept. 1, at 95,182,000 pounds, compared with 150,410,000 pounds on March 1 and were equal to about four days' consumption for this country. Lamb and mutton holdings, at 11,267,000 pounds, were equal to about five days' consumption.

Butter Withdrawals Large.

Withdrawals of creamery butter were the largest on record for a September and nearly five times the normal rate, the department disclosed. Shrinkage of shell eggs reserves was the largest for any September since 1933.

Remaining butter stocks were above trade expectations, observers said, but egg stocks were slightly below. In line with the government's appeal for additional poultry to supplement supplies, of other meat was the total of 116,535,000 pounds of poultry on Oct. 1, compared with 96,701,000 a year earlier. Poultry stocks increased at a better than seasonal rate during the month, while frozen eggs and cheese stocks decreased more than seasonally.

Cold storage holdings in pounds, except eggs, which are in cases, as reported by the department of agriculture, follow:

DEALERS IN FUEL OIL REGISTER OCT. 20, 21, PRECEDING RATIONING

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—The OPA today set Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 20 and 21, for the registration of all fuel oil dealers and suppliers in the 30 states where oil and kerosene will be rationed under the new program.

Dealers who fail to register will become ineligible to sell fuel under the rationing system. This registration will be a preliminary to the registration of consumers. When the dealers register they will be given application blanks to distribute to their customers.

Among other things, the dealers will be asked to report how much fuel oil and kerosene they had on hand at the close of business Sept. 30 and the amount sold between that date and the date of registration.

PEAK IN FREIGHT TRAFFIC SET BY PEORIA RAILROAD

Freight traffic on the Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad rose to a new peak in the week ended Oct. 10, John W. Barriger III., federal manager of the road, reported yesterday. Cars used during the week totaled 2,762, the largest in the company's history, compared with the record of 2,194 cars established last year, Barriger said.

John W. Barriger III.

The announcement followed by one day the issuance of the annual report of the company for 1941 in which George P. McNear Jr., president and principal owner, charged that man power is being wasted under government operation.

The Office of Defense Transportation took over active management of the 239 mile line last March in a labor dispute deadlock which President Roosevelt held was hindering the war effort.

HOLD LABOR VOTE TODAY IN 4 DEERE COMPANY PLANTS

Moline, Ill., Oct. 12 [Special.]—The first attempt to unionize workers at the Deere & Co. factories in the quad-cities will be made tomorrow when CIO unions will seek recognition at four of the company's plants in elections supervised by the National Labor Relations board.

At the Deere and Mansur works in Moline the Farm Equipment Workers of America is seeking bargaining rights while the United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Workers of America seeks to represent employés at the John Deere spreader, John Deere harvester and Union Malleable Iron company plants in East Moline.

Water Transport Urged to Ease Rail Situation

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense transportation, asked all shippers, including government agencies, today to use barge and other water transportation as much as possible to make more railroad facilities available for vital war shipments.

People and Events

Keeping 6½ million farmers supplied with parts for their agricultural implements will be the theme of a three day convention of the National Retail Farm Equipment association opening today in the Hotel Sherman. WPB and other government officials will address the meeting.

J. Edward Mesirow, Arthur DePew, and Harvey M. Wilson, all formerly with the Thompson Ross Securities company, have joined Ryan-Nichols & Co., Chicago.

Robert Franch and Alvin S. Kartus have been promoted to positions of assistant cashier of the Halsted Exchange National bank.

A "victory dinner" opening a campaign for purchases of war bonds to the extent of 10 per cent of the salaries of all 10,000 employés of Goldblatt Brothers, Inc., will be given tonight at the company's State street store.

War, Civilian Spending Near Even Terms

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—Increasing nearly a billion dollars in the last month, current war spending now is almost equal to the total being spent for civilian goods and services.

In its October bulletin, the federal reserve board said today the nation's September war bill hit a new high of 5 billion 500 million dollars and was nearly seven-eighths as much as civilian consumer spending for the same period.

Civilian Income Rises.

At the same time, civilian incomes increased to a rate of 116 billion dollars a year, about 20 billion higher than during September, 1941, and about 44 billion above the rate during September three years ago.

Consumer spending in September showed a slight increase in volume. Commenting on the decline, the board said the civilian standard of living was near a gradual decline as the nation's concentration on war activities cuts into the supply of goods and services available for consumers.

Living Cost Anchored.

The board said that the cost of living already was showing signs of being anchored, with the exception of food prices, which "have continued to rise."

In the six months since March, the cost of living has risen only about 3 per cent, as compared with 6 per cent in the preceding six months, the board said.

NEW SYNTHETIC THREAD A RIVAL OF SPIDER WEB

New York, Oct. 12 (AP).—The Celanese Corporation of America today announced the development in its laboratories of a new synthetic textile filament which weighs only one-eighth of the finest natural silk filament.

It was described as the finest textile filament produced by "man or nature," and rivaled in fineness only by the strand of a spider's web. It takes 20,000 miles of it to weigh a pound.

The corporation said the creation promised to be a factor in postwar textile development both in consumer and industrial fields and pushed the Japanese silkworm still farther toward oblivion.

CASH SURRENDER OF INSURANCE AT NEW LOW RATE

Life insurance policies are being surrendered for cash at the lowest rate in the experience of the industry, the Institute of Life Insurance announced yesterday.

Since the start of 1942, policies have been turned in for cash at a rate 23 per cent below that of last year and 79 per cent below the high point of 1932, said Holgar J. Johnson, president of the institute.

Another anti-inflationary development, Johnson said, has been the reduction in policy loans, which are about a billion dollars less than at the depression peak.

Supreme Court Will Review Suburban Fare Controversy

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 [Special].—The United States Supreme court agreed today to review a decision that the Illinois Commerce commission had no right to interfere with a 10 per cent increase in certain suburban passenger fares by the Chicago and North Western railroad which had been authorized by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The road placed the increased rates in effect last March after having obtained a temporary injunction in the federal District court at Chicago restraining the state commission from interfering with the rate boost. A three judge federal court granted the road a permanent injunction in April.

Suburban Hike Opposed.

To offset in part a rise in railroad operating costs, the Interstate Commerce commission ruled on Jan. 26 that the nation's railroads could raise passenger fares 10 per cent. On Feb. 6 the railroad filed with the ICC and the state commission a schedule of tariffs, including a 10 per cent hike in certain suburban fares. The state commission attempted to suspend the increase but was blocked by the federal District court.

The Illinois Commerce commission argued that the rate increase dealt with intrastate traffic, and that an order of the interstate body could not apply to intrastate rates, including commutation fares, until approval also had been granted by the Illinois commission. The railroad claimed the interstate commission had precedence because some of the commuters crossed the state line into Wisconsin.

Review Fidelity Case.

The Supreme court also agreed to review a decision directing dismissal of an application by the Fidelity Assurance association of Wheeling, W. Va., for reorganization under the federal bankruptcy act. Receivers have been appointed by a state court. Dismissal of the petition was directed by the federal Circuit court at Richmond, Va., on the ground the association was an "insurance company" and hence excluded from the benefits of the bankruptcy law by legislation passed in 1910.

WPB DEFERS REMOVAL OF TERMINAL TRACKS TO PERMIT ODT STUDY

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—The War Production board announced today it had agreed to postpone taking over 128 miles of track of the Illinois Terminal Railroad company until the Office of Defense Transportation had been given opportunity to reconsider its earlier decision that the line should be dismantled to recover rails and scrap.

ODT officials said they planned to obtain information on the volume of passengers and freight carried by the road from the Illinois Commerce commission, which has protested the demolition.

Requisition papers giving title to the trackage to the government were served on the railroad last month, and a contract for the demolition was awarded to the railroad but no date had been set for the dismantling work to begin.

Joseph B. Eastman, ODT director, met with WPB officials yesterday, it was said. Upshot of the conference was WPB's agreement to withhold action on taking up the tracks until further investigation has been made.

U. S. AND MEXICO NEAR AGREEMENT ON RAILROAD AID

[Copyright: 1942: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 12.—Details of an agreement between the United States and Mexico to rehabilitate the Mexican railroad network by supplying locomotives and cars have been virtually settled, it was learned today. Announcement is expected shortly. The solution of this problem is viewed as one of the most important step toward an intensification of trade between the two countries.

Mexico will benefit because an efficient railroad system will mean a greater capacity for importation and exportation of necessary goods. On the other hand the United States will be able to obtain essential war materials, delivery of which is handicapped because the railroads had been allowed to deteriorate over a period of years, chiefly thru inefficiency of the railroad workers who had been granted the operation and control of many important lines under the Cardenas régime.

Firm Penalized for Using Copper in Tree Ornaments

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12 (AP).—On the ground that war needed copper was used to make Christmas tree ornaments, the WPB today suspended for three months the priority and allocation privileges of the National Tinsel Manufacturing company, Manitowoc, Wis.

Steel Output Climbs to New Wartime Peak

Steel production exceeded 100 per cent of rated ingot capacity yesterday for the first time since the nation's entry into the war. The nation-wide newspaper campaign to stimulate the collection of scrap metal was termed an important factor in boosting output.

The American Iron and Steel institute estimated the industry's operating rate at 100.2 per cent and placed this week's turnout at 1,714,100 tons. Last week's operations were at 98.6 per cent and production approximated 1,686,700 tons.

More Production in Sight.

Two other events presaged still larger production of metal for the nation's war plants.

At Youngstown, O., Gov. John W. Bricker lighted a blast furnace built by the Republic Steel corporation, rated one of the largest in the world and the Mahoning valley's first completely new plant in nearly 25 years.

At Provo, Utah, construction was reported ahead of schedule on the 150 million dollar Geneva works of the Columbia Steel corporation, subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation.

Production Starts in April.

Geneva works, termed one of the world's largest steel units, is scheduled to go into production next April. A second blast furnace will go into production at Columbia's Ironton works in December. This furnace was shipped to Provo from Joliet, Ill., where it had been inoperative for several years.

The first open hearth furnace of the Geneva works is scheduled to go into production as early as next May. A plate mill is expected to be turning out ship plate by June.

WAGE EARNERS' COST OF LIVING UP .5 PER CENT

The cost of living for wage earners and lower salaried clerical employés rose 0.5 per cent from August to September to a level 8.6 per cent higher than a year ago, the National Industrial Conference board, a private research agency, reported yesterday. Food and clothing costs each rose 15 per cent during the year.

The board's index on living costs, based on 1923 prices as 100, was 98.6 for last month, 90.8 for September, 1941, and 86.0 for January, 1941.

The board estimated the purchasing power of the wage earner's dollar had fallen 7.9 per cent within the last 12 months.

WAR FINANCING AT 2 PCT. GOAL OF MORGENTHAU

Success of Low Cost Loan Hailed.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—Successful in its efforts to borrow 4 billion dollars at 2 per cent on bonds maturing in 7½ to 9½ years, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. announced today the government hoped to keep its wartime financing operations at this cost.

Morgenthau told a press conference preliminary reports received from the federal reserve banks showed that total subscriptions for the cash offering last Thursday and Friday of 2 per cent treasury bonds maturing from 1950 to 1952, and of 1½ per cent treasury notes of series B, maturing in 1946, aggregate approximately 4 billion 100 million dollars. Other recent issues have been heavily oversubscribed. This represents the largest single borrowing operation of the present war.

Banks Sought Higher Rate.

Morgenthau said bankers had urged that the bonds be offered at 2¼ per cent, but that the treasury had held out for a 2 per cent rate, thus saving present and future taxpayers millions of dollars.

"After careful consideration of the recommendations of the financial community by the federal reserve open market committee and the treasury we decided it was to the best interest of all the citizens that we offer the banks a 7½ to 9½ year 2 per cent bond.

"Now that we have successfully raised more than 4 billion dollars at this 2 per cent rate with the coöperation of the investors of this country, I sincerely hope that we will be able to finance the war in this range."

One-fourth Sold Outside Banks.

He said about 25 per cent of the subscriptions to the latest treasury offering came from sources other than banks which accept demand deposits. The treasury wanted to sell as much of the issue as possible outside the banking system to prevent inflation by absorbing savings.

This was the first time since 1932 that the treasury had offered investors a choice of securities—short term notes or the higher interest bearing bond. Morgenthau said preliminary reports indicate that subscriptions were quite evenly divided between the two issues, and that all would be filled.

He commented on the speed with which this latest financing was completed in view of the size of the issue. He said nothing comparable had been attempted since World war days and then several weeks were required while the latest financing was completed in two days.

JACKSONVILLE GAS.

Recently a federal court upheld a Securities and Exchange commission reorganization plan of the Jacksonville Gas company. The court ruled for the first time that the SEC had the right to require reorganization of an operating company under the corporate simplification section of the "death sentence" clause of the public utility holding company act, if such reorganization was in line with an equitable distribution of voting power. On what did the SEC base its requirement for such a reorganization and what does the plan propose? —T. F. K.

Answer: The Jacksonville Gas company was unable to pay its first mortgage bonds at maturity on June 1. A plan of simplification and redistribution of voting power had been filed earlier with the SEC, which found that the company's long term debt was about twice the size of its assets. The voting power of the utility, however, was vested in the common stockholders who had no equity in the company and who were fourth among those having a call on assets.

Under the plan of reorganization, the SEC held that the earning power of the company was $210,000 annually before federal taxes. This income was capitalized at 8 per cent, giving a valuation to the proposed company of $2,625,000, compared with present capitalization and book surplus of $6,161,557.

Net profit of the proposed company, after estimated federal taxes, was set at between 6.6 and 5.9 per cent.

Under the plan the new company would issue $1,745,000 of first mortgage 5 per cent bonds and 34,448 shares of $25 par common stock. All of the new bonds and 95.76 per cent of the new common stock would go to the present first mortgage bondholders, and 4.24 per cent of the new common would go to the present holders of debentures and income notes. Nothing would be distributed among holders of the old stock.

The commission stated that its plan was formulated to redistribute swiftly and economically voting power to those with a real equity in the company, as compared with long, costly, and involved litigations under section 77B and chapter 10 of the bankruptcy act.

FIRE LOSSES.

Do you have figures to show how much fire losses to business and industrial plants thruout the country have been in the first seven months of 1942, compared with all of 1941? —G. F.

Answer: $191,492,000 in the first seven months this year, compared with $302,985,000 in all of 1941.

DON'T BORROW

Borrowing is not always the proper solution to a money shortage. But there are times when a loan is both provident and wise. For instance, you might borrow to move into a more economical house, nearer to work . . . to pay cash for medical and dental attention before your favorite doctor is called into the armed forces . . . to buy winter fuel and clothing . . . to clean up past due charge accounts and other bills . . . to buy tools, to pay union dues, or to take special courses for a new job on war production . . . and for many other purposes equally worthy. Loans $10 to $300. "While you wait" service to those who phone ahead or come prepared to present proper identification and evidence of employment.

Presented here are newly revised maps of the Solomon Islands, scene of land, sea, and air warfare in the southwest Pacific ocean. The main map on the page shows the most southerly of these islands, including Guadalcanal and others, upon which American land forces have met with successes against the Japanese. The inset map at the lower left shows the entire group of the Solomons, including the most northerly of the islands, still used by the enemy as bases and against which an American task force has conducted successful raids. In the lower center is a large scale inset map of Tulagi and Gavutu islands and contiguous areas, which have figured prominently in the war news. The inset map at the upper right indicates the geographical position of the Solomons in relation to Australia, the Netherlands Indies, the Malay peninsula, the Philippines, and New Caledonia.

For preserving Tribune color maps, etc., leatherette bound, loose-leaf scrapbooks in full page size now are available; $2.50 each at Tribune Public Service offices, or $3.15 each by insured delivery.
